LBJ Says U. S. Ready For Viet Talk

Southeast Asian Economic Aid Proposal Is Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says the United States is ready — without preconditions — to sit down at the bargaining table with the Communists to try to negotiate an end to the war in Viet Nam.

And even before any peace talks start, the President said last night in a major foreign policy address, the United States is prepared to initiate a massive cooperative economic development program for all of southeast Asia, including Communist North Viet Nam.

As a starter, Johnson told the nation by radio and television from Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, he will ask Congress to authorize a $1-billion American investment in the program.

He proposed that U.N. Secretary-General U Thant launch the plan, invited all industrialized countries including the Soviet Union to join and said he is naming a special team of prominent Americans headed by Eugene Black, former president of the World Bank, to guide U.S. participation.

But while showing the Communist world the carrot, the President did not forget the stick.

He said of U.S. involvement in the war at the side of South Viet Nam: "We will not withdraw, either openly or under the cloak of a meaningless agreement."

And while he said the United States is unconditionally ready to discuss peace, he said: "Such peace demands an independent South Viet Nam — securely guaranteed and able to shape its own relationships to all others — free from outside interference — tied to no alliance — a military base for no country.

"These are the essentials of any final settlement."

Johnson said there are many approaches to a peaceful settlement of the war, that old agreements may have to be reaffirmed or strengthened with new ones.

"We have stated this position over and over again 50 times and more to friend and foe alike," he said. "And we remain

More Mixups Charged Over Sample Ballots

Ridge Annexed; Alto Is Delayed

By RICHARD LYTTLE

The growing City of Mill Valley received approval for one annexation but ran into a thorny snag on another before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission today.

Approved was the 206-acre North Ridge annexation, which will extend the city northward to the boundaries of Corte Madera and Larkspur.

Put over until April 29 was the Alto Bowl annexation between the Northwestern Pacific Railroad and Highway 101.

Only two owners are involved, Goheen Development Co. and S. J. Hugh Allen, but Allen, who owns about one-fourth of the total, appeared before the commission to protest vigorously the methods Mill Valley has used in its annexation proceedings.

"Not once have I been so much as approached by the city," Allen said.

He charged "steam roller" tactics and "unconscionable" methods on the part of Mill Valley.

The annexation, he confessed, would probably be a good thing for his land, but his presentation to the commission was hardly an endorsement.

"If I though these were reasonable men, I would be in favor of annexation," Allen said, "but they are not."

He also charged that city officals at a previous commission hearing last December on the 137-acre tideland annexation testified that the city could provide sewer service to the area, while at the same time there was a letter out to the four outlying sanitary districts saying the city treatment plant was at capacity and it was necessary to ban all further annexations by the districts.

John Walters of Alto-Richardson Bay Sanitary District board said the district was not protesting the annexation, but pointed out it would put the Election Aide Denies Blame For Omissions

By ELLEN BRY

Two more sample ballot foulups—one for Tiburon Fire District election Tuesday, one for the coming Southern Marin school unification vote—have been charged to John F. Musser, county supervisor of elections.

Musser says he is not responsible.

Chairman Raymond Lynch of the Tiburon Fire District board, who was unseated in Tuesday's voting, yesterday blamed his loss to county refusal to mail out sample ballots. Turnout for the election Tuesday was small.

Sample ballots for the unification election within Tamalpais High School District do not include exposition of the proposal to level all outstanding bonds of the present elementary and high school districts.

Musser said he was not ordered by the county superintendent of schools office to send out sample ballots on the bond leveling.

State law does not specifically call for sample ballots for bond leveling, Musser said, but he would have sent them if he had been ordered to by county school officials.

Included on the polling place card accompanying the sample ballot is a short explanation of the bond leveling proposition.

Robert F. Stannard, assistant superintendent for administrative services of the county schools office, said sample ballots were ordered—and were not printed or mailed.

He said county schools officials made no check of proof sheets of ballots. "We're going to make sure that we're involved in this from now on," he declared.

A "blanket" order for sample ballots went to Musser, Stannard asserted.

He said the county schools office will not request a separate

Missing Boy Found Dead Of Drowning

The body of Stephen Feider, 5-year-old boy missing for the past nine days, was found yesterday in the San Rafael Canal.

Marin County Coroner Frank J. Keaton said an autopsy revealed death was caused by drowning.

The discovery ended a search conducted by police since the boy was reported missing and last seen near the canal March 29.

Diving and dragging efforts were called off Tuesday after several days of fruitless attempts to find the body on the canal bottom.

The body was spotted yesterday by Linton G. Davis of 100 Point San Pedro Road, San Rafael, near whose home the boy's skull cap was found shortly after he was reported missing.

Davis called police, who dispatched two patrol cars to the area. Officers found the body floating up the canal toward San Rafael. Patrolman John Rosentangle and city mechanic Donald D. Bugna put out in the city's 18-foot police boat, recovered the body and turned it over to the coroner's office.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Feider of 260 Canal Street, identified the body as their son's about 4 p.m. The family had moved to San Rafael from Los Angeles March 27.

In addition to his parents, Stephen is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo N. Feider of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. Dalton T. Smith of Glendale.

Private funeral will be held tomorrow morning. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Saigon Coup Alert Follows Short Mutiny

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON — Junior officers staged a short-lived mutiny today against the commander of Viet Nam's naval forces. They charged him with malfeasance.

Saigon was placed on a "coup alert," but authorities said later "it is a very, very small, purely internal affair in the navy." Officials said there was little cause for alarm.

Six Vietnamese air force fighter-bombers swooped low over the capital in an apparent attempt to discourage a coup. Marine trucks blocked streets leading to the Marine Corps headquarters and barbed wire was strung around it. The trucks and barbed wire were removed tonight, however.

The charges were directed against Rear Adm. Chung Tan Cang.

A reliable Vietnamese source said the Armed Forces Council, South Viet Nam's highest military body, would meet as soon as possible to handle the complaints against Cang.

U.S. officials claimed today that up to 200 Viet Cong guerrillas were killed last night in a major battle with Vietnamese marines in Binh Dinh Province, about 320 miles northeast of Saigon.

Five South Vietnamese were reported killed and 25 wounded. There were no American casualties, the Americans said.

It was the second major success claimed this week in the ground war against the Commu-

Johnson Gets Ready To Toss First Ball

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson flexed his right arm today and said he would be on hand to toss out the first ball for the opening game of the American League baseball season.

Johnson will go for free. He got his season pass from Joe Cronin, president of the league, who headed an annual delegation of officials of the league and of the Washington Senators team.

Military Support To Continue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States told 17 neutralist governments today it was willing to take part in "unconditional" Viet Nam peace talks, but must continue military support of the South Viet Nam regime.

The American reply paralleling President Johnson's speech last night, was handed to diplomatic representatives of Yugoslovia, Ethiopia, Afghanistan and Ghana for delivery to all 17 unaligned countries. The reply was made public at the White House.

Britain, France, Japan and South Viet Nam today welcomed President Johnson's offer of discussions to end the war in Viet Nam. But the Russians saw it as a plot to divert criticism of U.S. "aggression" there.

Radio Moscow said Johnson's offer of a billion dollar aid program for Southeast Asia was evidently "an attempt to divert the attention of the peoples who are wrathfully condemning U.S. aggression in Viet Nam."

In New York, U.N. Secretary General Thant welcomed Johnson's proposals as "positive, forward looking and generous."

State Reports 101 Widening Preparations

Eventual reconstruction of Highway 101 to an eight-lane freeway from San Quentin Wye to Miller Creek Road has started with the Grand Avenue extension in San Rafael, but other projects along the six-mile stretch are not scheduled for construction for several years.

This was the report of Alan S. Hart, district engineer, State Division of Highways, today in a review of the status of highway projects in Marin as of April 1.

On the proposed extension of Route 17 from San Quentin Point to Point Reyes Station, Hart said planning is still underway. "Location, type of facility and number of lanes are to be determined," he reported.

He said "location studies for Route 37 from future Route 17 near Nicasio to U.S. 101 in the vicinity of Novato are inactive."

Hart said the San Rafael project is the first of several in the Highway 101 reconstruction plan and $616,000 has been alloted for it.

The project will realign streets and off-ramps and will provide improved local service on the

Senators Extend Anti-Quack Drive

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee today approved a bill extending for two years the life of the state's anti-cancer quack council.

Sen. Walter W. Stiern, D-Bakersfield, had sought a four-year extension for the Public Health Department's cancer advisory council. It moves to ban cancer cures found to be scientifically unsound or worthless.

But Senate President Pro Tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, insisted the extension be trimmed to two years and the council be required to report to the legislature every year.

McCARTHY SAYS HIS DOOR OPEN

Senator Answers Board's Charges

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, declared today in Sacramento that he is and always has been willing to discuss legislative matters with Marin County officials or citizens.

The Senate minority leader issued the statement in reply to the Marin County Board of Supervisors who on Tuesday expressed disappointment that its request for a Marin hearing on the bay fill bill went unanswered.

"If the members as individuals or as a board wish to personally discuss with me their views on this or any other bill pending before the legislature, I will certainly welcome them to my state capitol office," said McCarthy.

He said the legislative committee considering the bill has held four meetings to hear testimony and will devote more meetings to assemble all facts.

"As servant of all the people, members of the legislature are both legally and morally bound to hear both sides of any issue," said McCarthy. "This is being done here in the state capitol to the fullest extent that time will allow."

Bagley Apologizes To Terra Lindans

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday apologized for a "poor choice of words" in referring to "ticky-tacky Terra Linda" during an impromptu debate on Marincello last Sunday.

Marin County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday criticized Bagley on the statement and also expressed dissatisfaction with Marin legislators' handling some legislative bills, particularly on bay fill.

Assemblyman Bagley contended he has given "complete support to the board's legislative program, and I don't intend to allow critical statements by a board member to alter my course. . . .

"I am carrying 15 to 20 bills requested by local government and I am fighting for them. I have extended complete cooperation, will continue to do so, and

The Savage Cell

The World Is Living In Sea Of Cancer Causing Elements

By PAT McGRADY
(Fourth in a Series)

We live in a sea of carcinogens — cancer causers.

They are in the food we eat, the water and beverages we drink, the air we breathe, the habits we develop, the jobs we hold, the drugs and medical treatments we take, in radiations from the heavens above and the earth below.

They may be inside us — in the mechanics of our emotions, in the hormones we produce or fail to produce, in our inherited or accidentally disturbed cell chemistry, perhaps even in the cumulative chemical and physical injury incurred in the process of growing up and growing old.

Laws have been strengthened to ban some carcinogens from commercial products and bar them from natural resources; but, as against the dizzying pace of developments, current statutes and enforcement agencies have fallen farther and farther behind the need.

It must be made clear at the outset that the evidence against any single substance as causing human cancer is strictly circumstantial.

Two sets of circumstances help confound the issue of what causes cancer.

Offers Plan For Asian Economic Aid

ready — with this purpose — for unconditional discussions."

The estimated 1,200 people in the university's Shriver Hall auditorium interrupted the speech 15 times with applause. Mrs. Johnson studied her husband intently; Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey beamed his approval.

On Capitol Hill, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, heretofore a staunch supporter of the Democratic President's Viet Nam policy, was critical. "Is this another case of where the American trumpets sound retreat?" he asked. "Do you buy freedom for a humble people? I doubt it."

But the Senate Democratic leader, Mike Mansfield, at times in disagreement with the White House over Viet Nam, said: "The door is open to a bona fide settlement which will permit the people of Viet Nam to live in peace and freedom."

There was no immediate public reaction behind the Iron Curtain.

Last week 17 nations that profess to steer a middle course between East and West appealed for immediate negotiations. Last night Johnson gave them, the American people and the world, Washington's reply.

First he explained why the United States is in the war.

"We fight because we must fight if we are to live in a world where every country can shape its own destiny. And only in such a world will our freedom be finally secure."

Second he outlined the U.S. position.

"The first reality is that North Viet Nam has attacked the independent nation of South Viet Nam. Its object is total conquest.

"Of course, some of the people of South Viet Nam are participating in attack on their own government. But trained men and supplies, orders and arms, flow in a constant stream from North to South.

"This support is the heartbeat of the war."

Third, he indicted Communist China.

"The rulers in Hanoi are urged on by Peking," he said. "The contest in Viet Nam is part of a wider pattern of aggressive purpose."

And then he said of America's aim:

"Our objective is the independence of South Viet Nam and its freedom from attack. We want nothing ourselves — only that the people of South Viet Nam be allowed to guide their own country in their own way.

"We will do everything necessary to reach that objective."

In this regard the President said air attacks on North Viet Nam, begun Feb. 7, will continue: "It is our best and prayerful judgment that they are a necessary part of the surest road to peace."

But he also said: "We have no desire to see thousands die in battle — Asians or Americans. We have no desire to devastate that which the people of North Viet Nam have built with toil and sacrifice. We will use our power with restraint and with all the wisdom that we can command."

At this point, the President turned to the deprivation that is commonplace in Southeast Asia.

"Each day these people rise at dawn and struggle through the night to wrestle existence from the soil. They are often wracked by disease, plagued by hunger and death comes at the early age of 40."

And then he unveiled his economic program.

"The first step is for the countries of Southeast Asia to associate themselves in a greatly expanded cooperative effort for development. We would hope that North Viet Nam will take its place in the common effort just as soon as peaceful cooperation is possible.

"The United Nations is already actively engaged in development in this area. I would hope that the secretary-general of the United Nations could use the prestige of his great office — and his deep knowledge of Asia — to initiate, as soon as possible, with the countries of the area, a plan for cooperation in increased development.

"For our part I will ask the Congress to join in a $1-billion American investment in this effort as soon as it is under way.

"The vast Mekong River can provide food and water and power on a scale to dwarf even our own TVA.

"In areas still ripped by conflict," Johnson said, "of course development will not be easy. Peace will be necessary for final success."

"But," he declared, "we cannot and must not wait for peace to begin the job."

SEN. JAVITS ASKS MEDAL FOR SATCHMO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., has a suggestion for President Johnson: Pin a presidential medal on Louis Satchmo Armstrong for being a "goodwill ambassador" in many nations in recent years.

Javits made the proposal yesterday, noting that the veteran Negro trumpeter was the first American band leader to score a triumph in Communist East Germany.

Do Seniors Get Enough Challenge?

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Whether California's high schools are offering their most competent seniors enough of a challenge was up for consideration as the Board of Education opened its three-day meeting today.

In addition, the 10 - member board will act on a series of school district mergers, review policies involved in awarding federal grants and decide whether to issue a bid call for new social science textbooks.

At present, seniors are allowed to take college - level studies while still in high school with such courses counting toward high school graduation and in many cases toward a college degree.

Regarding textbooks, the State Curriculum Commission will urge the board to institute a new social science program in grades 5 and 8 that deals accurately with contributions of racial minorities in America. The first step would be for the board to issue a bid call for history, geography and civics textbooks that would reach classrooms in the fall of 1967.

The review of federal aid programs will deal with administration of the Vocational Education and National Defense Education Acts in California.

Sanitary District Is Planning Study

Directors of Ross Valley Sanitary District last night voted to hire engineer J. Warren Nute to make a study of changes needed in sewer facilities near the sunny Hills property in San Anselmo if a shopping center is built.

The board also agreed to exclude some land in the Bret Harte area in a proposed swap with the San Rafael Sanitation District, because the land was to be included in the San Rafael district's special assessment district.

Strawberry Cleanup Week Set

Next week is "clean up Strawberry week," directors of the Strawberry Recreation District proclaimed last night.

Beginning Monday, residents may place up to three cubic yards of trash at their curbs which will be picked up on the day of the regular garbage collection.

Directors approved teaching programs for swimming and for tennis on the district's almost-completed court at Strawberry Park.

The swimming program will include a range of classes from non-swimmers to advanced swimmers, beginning June 21.

Tennis lessons will be for children seven through 16. Dates were not set.

SPRING'S A TIME TO YAWN

Goliath, a 3,000-pound-plus elephant seal who is only five and still growing, gives a prodigious yawn and stretches today, as if getting in shape for a long season of people-watching at the Philadelphia Zoo. The huge creature can scratch the back of his neck with his rear flippers, while stretching. (AP Wirephoto)

Rain And Hail Pelts County; More Due

Marin was drenched by rain and pelted by hail today.

The hailstorm started at 11:30 a.m. atop Mount Tamalpais, accompanied by wind clocked at 35 knots with gusts up to 45 knots. Lt. Gerald D. Wolfram, information officer at the 666th Radar Squadron station, described the hailstones as "big as peas."

By noon, San Rafael had .86 of an inch of rain, with more falling steadily.

Ross had 1.2 of an inch by 8 a.m., and Fairfax, 1.1 inch at the same hour.

The Weather Bureau said another storm, rolling in from the north, would cause general rains tomorrow over most of northern and central California.

Snow was falling this morning on Sierra highways. Tire chains were advised at points on Interstate 80 and U.S. 50. Small craft warnings were raised along the coast for south to southeast winds of 20 to 35 knots.

Strong winds in Belvedere Cove last night set adrift a 30-foot cabin cruiser owned by W. A. McLean of 144 Bayview Avenue, Belvedere.

A 40-foot Coast Guard patrol boat was dispatched at 10 p.m. to take the cruiser in tow. The boat was docked at the San Francisco Yacht Club at 10:50 p.m., the Coast Guard said. No damage was reported.

Other Marin rain readings, for 24 hours ending at 8 a.m., were: Hamilton Air Force Base, .9 of an inch; Woodacre, .86; Novato and Point Reyes Station, .85; San Anselmo, .3; Chevy Chase (Larkspur), .67; Mill Valley, .59; Larkspur (city hall), .58; Belvedere, .4; and Sausalito, .36.

Bound Over In Shooting

Marguita Bullard, 35, charged with the March 5 pistol-shooting of another woman in Marin City, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court following preliminary hearing before Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court.

The suspect resides at 419 Drake Avenue.

Marincello Is Backed By Labor

A resolution of support for the Marincello development was voted last night by the Marin County Labor Council.

The council also received a request for strike sanction against San Rafael General Hospital and notice that charges of unfair labor practices by Fairchild Semiconductor have been filed with the National Labor Relations Board.

The Machinists Union is attempting to organize the Fairchild plant in San Rafael and has filed the charges with NLRB.

Strike sanction against San Rafael General Hospital was asked by Hospital Workers Union 250, involving a wage dispute. It was referred to the council's executive board.

The council note that use of lie detectors in job screening by private employers in California is prohibited, but there is no such prohibition on county, city or district authorities. It voted to ask AFL-CIO state headquarters for information on the current status of laws against such use of lie detectors.

Slowdown of work in construction industries was reported by delegates from several building trades unions.

Novato Man Dies In Elevator Shaft

A Novato man was killed yesterday when he fell six stories in an elevator shaft in the San Francisco City Hall.

Ridar Gunderson, 44, of 1113 Simmons Lane, a construction crew foreman for the Otis Elevator Co., which is installing new elevators in the city hall, was riding to the top floor on a temporary platform when the cable broke on the winch. He dropped from the fifth floor to the basement.

Gunderson was born Sept. 13, 1920 in Norway and came to this country as a boy with his parents. He had lived in New Jersey until coming to Novato last year.

He served in the Army Engineers from 1939 to 1945 and had worked for Otis Elevator Co. since 1956.

He was a member of the International Union of Elevator Eonstructors local 8.

He is survived by his wife, Bernadine; four sons, Eric, Chris, Ricky and David, all of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gunderson of Teaneck, N. J.; a brother, Edward Gunderson of Morris Plains, N. J., and a sister, Mrs. George Pister of Redbank, N. J.

The body will be sent to Teaneck, N. J., by Redwood Chapel Funeral Home for funeral and burial.

School Bond Bill Passes Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly today passed a compromise version of Gov. Brown's controversial school bond bill. The vote was 52-11.

But final action on a companion constitutional amendment — needed to put the law into effect — was delayed to allow a technical amendment.

The measure would lower the majority needed to pass local school bond measures from two thirds to 60 per cent when the bond votes were combined with general or primary elections.

Terra Lindans Ask Park Work

Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District directors last night heard pleas for tennis courts and for improvement of Oleander Street Park.

About 30 residents attended an informational meeting at which the program for the coming summer was outlined. There was no objection to the proposed program, commission member James C. Upshaw said.

Several asked that the wading pool be drained of sand so that it does not fill up and overflow each times it rains. Benches for adults were also requested.

Coins Stolen

About $10 in coins was stolen from the home of Earl W. Burns Jr. at 1428 Nye Street, San Rafael, by a burglar who ransacked the bedroom and kitchen of the home, Burns told police. The burglar entered by a rear window, police said.

$5,500 Thefts Latest In Marin Crime Wave

The siege of costly burglaries in Marin County continued today with safe snatchers hauling off an estimated $2,500 in cash and checks from Franchini's Chateau restaurant, 4500 Redwood Highway, north of San Rafael.

Sheriff's officers also reported a bold daylight burglary of the Mill Valley residence of James A. Greer, 699 Sequoia Valley Road. Intruders carried out over $3,000 in jewelry, guns, and other items.

The latter break-in occurred Tuesday. Deputies yesterday had reported burglaries of two Sleepy Hollow homes, one also during daylight and neting $80 cash from the residence of Irwin P. Diamond, 30 Ichabod Court. The other involved $20,000 in jewelry from home of Jack T. Campbell, 1199 Butterfield Road.

Roy Franchini, Chateau owner, said bartender Mario Ferrari closed the restaurant about 2 a.m. An Associate Security Agency patrol found a rear door jimmied about 4:15 a.m.

The burglars took a bolted office door off its hinges. The 250-pound safe, on wheels, was then moved out the back door and carted away. Franchini said it contained about $1,800 cash and the remainder in checks. Records and insurance papers were also in the safe.

The office was ransacked and a cigarette machine was jimmied.

The Greer residence in Mill Valley was entered between 7:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. by prying a door, deputies said. Greer told officers the intruders ransacked the home, leaving bureau drawers open and spilling contents on beds.

He said loot included a diamond ring, a wristwatch, a diamond-studded cross, two shotguns, three rifles, two pistols, a fur coat, two pair of binoculars, and $75 in silver dollars.

Eva N. Brunini, 338 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, told sheriff's officers she removed a $600 diamond-bearing wedding ring about noon yesterday, placing it in a bedroom jewelry box. She then spent an hour in the basement, she added. The ring was missing when she returned.

Stanley Pascal Lynott, 12 Van Winkle Drive, Sleepy Hollow, reported that early this week someone took a case of beer from his unlocked washroom and $10 cash from the house.

Marin County Housing Authority said a storage building at 429 Drake Avenue, Marin City, was entered during the past two weeks by prying a sliding window. A carpenter's pinch bar was taken.

Languages Important To Finns

Children in Finnish schools learn four languages besides their own, starting the first one — Swedish — in the first grade.

This was among the discoveries of Marin County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis on a visit to the Makelanrinteen Yhteiskoulu and other schools in Helsinki, Finland, en route to a tour of Russian schools.

Hollis and Supt. Milton C. Cohen of Larkspur School District are among 36 U.S. educators on the tour.

The Makelanrinteen Yhteiskoulu is a private co-educational high school, starting with seventh grade, Hollis reported. Such schools, he said, are a carryover from the past and are being brought under control of the state school system through a state subsidy if they meet required standards.

Swedish is taught in first through eighth grades of Finnish schools, Hollis reported; English, in second through eighth grades, and German plus either Latin or French in sixth through eighth grades. Thus, junior high students may simultaneously study four foreign languages. However, French and Latin are electives, with Swedish, English and German being required.

The private school visited lacked much of the equipment commonly found in American high schools, Hollis reported. But it had some things not often found here, too, including a doctor's office, a bomb shelter — and a sauna bath for the teachers and principal.

simply will not engage in a fight. Board members who try to pick a fight do the county a disservice."

Regarding his reference to Terra Linda, Bagley said he is looking at homes in the area and may even move there.

"Certainly it is a fine community and I meant no disparagement," Bagley said. "When I am wrong I admit it, and admit to a very poor choice of words and apologize. At the time, speaking spontaneously, I was carried away by alliteration. My point, and I feel it is valid, was and is that development in Marin must not all be the same with row houses and block streets covering the landscape."

How To End Year With A Surplus

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The City of Lexington started the new year with a hidden surplus of $1,040.

Finance Director Robert Johnson said it was an oversight that the money was appropriated for a day nursery. The nursery had gone out of business 1½ years ago.

The chairman of the Marin Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union is Sali Lieberman.

Four Marin Boys Listed As Missing

Four youths—two from St. Vincent's School for Boys in Marinwood — were reported missing today by sheriff's officers.

The St. Vincent's students, John A. Senn, 12, and Michael T. Meyer, 14, apparently ran away shortly before the school's evening meal at 6 p.m. Tuesday, deputies said.

Both were clad in sweaters, dark pants and tennis shoes.

Officers said Michael James McDevitt, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. McDevitt, 22 Pigeon Hollow Road, San Rafael, left home early today following an argument. He was believed driving a white Ford convertible.

Douglas B. McEndree, also 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin B. McEndree at San Quentin, disappeared yesterday afternoon while in San Francisco with his mother. Officers said the youth was wearing a knee-high cast and using crutches.

city on three sides of Alto's main fire house.

"Animosities develop because of the way things are handled," Commissioner Byron W. Leydecker said . "This is nonsensical."

Leydecker asked executive officer John F. Barrows to investigate the possiblity of some kind of cooperative meeting with all residents of the area and representaives of interested districts to seek a solution.

Bert A. Balmer Mill Valley City Manager, said the school corridor was left out because it has 34 property owners and 27 occupied homes. He said the city sent letters to property owners to see of they would agree to annex, but only 13 replied and only seven said they would be in favor.

The commission asked Barrows to write these owners.

Allen charged that Balmer's claim Goheen had requested the annexation was untrue. He said he learned from George C. Goheen Jr. that "indirect compulsions" led him to go along with the annexation due to other Goheen developments within Mill Valley.

nists. U.S. officials reported yesterday that 276 Viet Cong were killed and 33 captured in a three-day battle in the Mekong River delta 130 miles southwest of Saigon. Six Americans and 16 South Vietnamese soldiers died in that battle.

U.S. Air Force jets and other combat planes flew 63 missions today against a suspected large Viet Cong concentration in Kontum Province, near Saigon. Results were not reported immediately.

The U.S. Navy announced that one of its 7th Fleet Skyhawk jet fighters was shot down by Communist ground fire and crashed into the sea on yesterday's strike against transport routes in North Viet Nam. The pilot was missing and presumed killed, the Navy said.

In Saigon, Diplomatic observers today saw great significance in a shakeup of Communist North Viet Nam's Foreign Ministry.

The Hanoi regime announced last night that Foreign Minister Xuan Thuy was resigning because of health and that his job was being taken by Vice Premier Nguyen Duy Trinh.

The move was viewed by students of the embattled Communist country as a decisive strengthening of the ministry, rather than a promotion for Trinh.

A strong Foreign Ministry would certainly be a prerequisite for any move toward negotiations.

Bank Theft Nets 10 Years

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A financial district messenger who stole $65,000 in negotiable U.S. Treasury bills was sentenced today to 10 years in prison.

The judge specified that he undergo a 90-day study, then be brought back for possible modification of sentence.

James H. Locklear, 20, was convicted by a jury of taking the bills after delivering them to Wells Fargo Bank and getting a receipt. The theft was not discovered until a routine audit a few days later.

Locklear served six months in the Imperial County Jail in 1962 for petty theft.

Return Is Better Late Than Never

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. James Peak Jr. wondered why the thief had been in such a hurry to return her wallet.

It was returned recently via air mail. The theft occurred 21 years ago. The sender also included $50 although he took $63 from the wallet when it was snatched while Mrs. Peak was in a grocery store.

mailing, as is being requested in Novato Unified School District, because no sample ballots on a bond leveling question there were mailed.

Musser said that if sample ballots for the Tamalpais bond leveling had been ordered, they probably could not have been mailed to all registered voters in all precincts because of limitations of equipment.

Besides, the bond leveling ballot would only confuse voters, Musser said.

The bond leveling would have to be approved by a two-thirds vote in each elementary school district if it were to go into effect with passage of unification. A turn-down in one district would mean the proposal would be lost.

Bond leveling was voted down 16,290 to 13,601 in the June election last year in which unification also lost.

In Tiburon, fire district officials said they were told by Musser they could not get sample ballots.

Fire Commissioner Kelly J. Wheeler said he told Musser by phone during the first week in March that the district wanted sample ballots for the election and was told that Musser's office could not handle the request.

Wheeler said Musser told him the request came too late.

Examination of the minutes of the fire district board shows that directors on March 4 passed a resolution directing Wheeler to ask the county to send "post cards" specifying polling places to all registered voters.

Wheeler said, however, he backed up his earlier phone request for sample ballots, mailed March 5. Lynch, as chairman of the district, said he personally asked Musser for sample ballots but was told he was too late.

Snow Blankets Coastal Ranges

SAN LUIS OBISPO (AP)—The first snow since December, 1961 fell before dawn today in the nearby Santa Lucia range.

There was an inch of snow only two miles out of San Luis Obispo. Eighteen miles east at the 2,500-foot level the fall totalled three inches.

The snow quickly melted after daybreak.

In San Luis Obispo, there was 1.15 inches of rain.

New Agent Calls Shot

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The new agent in charge of the FBI office in Louisville, Bernard C. Brown, proved something of a prophet.

A newsman called to ask when Brown would have time for an interview.

"Better right now; never know when I'll be called out on a bank robbery," said Brown.

Four hours later he was busy investigating a bank stickup in Louisville.

Cuban Sugar Crop

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro said today Cuba has produced more than four million tons of sugar this season. He predicted his five-million-ton goal will be reached in time to sweeten May Day observances on this Communist island.

OBITUARIES

Dog Fancier J. Boegman Dies At 82

John A. Boegman of Mill Valley, retired dog groomer and professional dog handler, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness.

Boegman, 82, came to the United States in 1914 from Amsterdam, The Netherlands, bringing with him five Airdale Terriers.

Dogs were his hobby and, during his life he had made a home for "almost every breed imaginable."

Boegman began showing dogs as a small boy in Holland, taking his dogs to England and Germany.

On arrival in the U.S. he lived on the East Coast where he managed hotels. He moved to the Los Angeles area about 1925 and to San Francisco in 1935, where he opened a grooming salon for dogs on Clement Street. The shop, the Beauty Salon for Dogs, remains in existence.

Boegman retired from that job in 1955 but remained a dog show judge, specializing in terriers, until three years ago.

He lived at 200 East Strawberry Drive for the last 10 years with his wife, Helen.

Boegman was a member of San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108; a founder, charter member and first president of both the Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club, and the Dalmatian Club of Northern California.

He built and was once owner of the Marin Convalescent and Rehabilitation Hospital on Tiburon Peninsula.

He is survived by his wife; a son, Bob Boegman of San Jose; a daughter, Mrs. Edward L. Mendenhall of Tiburon, and five grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated for Boegman at 9 a.m. tomorrow at St. Hilary's Church, Tiburon. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

The family requests that tributes be contributions to a children's disease foundation.

D. E. ZAPPETTINI

Requiem High Mass for David E. Zappettini, a young San Rafael man who died after an auto crash near Bishop, Inyo County, Tuesday, will be offered at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael.

Zappettini, 24, and a friend, Frank Guidon, 23, of Balboa Island, were going to Las Vegas from San Rafael when the car, with Guidon at the wheel, went off the road and rolled over three times. The two had to be freed from the car by workmen who used a cutting torch to remove the roof. Guidon was dead and Zappettini died later in a Bishop hospital.

Zappettini was a painter on the Golden Gate Bridge. He took a leave of absence from his job Jan. 14 and went to Las Vegas. He was returning there Tuesday to gather his belongings and move back to San Rafael. He was expected back at his job Monday.

Surviving are his wife, Terry, of San Rafael; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Zappettini of San Rafael; a sister, Dianne, of San Rafael, and his grandmother, Mrs. Maria Zappettini of San Francisco.

The funeral cortege will leave the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, ah 9:30 a.m. Saturday. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

ROBERT EMPY

Funeral for Robert H. Empy, 38, of 516 Olive Street, Sausalito, will be held Monday at 12:30 p.m. at Valente, Marini, Perata and Co., 649 Green Street, San Francisco.

Empy was found dead in his car Tuesday night.

Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

KATHLEEN MacAULEY

Kathleen MacAuley, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. MacAuley of 20 Oak Hill Drive, San Anselmo, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was a native of Marin County and in the first grade at Isabel Cook School.

Surviving are her parents; a sister, Susan Lynn; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Lloyd of Ross and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William F. MacAuley of Tahoe City, Placer County.

Memorial service is pending under direction of Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

MRS. ST. JOHN

Funeral for Mrs. Catherine L. St. John, mother of William St. John of Mill Valley, were conducted Saturday in Jones and Lewis Funeral Home, Lower Lake, Lake County.

Mrs. St. John, a native of Berkeley who had lived in Lake County since 1948, died in her home in Clearlake Highlands last Thursday.

B. H. RUDOLPH

Funeral for Bernard H. (Ben) Rudolph, 64, of Petaluma, brother of Leroy Rudolph of San Rafael, was held today in Petaluma.

Rudolph, a salesman for a Petaluma hatchery for 30 years, died Monday in a Petaluma hospital after four days illness.

A native of Petaluma, Rudolph worked for Ford Motor Co. before joining the hatchery.

Surviving are his wife, Ilma Rudolph of Petaluma, a son, Donald Rudolph of Petaluma, two daughters, Mrs. Joan Pereyda of Walnut Creek and Mrs. Barbara Isselin of Formosa, a sister, Mrs. Alonzo Bourke of Petaluma, three brothers, Otto and Edward Rudolph of Petaluma and Leroy Rudolph, and four grandchildren.

Burial was in Cypress Hill Memorial Park, Petaluma.

Friends are invited to attend the funeral Saturday, April 10, 1965, at 9:30 a.m. from the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, thence to St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael, where a High Mass of Requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul, commencing at 10 a.m. Recitation of the Rosary at 8 p.m. Friday at the mortuary. Interment, Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. (4/8-9)

Work Goes Down Drain

He crawled under the sink with a bucket, opened the drain, and got out all the water.

Then he started to clear the stoppage in the pipes. The bucket of water kept getting in his way. Finally, he reached up and poured it back into the sink.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY in the Heart of our County

Marin pioneers chose a site in the heart of our county as a final resting place for their families. Today this location—at the west end of Fifth Avenue in San Rafael—is still convenient to all Marin points.

Marinites who choose Mount Tamalpais do so with the assurance that its beauty will grow with the years. The interest from a quarter-million dollar endowment fund—twice the legal requirement—is dedicated to the constant care and improvement of this 57-acre site.

Perhaps—like many Marin families—you wish to make your own final arrangements to spare others difficult decisions. If so, we invite your inquiry or a personal visit.

AMAZING TRAFFIC ALIBIS

Driver Passes A Red Light, But Just Between Flashes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A motorist made a high-speed exit from the Hollywood Freeway and ran through a red light.

But the driver had a quick alibi for the California Highway Patrol officer who halted him:

"If I make any sudden stops my wife spills her breakfast. It makes her mad."

The officer looked into the car. There sat the driver's wife, a plate of bacon and eggs in her lap.

Patrol officers list this among the most surprising alibis yet offered for traffic offenses—although, as a compilation by administrative aides shows, Southern California's officers must by now have surely heard them all.

Like the time the gray-haired woman roared her powerful sedan past a stop signal's flashing red light, and explained when caught: "But officer, I went through between flashes."

Or the night Patrolman E. B. Foster stopped a motorist speeding 50 m.p.h. in a 25 m.p.h. zone during a heavy fog. The driver's excuse: "It was so foggy I couldn't read my speedometer."

None of these excuses saved the motorists from traffic tickets. But Foster, whose beat is South Los Angeles, remembers once he stopped a young woman for speeding and she told him she was hurrying because she had left her purse in a market and wanted to recover it before someone grabbed it.

He escorted her back to the store and went in with her.

There on the counter was the young woman's purse.

New Sit-In Try Fizzles At Berkeley

BERKELEY (AP) — Another sit-in was tried at the University of California Berkeley campus administration building yesterday but only 20 students took part.

The miniature recreation of the mass sit-in last December that resulted in 733 arrests followed the eviction from the campus of a card table being used by members of the Free Speech Movement (FSM).

The FSM members were selling a pamphlet critical of the Board of Regents. Two police officers confiscated the table, pamphlets and money because the students didn't have a permit.

The students appealed to a crowd of about 150 to march inside Sproul Hall. Only 20 answered the call. Subsequent efforts to get a permit failed largely because FSM leaders were on trial at the time on charges growing out of the December mass demonstration.

Lawmakers Not Informed About Armored Autos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most members of the House didn't know about it when they voted last Monday to appropriate $325,000 to buy a special armored automobile for President Johnson and another $197,000 to buy a car for Secret Service guards.

The money was in the annual appropriations bill providing funds for the Secret Service and other agencies.

A letter from Robert Carswell, special assistant to the secretary of the Treasury, justifying the outlay for the two cars was not published during hearings. Subcommittee Chairman Rep. Thomas Steed, D-Okla., confirmed its existence yesterday.

Carswell's letter said President Johnson had nothing to do with the request.

Deposits Freeze Proposed To Salvage Defunct Bank

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The board chairman of the defunct San Francisco National Bank has a plan to put the bank back in business and pay off its bills.

J. W. Ehrlich, board chairman, said yesterday that the bank could meet its financial obligations if the federal government would freeze the bank's certificates of deposits for two years. The bank was declared insolvent Jan. 22.

The freeze means deposit holders could not withdraw their certificates at all for two years. The certificates, which pay higher interest rates than normal deposits, represent millions of dollars at the bank.

As it now stands, certificate of deposit holders and holders of savings and checking accounts—insured no more than $10,000 per account—figure to lose considerable money, Ehrlich said.

"If this bank remains closed," Ehrlich said, "deposits of the big organizations and the little man's savings are wiped out."

Ehrlich said a freeze of certificates of deposit would place the bank in position to cover the total amount of deposits subject to withdrawal—$3,176,000— with assets on hand.

Ehrlich also proposed selling $5 million of the bank's customer loans at face value to raise working capital, asked the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco to continue a $9.2 million loan and requested the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. to accept $7 million of the bank's loans.

Under present announced plans, stockholders and deposits not covered by insurance are to be paid on a pro-rated basis from remaining assets.

Fish Forecast The Weather

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—Waukegan's interpreter of the weather, by signs the fish in Lake Michigan reflect, says the area is in for a long, hot summer.

Mathon Kyritsis has been communing with the fish for more than 25 years. He said he must know their whereabouts because his livelihood depends on catching them.

He observes that the smelt schooled earlier than usual this year in preparation for their yearly swim to shallow waters to spawn.

NAZI COMMANDER ATTENDS TRIAL

George Lincoln Rockwell (extreme left), commander of the American Nazi Party, brought along his camera as he attended trial of Mrs. Joan Gardner Brown (extreme right) in Boulder, Colo., yesterday. Mrs. Brown, former Boulder teacher, is charged with fatal shooting of James M. Pearson, 20, University of Colorado student from Menlo Park. Rockwell says he is convinced Pearson was a Nazi.

No Yowls Over Limit To Animals

The Larkspur City Council last night introduced an ordinance amendment restricting the number of cats, dogs and horses a resident can keep in the city, and there was scarcely a yowl, bark or whinny from the audience.

Councilmen, expecting a turnout of pet lovers, were surprised when there was little discussion on the amendment which limits a homeowner to two dogs and two cats.

The amendment also restricts the keeping of horses to lots of at least an acre in size.

Vote on the amendment was 3-1, with Mayor Neil R. Brixon dissenting — and Councilman Vaughn M. Marker absent.

When one resident piped up "I've got five cats right now," Brixon said the new law will not be retroactive.

The council also introduced a revised tree ordinance that controls both planting and cutting of trees and permits removal of hazardous trees on private land.

Included in the ordinance is a definition of a tree, provided by City Atty. Robert W. Elliott as the result of a dispute at the previous session.

At that session, former Mayor Lesly A. Daveler complained that the ordinance did not define a tree.

Elliott's definition says a tree is "a woody plant having normally a single self-supporting trunk, the whole of which will be a minimum height of 10 feet when mature."

The Council eliminated smaller eucalyptus species from prohibited list and added Redwood trees to the approved list for street planting.

The Council adopted, by 4-0 vote, an ordinance regulating licensing of vehicles for hire. The ordinance sets insurance standards and other qualifications and requires operation of service at least six hours a day, five days a week, but does not regulate rates.

First Plant For Yemen

SANAA, Yemen (AP) — The first functioning industrial plant in this country's history began operation recently, manufacturing aluminum pots and pans for Yemeni housewives.

But the historic event, in a country only now creeping into the 20th Century, was touched with drama. The owner died of natural causes before he could see his factory make history.

The only other factory in the country is a textile mill built in 1959, but never operated, and an ice plant on the Red Sea coast.

Larkspur Asks Road Extension Be Kept

The Larkspur City Council last night voted to ask the Marin County Board of Supervisors to keep the Wolfe Grade Road extension in the Kentfield General Plan.

Supervisors, who voted 4-1 against extending Wolfe Grade to Bon Air Bridge, will have a public hearing April 26 to reconsider the decision.

Larkspur councilmen said they weren't asking for immediate extension of Wolfe Grade, but want it included in the plan "for further consideration at a future date."

The council acted at the request of Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, who was the lone dissenter when the board eliminated the extension.

Mayor Neil R. Brixon said there would be problems if the proposed extension area between Wolfe Grade School and Marin Catholic High School were closed. "It will seal up the area and we'll never have a route," he said.

City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper said the city has plans to make Bon Air Road four lanes to the city limits at Bon Air Bridge by 1975, and traffic will have to flow from that point.

"Someday the balance of Greenbrae will become Larkspur and then Sir Francis Drake Boulevard will be a city street," Piper said.

Brixon admitted that the Wolfe Grade extension "may do some damage, but it will do more good than damage."

Councilman Robert J. Smith said he didn't think "Larkspur should stick its nose in the situation at this time."

He later voted for the resolution when he was satisfied that the wording was not demanding immediate extension. The vote was 4-0 with Councilman Vaughn M. Marker absent.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

1. Approved a request for request for removal of a redwood was recommended by the park and recreation commission, and requested Piper to get two bids on the job.

2. Agreed that a committee should inspect the city's tidelands area east of Highway 101, sometime after April 15, to study the possibility of reducing the city requirements for fill. Piper said the requirements have discouraged one potential builder.

3. Heard from Piper that even if Corte Madera withdraws from the Larkspur-Corte Madera joint recreation program, Larkspur could conduct an independent program "in its present form with no greater cost than before."

Tiny Tot Signups

Registration for a Friday tiny tots program conducted by the Terra Linda Recreation District will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Terra Linda Community Center. The classes, for children aged 3 to 5, will be held each Friday from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Inspection Set After Protest On Road Job

The Larkspur City Council, faced with protests against the city's proposed Redwood Avenue widening project, agreed last night to have a two-member committee inspect the area at Redwood and Madrone avenues.

The council received a petition with 18 signatures protesting encroachment on private property, and claiming the project will make the blind curve worse.

City Engineer B. J. Whitlow noted that "some 40 persons" had submitted a petition asking the city to do something to reduce traffic hazards.

Councilman Robert J. Smith said the city should proceed immediately because "the hazard still exists."

Mayor Neil R. Brixon said an on-site inspection would not delay the project, and set Friday at 5 p.m. for the inspection. Brixon, Smith, Whitlow and City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper and residents of the area will look at the site.

New Planner Is Appointed From Long List In Larkspur

The Larkspur City Council, with a wealth of applicants for the job, last night appointed Victor Donati of 101 La Cuesta Drive a city planning commissioner.

Donati was appointed to succeed Andrew R. Gilardi, who resigned last month because he plans to move from the city.

Mayor Neil R. Brixon said he hoped "the other six or seven" who applied will not withdraw their names from consideration for vacancies on other commissions.

"Unless their names are withdrawn, we will feel they can be considered on the next go-around," he said.

Noting the interest indicated by the number of applicants, Brixon said, "It's a fine feeling to have this type of citizenry."

Novato Artist

Mrs. Nevin Kempthorne, Novato artist, was incorrectly listed as being from Napa in a story in the Independent-Journal yesterday on an arts and craft show to be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday at Rancho Rafael in Ignacio.

City Agrees To Larkspur NWP Track Abandonment

City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper said it would be to Larkspur's advantage to have the line removed so the city could use the right-of-way for roads.

"No one here uses the line," said Piper. "I feel it is time that Larkspur gets in to see if it can help get the railroad tracks out of there."

Councilmen were in a ticklish situation because the Larkspur spur is part of the Sausalito branch, which Northwestern is seeking to abandon, and the Sausalito City Council opposes abandonment.

Councilman Robert J. Smith said, "I'd like to avoid misunderstanding with fellow cities that might be affected. Our only reason is to get land to finish out our street system."

Councilmen made it clear they were backing abandonment in Larkspur only.

Northwestern has petitioned to abandon service in San Rafael, Tiburon and Sausalito. The Interstate Commerce Commission has turned it down, but a court appeal of the decision is possible.

The railroad asked the Larkspur city council to go on record with the ICC as agreeing to abandonment.

Piper pointed out the city's street plan calls for a road along the railroad right-of-way east of Magnolia Avenue, from Doherty Drive to Tamalpais Avenue in Corte Madera.

"The track has been removed already north of Baltimore Avenue," he noted.

The proposed road would handle through traffic and "vastly help downtown," Piper predicted. "If the railroad line is abandoned, the road could become a reality in 1967-68."

The city also plans to use the railroad right-of-way parallel to William Avenue for a future road, he said.

Novato Police Sergeant Quitting

Sgt. Gene D. Clayton has resigned from the Novato Police Department effective April 17, City Mgr. J. Julien Baget announced yesterday.

Clayton, who lives at 5401 Redwood Highway, Novato, said he was resigning to take a position with C. R. Fedrick Construction Co. of Novato at more money. He joined the Novato Police Department Nov. 10, 1962, and was appointed sergeant March 1, 1964.

Losers In Recalls Would Be Fined

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Leaders of unsuccessful recall drives would have to pay the expenses of the incumbent officeholder in defending himself plus a $1,000 fine under a measure introduced today in the Assembly.

Assemblyman Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles, said the bill aims at halting recall elections "initiated simply to harass elected officials."

Orrell, a graduate of University of Oregon, defeated Charles W. Tankersley, Midland, Tex., by a 70-60 vote.

Glen Saul of Plainview, Tex., who is the present student body president, was elected first vice president with 116 votes. A. L. McDaniel Jr. of Escondido gained two write-in votes.

Others elected were Gary Collins, Burbank, unopposed for second vice president, with 122 votes; Raymona Rainey, Los Gatos, 117 votes for secretary, with seven write-in votes for Jack W. Walker, Pine Bluff, Ark.; Janice Jackson, Lesage, W. Va., treasurer, unopposed with 113 votes.

Nelson Edward Hairston of Houston, Tex., was elected editor of the school paper, the Disseminarian, with 113 votes, beating John A. Witherspoon, Webb City, Mo., and Lloyd Daniel White, Jackson, Miss., each with two write-in votes.

Mona Jean Akins, Phoenix, Ariz., with 101 votes and Joe Hawkins, Colton, 107 votes, were elected unopposed as student body representatives.

County Employees To Ask For 5 Per Cent Pay Hike

The Marin County Employees Assn. has asked for a 5 per cent across-the-board pay raise for next fiscal year.

The raise request was reported on the basis of "civic center cafeteria conversation" in yesterday's Independent-Journal after Mrs. LaVerne Robinson, secretary of the association, refused to give out information on the pay request until it had been transmitted by letter to County Administrator Alan Bruce.

The letter to Bruce, delivered later yesterday, says employees have not received a cost-of-living pay raise for three years, and statistics show a 3.8 per cent rise in the cost of living during that period.

Bruce has said he will not recommend an across-the-board raise.

State Highway Aide Lists Projects Status

frontage roads "by eliminating points of severe conflict," he said.

The San Rafael project includes extension of Grand Avenue across San Rafael Creek to Francisco Boulevard, grading and paving Second Street between the extension and Francisco Boulevard, connecting Dubois Street to Francisco Boulevard; and realigning the Irwin Street off-ramp.

Three bridges will be constructed, at San Rafael Harbor and San Rafael and Irwin Creeks, and a timber bulkhead will be constructed at Irwin Street. "The contractor is presently clearing and grubbing the work location, excavating channels and constructing abutment fills," Hart reported.

Design studies are under way for the remaining projects in the Highway 101 reconstruction program, Hart said. These include adding two lanes between Third Street and two-tenth of a mile north of San Pedro Road, with a collector road from Third Street to Mission Avenue.

"Another proposed project will add two lanes to the section from north of Manuel T. Freitas Parkway to Miller Creek, thus completing to six lanes the gap between existing six-lane sections," he said.

Revised freeway agreements are pending for minor frontage road relocation in the vicinity of Freitas Parkway interchange, at the request of Marin County, he reported.

Design studies are under way for extending Highway 101 as a freeway north from Route 37 to north of Atherton Avenue in Novato, in the vicinity of San Marin Drive, Hart said. Studies of the route north of Atherton Avenue "are inactive."

A median barrier is being installed from the north end of the San Rafael viaduct to the south end of Corte Madera Creek. Landscaping for a highway section on both sides of Corte Madera Creek is being designed.

Hart also reported that $65,000 has been alloted for landscaping and rest room facilities at Vista Point, but "design studies for the west side parking lot and a freeway connection are suspended due to possible conflict with Golden Gate Bridge expansion plans."

The Tiburon Boulevard widening between Blackfield Drive and beyond Reed Ranch Road will take about seven months to complete, Hart reported. There will be a channel constructed at Reed Ranch Road, he said.

Portions of Shoreline Highway will be resurfaced as part of the district's annual "thin blanket" program, Hart said.

Widening of Shoreline in three locations between Muir and Stinson beaches was completed last month.

Drainage improvements between Stinson Beach and Marshall have been contracted.

Design studies are underway to correct "a slipout" on Shoreline about four miles north of its intersection with Highway 101, but financing is not available, he said. Design studies also are underway for replacement of Seemple Creek Bridge and alignment changes on four-tenths of a mile of Shoreline north of Point Reyes Station.

Location studies for realignment of Shoreline south of Olema are awaiting completion of Marin County planning studies, Hart said.

Work has been suspended temporarily on grading and paving a section of San Geronimo-Nicasio Road, between 5.1 and 6.2 miles northwest of San Geronimo.

Irish Watching Record Election

DUBLIN (UPI) — Officials tallied the record vote in Ireland's parliamentary elections today and government party members confidently predicted Premier Sean F. Lemass would win an overall majority.

Final results of Tuesday's election, in which an estimated 80 per cent of the 1.6 million registered voters cast ballots, was not expected until tomorrow.

An official of Lemass' ruling Fianna Fail — men of destiny — party said the government had polled heavily in the populous Dublin area.

The Town of Pacheco in Contra Costa County was named for Salvio Pacheco, a Mexican officer.

THIS SOLVES PROBLEM BUT NOT THE CASE

REDDING (AP) — Siskiyou County Sheriff A. B. Cotter says he made a key discovery in the theft of $30,000 paintings from the William Randolph Hearst estate.

As a result he's dropped the case.

The sheriff determined yesterday after a week of investigation, that the theft didn't occur in his county.

The Hearst estate is just over the line in neighboring Shasta County, a fact that was not known until he started checking maps of the sparsely settled area.

More Working In California

SACRAMENTO (AP) — More people were working in California last month than in any previous March but the unemployment rate remained at last year's level, the Department of Industrial Relations reported today.

A total of 6.64 million workers held jobs — up 179,000 or 2.8 per cent from last March. There were 472,000 jobless, down 17,000 from February but 14,000 more than March 1964.

The aerospace industry continued its employment decline during the month, while machinery, food products and apparel took on new workers.

Drivers Ignore Dying Motorist

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — A car pulled off on the shoulder of the freeway and stopped. It was 8 a.m. yesterday.

Passing patrol cars sensed nothing amiss.

But at 7:30 p.m. Martin Paganucci set out to find why his brother-in-law, Serafino A. Del Bono, hadn't returned home from work.

He found the parked car and Del Bono in it, dead.

Examiners said the 73-year-old man may have been alive several hours after a heart attack.

Colusa got its name from a corruption of Ko-ru-si (also spelled Co-lu-si and Co-lu-se). It is said to mean "scratcher" because it was the privilege of tribal brides to begin the honey- their braves.

Demos Drive For Health Bill Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic leaders, ignoring Republican charges of "rubber stamp," press today for passage by nightfall of a $6-billion health care-Social Security bill.

Republicans concentrated their efforts on a preliminary vote, expected late today, on substituting for the bill President Johnson backs one introduced by Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis.

The Byrnes bill is similar in most respects to the administration measure, but would not provide payroll tax increases to finance a hospital benefit for the aged. Instead, the bill would provide higher payments by participants and general Treasury subsidy.

The legislation, which would accomplish the greatest single expansion of Social Security since the system was established, would provide hospitalization for all those 65 and older, with the patient paying the first $40; an optional $3-a-month plan of health insurance for doctors' bills and incidentals; a 7 per cent increase in old age Social Security payments and enlargement and liberalization of programs of federally aided state medical help for the needy.

Senator In Surgery For Heart Tumor

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., underwent surgery today for a swollen heart artery.

Dr. Leon Khory, the senator's physician, reported there was no spread of malignancy from the tumor.

SECRET AGENT OGP-0002

Congressman Pokes Fun At Secrecy Bit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Don't ask OGP-0002 what he did last weekend.

After looking around the armed services committee, of which he is a member, Pike decided he needed a secret title, such as OGP-0002, when he found so many things secret.

After seeing the word "secret" stamped everywhere, Pike did a little investigating. He found that during the two years of the last Congress the armed services committee held 127 meetings, mostly secret. Subcommittees held 239 more meetings, many "even more secret."

Pike said the only thing he knows about a subcommittee concerned with the Central Intelligence Agency is who is on it. He said he doesn't have any idea what the group does.

Pike revealed the entire page: "Stephen Ailes was born in Romney, W. Va., the son of Eugene E. Ailes and Sally Cornwell Ailes. He spent his boyhood in Scarborough, N.Y., where he attended the Scarborough school. . ."

Pike says it went on in this vein for a full secretive page. "The heart grows faint at the thought of the incalculable damage which this information in the hands of our enemies might wreak."

About last weekend, Pike's subcommittee went to California "on a secret mission." But he says, that "the enemy will get nothing from me." Neither will his wife.

"I shall smile my steeliest smile and give nothing but my name, rank, and serial number —OGP-0002—to my wife," Pike said.

Santa Fe Trims Valley Schedule

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Santa Fe is discontinuing two of its San Joaquin Valley passenger trains effective Monday, but four other Santa Fe passenger trains will continue to serve Stockton and valley points.

The trains being discontinued are Golden Gate No. 60, running southbound between Richmond and Bakersfield, and northbound No. 63 over the same short haul route.

The State Public Utilities Commission authorized the Santa Fe to drop these trains because of lack of patronage.

Cities Warned Of Haste On Road Stand

Cities which take a stand now on location of the proposed Highway 17 extension to west Marin are "jumping the gun," a state Division of Highway engineer told two committees of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Speaker was Clifford Green, deputy engineer for the division's San Francisco office, who addressed a joint meeting of the chamber's street and highway committee and city development committee.

Green predicted state hearings on the east-west freeway will, with luck, be held this fall. He said studies on precise location have not begun. Thus, he contended, any resolution passed now is premature.

The division, he said, makes its decisions solely on the basis of traffic volume. Noting that heaviest concentration now is by way of the Miracle Mile through San Anselmo, Green contended that a northern ridge route could not be expected to handle this.

He displayed a chart which showed the traffic flow at Highway 101 and Francisco Boulevard had risen from slightly below 49,000 cars daily in 1961 to 64,000 cars daily in 1964.

Tutoring In Homes Discussed

Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees last night discussed including funds in the fiscal 1966 budget for tutoring pupils at their homes.

No figure was discussed, the matter being continued to gather more information. Mrs. Alyce Thompson, clerk, said the tutoring would be for pupils who are ill.

The board decided to hire a district speech therapist next September. The county superintendent of schools office is eliminating speech therapist, psychologist and dental service to the district, Mrs. Thompson said.

Funds up to $100 were earmarked for a substitute bus driver and Craig Hanson of Bolinas was named as substitute in case of illness of the regular driver.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Okamura of Bolinas showed a scale model of a remodeled library for a classroom in Bolinas School, and trustees approved up to $200 for shelving which Okamura is to build. It will be an enlargement of the present library in the same room.

Peter M. Auer, superintendent-principal, said first grade students may register for the fall semester May 15 at Bolinas School.

Water Districts Joint Policy On Future Asked

The Marin County Local Agency Commission today requested a meeting of directors and staffs of the two major water districts in the county to work out some kind of policy on future developments of water service.

The meeting, suggested by commission chairman Bert W. Broemmel, was set tentatively for May 3.

Broemmel made the suggestion after brief discussion of the proposal for a 1,000-acre water works district at the western end of Lucas Valley. Decision on this was continued at request of the applicant until April 29.

The Local Agency Formation Commission also:

1. Approved annexation to Novato Sanitary District of the portion of a five-acre parcel on Novato Boulevard owned by Schwindt and Castlewood Development Co. which is annexed to the city of Novato.

2. Approved annexation of a 40-acre tract known as Terra Linda No. 21 at the west end of Manuel Freitas Parkway to Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

3. Approved annexation of a small parcel owned by the Draper Companies, across from the Emporium parking lot and north of Mount Olivet Cemetery, to Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

Commissioner Jan Paul Dyk was absent.

False Fire Alarm Is For The Birds

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP)—Firemen agreed that the run they made to the Farmers Feed and Hardware Store was "for the birds."

Instead of a fire, they found a red-tinted flashing light which the company had installed in its warehouse to discourage birds from entering.

Aby, Bettini Argue City Improvements

City Councilman Charles W. Aby, running for San Rafael mayor in next Monday's election, declared today that the city has been improved considerably during his 10 years as councilman, all with reductions in tax rate.

His rival candidate, C. Paul Bettini, member of the San Rafael Board of Education for 10 years, noted some of the shortcomings in city government and said improvements are needed.

The two spoke on radio station KTIM over Kitty Oppenheimer's "Marin Sounding Board" program. Today's discussion will be re-broadcast via tape recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Reduction in the San Rafael tax rate to the present 94 cents is due to the substantial increase in assessments, Bettini said. "Actually, a further reduction is possible," he said.

Both agreed that housing for the elderly is needed. Dr. Aby favors an appointed police chief, while Bettini said he would retain the elected police chief, but urged an appointed city clerk and city attorney.

Bettini urged that a board of freeholders be set up to revise the "outdated" city charter. Aby agreed the charter needs change, but said attempts to change it have repeatedly been voted down.

Bettini charged that the city has not been completing projects that have been budgeted.

For example, said Bettini, the public works department, with a budget of over one million dollars, spent only $600,000. "Either we are over-budgeting departments, or we are not implementing and staffing departments so that the needed work is accomplished."

Aby replied that lack of space and personnel often makes it impossible to complete all the budgeted items. However, much of the engineering work on budgeted items is done one year, and the work completed the following year.

Among changes suggested by Bettini were these:

San Rafael must be revitalized and a beautification and traffic plan implemented. Bettini said the city's master plan should have been completed earlier. He said the city is not planning ahead to meet the economic boom expected from the Point Reyes Seashore.

City commissions have been weakened because the city council failed to act on their recommendations or interposed its will over the commission.

A street, highway and transportation commission should be created to work closely with the public works department and city manager.

Dr. Aby said business in downtown San Rafael is in good shape despite the Northgate Shopping Center. He said that the flood problem has been alleviated although it has not been completely solved.

Aby declared liason with various departments and the board of education has been improved during his term in office, and it will continue to be improved.

Bettini said he favors a moratorium on bay filling for about 18 months, but realizes that privately owned tidelands should be paid for if they are to be used for public purposes.

The city council's position on bay fill is to hold the matter in abeyance since it is now being studied by the legislature, replied Aby.

This City Sells Syrup

The City Council authorized purchase of a $1,575 maple syrup evaporator after Public Utilities Manager William Wasick reported it would be profitable to replace the old unit used to make syrup from sap of maple trees at a city reservoir.

Reservoir employees make the syrup at times when other duties don't keep them busy, he said, and the city gets $4,000 to $5,000 a year from selling syrup. That, he said, "more than pays the salaries of these men for the time they're making syrup."

Johnson Wins Round On Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a victory for the Johnson administration, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee reversed itself today and voted to restore $115 million it had cut previously from military assistance funds in the foreign aid authorization bill.

The reversal by a 10-8 vote, would authorize the full $1.17 billion the administration had requested for military assistance.

Marin County Tip Credited For Foiling Burglary Plot

A tip from Donald E. Midyett, Marin County district attorney's investigator, led to the trapping of two San Francisco policemen and three ex-convicts in Sally Stanford's Pacific Heights home Tuesday night.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said today Midyett received a tip on plans for the burglary about two weeks ago. It included the possibility San Francisco officers were involved.

Midyett told Bales, who instructed him to immediately inform the San Francisco Police Department. From then on, Midyett worked closely with San Francisco police on the case, Bales said.

Midyett refused to comment on his role in the case.

Mme. Stanford (whose real name is Marsha Owen) maintains a legal voting residence in Sausalito, also a mansion in San Francisco.

She had entered a San Francisco hospital for treatment of a heart condition before the burglary.

San Francisco Police Chief Thomas Cahill and a force of 25 plainclothes officers were waiting Tuesday night when the three ex-convicts—Winston Major, 51, Wesley Gant, 56, and Louis Romero, 28—entered the house. They were there because of Midyett's tip.

Meanwhile, other detectives closed in on a car parked nearby and ordered the occupants, Patrolmen Salvatore Polani, 44, and Patrick Buckman, 27, out of the vehicle.

Polani resisted and was accidentally shot through the jaw during a scuffle with the arresting officer. He was hospitalized in fair condition.

But what appeared to be a closed case was only a beginning for Chief Cahill. During a routine check of the suspects, police found a motel key on Officer Buckman.

A check of the motel revealed a debonair Englishman, Peter Rook, handcuffed and under the guard of Polani's son, Kenneth, 24.

Rook, 30, who claims to have million in Swiss banks, charged that he was kidnaped by the two policemen involved in the burglary attempt and taken to the motel.

But police investigators charged that Buckman and Polani were being paid $150 a day to keep Rook under "surveillance" for a Los Angeles bonding company. Police regulations prohibit off-duty employment.

Rook, brought to San Francisco from Dallas last November to face charges of writing $4,000 worth of bad checks, was unable to obtain bond in San Francisco. He was released Tuesday on $17,000 bail put up by the Los Angeles company.

Embassy Bombing Trial Planned Despite Threat

SAIGON (UPI)—Authorities said today a Communist terrorist will be tried for bombing the U.S. Embassy despite a Viet Cong threat to kill an American civilian in guerrilla hands.

A Viet Cong announcement yesterday said the American hostage, Gustav Hertz, 46, of Leesburg, Va., would be slain if the accused embassy bomber, Nguyen Van Hai, 32, is executed.

A spokesman for South Viet Nam's national police said Hai's fate depends on the trial court—not on the Communists. Hai has been charged with "an act of terrorism" and faces a probable death sentence.

No date for Hai's trial has been set.

MIDWEST CONTRAST — As much of the Midwest suffers after storms and present threat of flood waters, these two Chicago girls, Lynn Barefoot (left) and Kay Truelsen, decided to test the ice-bordered waters of Lake Michigan yesterday. Air temperature was in low 60s and water temperature in low 40s. (AP Wirephoto)

Grand Jury For Paddling

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Christian County grand jury has recommended more liberal use of the paddle in the school room.

The jury suggested the legislature should clarify the responsibilities of teachers and principals in dealing with discipline. Its report added:

"We feel that in many instances a teacher feels a good paddling would help straighten a pupil out but refrains from this due to fear of a law suit as his legal position in such an occurrence is questionable."

Re-Map Support

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two Los Angeles County supervisors yesterday gave partial support to a proposed reapportionment plan for the state Senate but objected to senators being elected at large.

Midwesterners Flee As Flood Waters Hit Homes

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Destructive flood waters spilled over widespread areas of the Midwest today. Thousands of persons sought shelter as their homes were filled with water.

Two persons were killed yesterday in a southern Minnesota rain storm and two children were missing after they were seen playing near the swollen Battle Creek River in Minnesota's Ramsey County.

An estimated 1,000 persons have been forced from their homes in several Iowa areas. Dozens of communities were in danger of their creeping flood waters.

Officials said flood damage in Cherokee, a town of 8,500 in northwestern Iowa could exceed $2 million.

The Weather Bureau forecast up to 1 inch of rain by Friday.

Cherokee was struck when the Little Sioux River surged to 27.1 feet, before dropping to 25 feet yesterday. Flood stage is 17 feet.

Northeastern Iowa battled the rampaging Cedar River. Central Iowa was hard pressed to hold back the Des Moines River.

Some residential and business areas in the Waterloo-Cedar Falls vicinity were under water. An estimated 100 homes were evacuated in southwestern Fort Dodge.

The Red Cross said it was caring for 135 persons in shelters in Cherokee, Webster City, Marshalltown and Waterloo, and for 346 flood victims in several other cities.

April rains which struck large portions of the country yesterday, mixed with mild temperatures, melted the remnants of some deep snowpacks, filling rivers and streams to overflowing.

Bay Fill Bill Faced With Amendments

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—Sen. Eugene J. McAteer's bill for control of bay fill, which was heard in committee yesterday, will come up for possible amendment and decision next Wednesday morning at the state capitol.

Sen Luther E. Gibson, D-Vallejo, who heads the Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee, said his committee would meantime consider some of the amendments proposed during yesterday's hearing.

Commercial and shipping interests around the bay sent representatives to the hearing yesterday, complaining that the bill goes to far.

Edward G. Brown, president of the Oakland Board of Port Commissioners, asked that routine maintenance of pilings or dikes be exempted from control.

Clark Williams of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce complained that the procedure of having to get a permit for each waterfront repair job would be "too cumbersome."

Other speakers who opposed portions of the McAteer bill (SB 309) included the Assn. of Bay Area Governments, Marine Exchange of San Francisco, Alameda County Board of Supervisors, Inland Boatmen's Union, Contra Costa County Supervisors, and several private interests including Sausalito Properties, Inc.

State Tax Plan Defeat Predicted

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, flatly predicting defeat for the lower house Democrats' billion dollar tax program, disclosed today that the GOP will have a tax plan of its own

"It's not impossible that we could survive without new taxes," he said. "But if we do need them, possibly new cigarette and tobacco taxes would give us enough to survive this year."

A seven-man task force of Republican assemblymen, headed by Robert Stevens of Santa Monica, is preparing the GOP tax report.

Monagan, in an interview, said the Democratic plan by Assemblyman Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, and Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, is doomed.

The measure, raising state taxes by $360 million while providing $731 million in property tax reductions, needs a two - thirds majority of 54 to clear the Assembly. The Democrats have only 49-31 control of the lower house.

"There are a lot of meritorious things in it," said Monagan, a Tracy Republican. "But there is no time for the necessary perusal of the program."

"It should have been introduced on the first day of the session. You can't talk about a $1 billion revenue program in a few weeks."

Republican opposition to the Petris - Unruh plan, Monagan said, is centered on the size of the proposed tax increase and the provisions for withholding of state income taxes. And he said there should be more property tax reductions.

Meanwhile, Petris and Finance Director Hale Champion reported agreement has been reached on many differences between the Assembly Democrats' program and the tax plan to be announced by Gov. Brown next Tuesday.

But days of long talks in the governor's office, Champion said, still haven't eliminated a disagreement over whether to raise the sales tax by 1 cent, a move backed by Petris to pay for property tax reductions.

And Gov. Brown still doesn't support Petris' insistence on eliminating the personal property tax imposed on business inventories, Champion said.

"But we may be able to agree on a modification," he said.

Negro Teacher Study Planned

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Treatment of Negro teachers and pupils in San Francisco public schools will come under intensive study by the California Fair Employment Practices Commission.

The FEPC decided yesterday to make the investigation, which probably will take about one year, after complaints by three civil rights groups.

Park Work Asked

Sausalito recreation commissioners at a budget hearing last night agreed to ask the city council to immediately resurface South View Park tennis court at a cost of $560, the money to come from money alloted for phase one of Langendorf Park.

Family Full Of Ministers

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—When Paul Rest enters the ministry he will be following in the footsteps of his father, both grandfathers and five uncles.

His father, Rev. Friedrich O. Rest, pastor of the Salem United Church of Christ, is the son of a minister and three of his brothers are ministers. Paul's mother is the daughter of a minister and two of her brothers are ministers.

The family tradition will apparently stop with the oldest son, now in his second year of college at Indiana State University. Paul's brother, John 15, wants to be a carpenter and his sister, Elizabeth, 18, plans to be a secretary.

How long has it been since you've been back to school?

It's true, times have changed since many of us were last in school . . . architecture, modern methods of education and the students themselves have changed. A solid education has never been so important to the youngsters living in your neighborhood!

Young families look for superior educational opportunities and other civic improvements when they consider buying a home in your community. Good school facilities improve your community's worth and help keep your property's value high.

Most new schools are financed through the sale of municipal bonds. These bonds distribute the cost over a long period to keep taxes at a reasonable level. Interest rates are decided by competitive bidding . . . added assurance that your community will get the lowest interest rates on their bonds.

Bank of America and its associated dealers bid on virtually all California state and municipal bonds . . . You can show your interest by voting in all municipal bond elections for community improvements.

Minority Pressure Protection Sought

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sen. John Holmdahl has introduced legislation which, he says, would protect employers from being pressured into hiring racial or religious minorities in order to attain a "quota."

The Oakland Democrat, in introducing the legislation yesterday, declared that as the result of demonstrations such as sit ins, preferential treatment has been given to certain minorities.

He called this "just as illegal as discrimination 'against' another because of his race."

"The employer is told that it is 'his problem' to find qualified persons of certain minority groups and that demonstrations will continue until he has promised to do so," Holmdahl said.

"Following such demands, negotiations and demonstrations, a number of employers have entered into agreements of clear or doubtful legality."

He added that labor unions would also be in violation if they fulfilled certain quotas.

The bill would be enforced by the Fair Employment Practice Commission, he said.

Consolidation Of Bridge Work Financing Is Asked

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sen. Luther E. Gibson has introduced legislation that would consolidate the financing of all new bridge construction in the San Francisco Bay Area.

In addition, the Vallejo Democrat introduced yesterday a companion measure that would authorize the issuance of revenue bonds for a North Bay Bridge Project, north of San Francisco, under the California Toll Bridge Authority.

Under the first bill, the authority would be empowered to treat as a single unit for bonding purposes all toll bridges or other toll highway crossings in the Bay Area. Thus, the agency would have a vehicle to issue revenue bonds to obtain funds to retire the indebtedness on any one of the spans.

Affected facilities would be:

The San Francisco - Oakland Bay Bridge, the Carquinez Bridge, the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, the San Mateo-Hayward and Dumbarton bridges, the Benicia - Martinez Bridge, the proposed southern bay crossing and the San Francisco-Oakland rapid transit tube.

To these would be added in the second bill the North Bay Bridge Project.

This would complete the bridge and highway loop across the north end of San Francisco Bay from Vallejo to Sears Point. It would include bridges over the Napa River, Sonoma Creek and other waterways.

Two Firemen Out Of Action

LISBON (AP)—Two voluntary firemen of Oporto, North Portugal, were in such a hurry to get to the fire that they knocked each other out of action.

When the alarm sounded, Fernando Aleixo and Antonio da Sousa jumped to it with alacrity. Hastily donning their helmets, they rushed out of the station and leapt onto the fire engine—and as they did so they banged each other with such force that Fernando sustained a couple of broken ribs and Antonio fell and cut his knees badly.

Imported Meat Tag Bill Passed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A majority of the California Senate thinks foreign meat is inferior to American, and has moved to inform housewives when they are buying imported meat in stores.

By a 25 to 10 vote yesterday, the upper house sent to the Assembly a bill by Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, D - Williams, requiring that the country of origin be on each imported meat package, and ordering merchants to display signs saying foreign meat is sold.

Sen. Vernon L. Sturgeon, R-Paso Robles, contended imported meat is inferior to United States meat. O'Sullivan said the bill would make housewives aware of some of the "dry and stringy" meat being imported.

Sen. Thomas M. Rees, D-Los Angeles, who runs an import business, said foreign nations might retaliate against exported American meat because of the "bad legislation."

Seven Come 11?

BLANEYVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Driving through this Brown County hamlet, you might be tempted to start counting noses when you notice the marker at one end reads: "Blaneyville—Population 7" and at the other end: "Blaneyville — Population 11."

Art Replaces Weapons Show

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — The local police station has been brightened up.

Gone is the usual display of knives, switchblades, chains, guns and other grim reminders of a policeman's work.

In place of the exhibition of lethal weapons, Carlsbad's new police chief, Earl Westfall, has put up a showing of art work contributed by the Carlsbad Area Art Association.

GOP Gets Amendment On State School Vote Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Passage of a compromise version of Gov. Brown's measure aimed at helping local schools pass bond issues appeared assured in the Assembly today.

Democrats set the stage for getting the 54 votes necessary for passage by accepting Republican amendments they had beaten off once before.

As originally proposed, the constitutional amendment would have lowered the majority needed to pass school bonds from two-thirds to 60 per cent.

But Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R - Tracy, offered an amendment that would make the lower requirement apply only when the bond vote was put on a primary or general election ballot.

Democrats defeated Monagan's amendment Tuesday. Then they pushed through a one-day delay of final action in hopes of picking up additional support.

RUSS TOY WITH BERLIN BLOCKADE

U.S. Convoys, Other Traffic Harassed; MIGs Again Buzz Commercial Airliners

BERLIN (UPI)—The Soviets played a cat and mouse game with the Western Allies today, opening and closing the highways to the city in a new form of harassment. At one point heavily armed Soviet troops halted a U.S. Army convoy; another was delayed an hour.

The Communists shut down the main Berlin-Helmstedt Highway at 9 a.m. for three hours then closed it again at 5 p.m. For the first time they also shut down the Berlin-Hamburg Highway. It was closed from noon till 3 p.m.

Soviet MIGs again woke West Berliners with sonic booms while MIG 19s and MIG 21s streaked through the air corridors to Berlin, endangering commercial and military aircraft. They buzzed two commercial airliners at 100 and 200 yards—dangerously close at extreme speed.

The United States, Britain and France lodged up to a dozen stiff protests with the Soviets, complaining the lives of passengers were being endangered and the harassment was a violation of post-war treaties guaranteeing access to Berlin. The protests apparently did no good.

The Soviets said the highway shutdown was necessary because of joint East German-Soviet military maneuvers. Western officials said the harassment was politically motivated to protest the meeting in Berlin of the West German Parliament.

The Communists claim West Berlin is not part of West Germany and the meeting of the lower house (Bundestag) was illegal. The West Germans not only said they had a perfect right in West Berlin but began making plans for a Berlin meeting of the upper house (Bundesrat).

East Germany got into the act today and sent one of its helicopters over West Berlin. This was sure to draw another protest from the Allies.

Berlin was not suffering from a food shortage because of the traffic slowdown although fresh vegetables from the West would be expected to run short. Traffic was getting through but it was hours late and at some places trucks were lined up for five miles.

The Allies greatest fear was that the Soviet harassment of the airlanes could lead to a serious accident — perhaps the crash of an airliner full of Americans—which could worsen the situation. Their protests reflected this view.

Driver Fined $220

Joseph Nagle, 51, of Madera, Madera County, was fined $220 in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving last Monday. He was arrested by California Highway Patrol on Highway 101.

Chilean Quake Described By Sausalitan

"It will take 10 years to repair the windows in Vina," said William W. Remak of Sausalito today.

Remak and his wife, Ulla, returned yesterday from a six-week South American trip. They were in Vina del Mar, Chile, Sausalito's sister city, on Mar. 28 during the earthquake. Remak said it killed five residents of Vina and injured 80.

CLOUDS OF DUST

"I had just stepped out of a car with Dr. Hernan Lillo, my host, when the earth started to shake and clouds of dust started rising all over Vina. The quake lasted about a minute," he related.

Remak said it is not so much a question of money in making repairs but that the Chileans don't have materials available to buy.

For example, he said much medical equipment, including X-ray machines, was destroyed at the hospital where Dr. Lillo is an orthopedic surgeon. "Dr. Lillo went immediately to the hospital where he treated 60 people for cuts," said Remak.

FIRST RELIEF CHECK

Remak presented Lillo, director of Vina's People-to-People program, with the first relief check from Sausalito. It was for $20 and given in the name of the Sausalito People-to-People program.

Remak also was in Lima, Peru, when students overturned 10 buses, set fire to some of them and caused deaths of two persons in a riot in protest at raising of student bus fares.

Incumbents Off Education Board Ballot In San Rafael

Four candidates are in the race for two seats on the San Rafael Board of Education in next Monday's election, but none of them is an incumbent.

The two incumbents whose terms expire, Mrs. Bella H. Aaron and John M. Bagshaw, both decided not to seek re-election.

The San Rafael board operates both the San Rafael Elementary School District and San Rafael High School District — the latter including Dixie Elementary School District.

Thus, residents of the Dixie district are eligible for election to it.

One such resident is a candidate; Lawrence I. Kramer Jr., now a member of the Dixie board. There is no resident of the Dixie district presently on the San Rafael Board of Education. Walter J. Doll was a Dixie resident and school trustee when he was elected two years ago, but has since moved into the San Rafael Elementary School District.

Kenneth M. Proctor Jr. has been active as Sun Valley Parents Club president, and has had some contact with the schools through being in charge of contests for high school students sponsored by the Independent Insurance Agents Assn. of Marin, of which he is a trustee. Castro and Thomas have had no direct connection with the schools.

Here are thumbnail biographies of the candidates:

WALTER R. CASTRO JR., 48, of 313 Summit Avenue was born in San Rafael and has resided here ever since. He joined his father, the late chairman of the county board of supervisors, in the automobile business and is now a partner in Campbell-Castro Auto Leasing.

He graduated from San Rafael High School and University of San Francisco. He was a Navy lieutenant in World War II.

Castro is a director of the Marin County Humane Society and San Rafael General Hospital Foundation. He is a past president of the San Rafael Rotary Club, a past potentate of Islam Temple of the Shrine, past president of Marin Shrine Club, post vice president of San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, and a member of Marin Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, San Rafael Elks Lodge and Royal Order of Jesters. He was chairman of the Scout-O-Rama in 1961.

He and his wife, Helen, have three children.

LAWRENCE I. KRAMER JR., 39, of 558 Heather Way, Terra Linda, is president of Kramer and Associates, management consultants, in San Francisco.

He was born in New York City, received his B.A. degree from Antioch College and his M.A. from Harvard University. He is a former executive director of San Francisco Heart Assn., a member of the executive committee and health council of the United Community Fund of San Francisco, and of the board of the San Francisco Rehabilitation Assn. He is a member of the National Honor Society and fellow of the American Council of Learned Societies, and a member of the Order of the Arrow (Boy Scouts).

Kramer is president of the board of Dixie Elementary School District but his term expires this month.

He served as a staff sergeant in the Army Medical Department in the Southwest Pacific in World War II.

He and his wife, Sue, have four children.

KENNETH M. PROCTOR, 44, of 8 Bayo Vista Way is an insurance broker and agent with his own office in San Rafael.

He was born in San Francisco but grew up in San Rafael, attending San Rafael High School and Golden Gate College. He served as a platoon sergeant in the Infantry in World War II, seeing action in New Guinea, Leyete and Luzon.

He is active in the Independent Insurance Agents Assn. of Marin County, and is a member of the Marin County Assn. of Fire Departments, San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and Masons. He is a past president of the Sun Valley Parents' Club.

He and his wife, Eileen, have two children.

LAURENCE B. THOMAS, 54, of 163 Oak Drive is a self-employed labor-management arbitrator.

Thomas was born in Florida. He supplied no information regarding his education.

He served as a Navy lieutenant in the South Pacific in World War II. He listed boys' basketball and Little League Baseball as his hobbies.

Candidates Favor Tax Increases

Answer Questions From I-J

All four candidates for the San Rafael Board of Education in next Monday's election favor passage of the proposed elementary school district tax rate increase, but one of them has reservations about the multi-use room bond issue which is also on the ballot.

They agree, also, that override taxes should not be levied except in emergencies.

On other matters, they are not in such close agreement.

The candidates are Walter R. Castro Jr., Lawrence I Kramer Jr., Kenneth M. Proctor and Laurence B. Thomas. None is an incumbent.

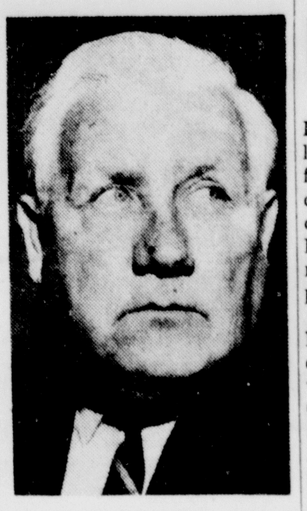
WALTER R. CASTRO JR.

LAWRENCE I. KRAMER JR.

KENNETH M. PROCTOR



LAURENCE B. THOMAS

1. Proposed $850,000 bond issue to build multi-purpose rooms at 10 elementary schools?

"If I had been a board member at the time I would have voted in favor of placing the issue on the ballot," said Kramer.

Castro responded in almost the same words. Thomas said "multi-purpose rooms are long overdue and necessary."

Proctor, however, said the bond issue "has merit, but I feel these multi-purpose rooms should have been included in the schools at the time they were built. "If the bond issue is approved, the multi-use rooms "should be built with sliding or folding partitions so that if additional classrooms are needed they will be available," he added.

2. Proposed increase in general purpose operating tax limit of elementary district from $1.75 to $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation?

Castro and Kramer replied that if they had been on the board at the time, they would have voted to put this on the ballot. Kramer went farther, saying "the elementary district is in dire need of additional operating funds."

Thomas said flatly, "I favor the tax increase."

Proctor said taxes should always be kept as low as possible, but added: "It is unfortunate that the elementary school district has used up all its reserves and the new board will be faced with a deficiency if this new tax limitation is not passed."

3. Levying of over-ride taxes which school boards can levy without voter approval?

All agreed caution should be exercised in levying such taxes.

Thomas said he would favor over-ride taxes only "for emergency purposes where other funds are not available." Proctor called them "a source of potential danger" and would use them "only on occasion of absolute necessity."

Kramer said he does not favor using over-ride taxes as a general rule but "there are circumstances when exceptions must be made." Castro said "the public should decide as to any tax increase, and not use the power of the over-ride tax unless an extreme emergency arises."

4. During the campaign there have been references to poor relationships between the San Rafael schools and the public Do you think this criticism is justified? If so, what would you suggest?

Proctor replied: "This has been one of the first items on my campaign platform . . . The people should be able to go to the board of education meetings and feeel that they are welcome to be heard . . . Likewise, parents and other taxpayers should be able to go to their schools and feel welcome."

Kramer said "most criticism arises from an unfamiliarity with the overall problems and goals of the district." He said this can be alleviated by encouraging attendance at board meetings "and give those who then attend every chance for a fair and courteous hearing. Also, he said, "we should develop ongoing committees of informed citizens to help in fact-finding and assessment of our programs."

Castro said the relationship between board and public could be improved. He also suggested using a citizen committee "to assist in making surveys and recommendations on vital issues."

Thomas declared: "Reference to poor relations between the schools, the board of education and the public has been exaggerated and is not justified."

5. Do you think other types of meetings (not covered by the exceptions in the Government and Education Code open meeting requirements should be closed to the public?

No, said Thomas and Proctor.

"I have no recommendation to make on the California Code relative to public meetings," said Castro.

Kramer said: "The only additional exception I would make is to have regular closed meetings betweeen administrators and board to evaluate the teaching faculty . . . This form of personnel review is valuable to the district, but in fairness to the teachers it should be kept private."

6. Do you think some formal liaison should be established between the school department and the city council?

Kramer, Castro and Thomas said informal liaison is all that is needed, although all said there should be close working relations.

Proctor feeels formal liaison is needed. "This could result in a saving of money, better education and better planning for school sites for future development," he declared.

7. What do you consider the area of most concern at present in San Rafael schools?

Castro replied; "Financing. With adequate financing, we can accomplish many things."

Kramer replied: "We must constantly be concerned with finances . . . We must constantly be concerned with curriculm, balancing the best of traditional content and method with a leavening of new ideas and approaches . . . We must constantly be concerned with discipline because sound education cannot take place in chaos."

Proctor replied: "Curriculum and teaching standards . . . Too often we have students going to college without the proper preparation. . . I have found that most teachers are dedicated individulas who are doing their best . . . but one must become quite concerned with the few who wish to tear down and destroy the moral fiber of our youth."

Thomas replied: "Curriculm as it relates to coordination between the elementary, junior high and high school. There should be continuity of curriculm, methods and technique throughout the entire school district."

Peacock Gap Due Meeting

A membership meeting of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Assn. will be called late this month to explain aims of the association, directors decided last night.

The meeting will be part of a month-long membership drive to get under way next week under direction of James Maloney of 199 Riviera Drive. Only about 20 per cent of the homeowners of Peacock Gap are members, the directors noted.

The directors commended San Rafael City Council for its "quick action" in approving several stop signs for Peacock Gap this week.

Muri Beach Well Work To Start

M. F. Keyt, Cotati well driller, is to start drilling a new well for Muir Beach Community Services District within two weeks, the board was informed last night. It will be 95 feet deep and located next to the present well.

The board tabled for further study a proposal to exchange easments to the district's tank site with Miwok Corp. "We have a much greater easment to convey to them than they to us," said Jack F. Harris, board president.

Death Crash Imperils Novatan's Police Job

San Francisco Police Officer DeNelson A. Durr of Novato learned yesterday that he may face suspension or formal charges as the result of an accident early Monday in which Durr's car hit a bridge abutment and overturned, killing a passenger.

Chief Thomas Cahill of San Francisco Police yesterday ordered an investigation after he was told that Durr, 41, of 25 Gertrude Lane, had been drinking before the crash and had admitted violating rules for officers on disability leave.

Durr had offered ranch hand John A. Bettencourt, 62, a ride from a Novato bar to the James Grossi ranch, 4025 Novato Boulevard, where Bettencourt lived and worked. On the way, Bettencourt was killed in the crash. Durr and another passenger, Audrey Nelson, were injured.

In a preliminary report to Cahill, Police Sgt. Joseph P. Donegan said Durr was relieved of active duty Dec. 21 for an arm injury. Donegan said Durr admitted violating disability rules Sunday by leaving home without department permission to drive his wife to Redwood City.

After going by the police department's Northern Station to get his disability check, Donegan said, Durr stopped at a tavern and had several drinks.

Bargaining Bill Gains

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Initial legislative approval has been given a measure to let 7,000 workers employed by public electric and water districts to bargain collectively, and strike.

The bill by Assemblyman Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, cleared the Assembly Industrial Relations Committee on a 5 to 2 vote yesterday.

The League of California Cities and municipal and public utility districts in San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento and Los Angeles opposed the measure.

Stocks Close Higher In Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed sharply higher today with trading active.

General Motors was among the key stock making new highs. GM rose more than a point.

Airlines and aerospace stocks did well. Autos were higher.

Gaines of about 2 were made by Zenith, KLM Airlines, Boeing and IBM. Merck rose nearly 2.

Gains of about a point were scored by Radio Corp., American Telephone, Xerox, TWA and United Air Lines.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.2 million shares compared with 4.44 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Gains of fractions to a point or so were shown by a wide range of stocks. Airline and aerospace defense issues were particularly strong.

The list was firm from the start, edged higher and then moved definitely upward. Wall Street seemed reassured by President Johnson's speech on Viet Nam.

Gains exceeding a point were made by several airlines including KLM, National, Northwest and American. TWA added a full point, Eastern a fraction.

Boeing, up well over 2, was the star of the aerospace section. United Aircraft rose more than a point.

General Motors also gained a full point, touching a new high. Ford rose nearly a point, Chrysler a fraction.

Steels were unchanged to narrowly mixed. Tobaccos and building materials also were irregular, oils a little lower.

Commonwealth Oil, however, was up a fraction and looked like the most active stock. Also active were Standard Kollsman, up about a point, and Burroughs, up more than a point.

Korevette and IBM added 2 each.

Other gains of a point or better included Central Aguirre, Cincinnati Milling, Coca Cola, CTS Corp., Disney, Elastic Stop Nut, Fairchild Camera and Federated Department Stores.

Corporate bonds were mixed in light trading. U.S. government bonds advanced following the cut in the French bank rate.

Glass Firm Plans West Coast Plant

FRESNO (AP) — H. M. Schuppert, president of the Fresno County and City Chamber of Commerce, said today the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. plans to construct a multi-million dollar sheet glass plant near Fresno.

Schuppert said the proposed plant would be the first built by the glass firm on the West Coast.

19 Pct. Of Income Going For Food

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—American consumers spend less than 19 per cent of their income for food—less than any nation in history—the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers was told today.

This is because the American farm is able to produce in such quantities and with such efficiency that consumers in this nation are able to demand and to afford more and better food and clothing, said J. Earl Coke, vice president of Bank of America.

Airlines To Offer Flying Business Conferences

SAN FRANCISCO — Trans World Airlines now is offering executives an "executive suite" for 600 mile per hour business conferences.

The conference lounge area of TWA's transcontinental Boeing Starstream fanjets is equipped with club chairs and a work table. There is no extra charge for the first class cabin service feature which may be confirmed by telephone for as few as two passengers.

Two pairs of seats face each other and TWA has found that many business travellers have preferred traveling the entire trip in the lounge where a complete Royal Ambassador dining service is provided without any inconvenience.

Conference lounge reservations will be available on most of TWA's transcontinental nonstop jets originating San Francisco for New York, Washington or Boston.

Bank Reports On Earnings

United California Bank's net operating earnings for the first quarter of 1965 were $4,563,352, reflecting an increase of 6 per cent over the first quarter of 1964.

Strawberry Center May Get Liquor Store–License Sought

Latest report to reach this desk on new business openings in the Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center is that of a liquor store to be established by Dan Obradovich of San Francisco.

Obradovich, now on a trip to Hawaii, formerly had the liquor department in Esposto's Food Center, San Francisco and sold out a couple of months ago to the market. He has applied for the offsale liquor license of Flamingo Liquors, San Rafael. The store will not be opened until the transfer has been approved.

ARTHUR BURTON of San Rafael, Northern California agent for Chalk Metal Co., distributor of stainless steel and aluminum products, has taken an office in Dreyer - Wilson's Mission Union Building, San Rafael. The company preferred this location to Sausalito.

Burton operates Burton's Dance Studio in San Anselmo, is studying for a master's degree in philosophy. He has a wife and three children.

ANOTHER BUILDING in the Northgate Industrial Park will be started by contractor Ronald I. Antonioli, Inc. in about two weeks. This is a project of Raccoon Strait Land Co. — a one story building with 6,000 square feet. David E. Gibbs is the designer. Servisoft of Marin will occupy about a third of it.

THE CIRCUS has not come to Fairfax, appearances to the contrary. Nor is that carnival tent on Broadway next to Fairfax Lumber Co. booked for the Chautauqua circuit. It is part of Frank Boileau's seventh anniversary sale program tomorrow and Saturday. The big top will house home improvement displays and demonstrations of many products carried by the lumber company.

THOMAS R. DUGAN of Novato has been promoted to manager of the Los Angeles "B" sales division of Winthrop Laboratories, a division of Sterling Drug, Inc. Dugan, who joined Winthrop in 1955, was a professional service representative in the San Francisco "A" sales division before being named to this post. He is a member of the California Pharmaceutical Assn.

OWNERS George S. Collins and Ed Marlow of Pacific Plumbing and Heating Supply Co., San Rafael have been presented a gold plaque commemorating the firm's 24 years as a leading wholesale distributor by Day and Night Manufacturing Co. Pacific distributes Day and Night's water heaters and forced air wall heaters to retail dealers in this area.

THE EMPORIUM'S third annual contest for a "Jantzen Miss Smile" will feature numerous prizes and a trip to Hawaii in July to the winner, presented by co-sponsors Jantzen, Coca Cola, Eastman Kodak, Ford Motor Co., International Shoe Co., Johnson Motors, United Airlines and Hilton Hawaiian Village.

Girls 16 and over are being invited to submit smiling photographs of themselves with entry blanks between April 12 and May 1, when the contest ends. Blanks are available at all Emporium collegienne and women's swim shops. Girls who enter the contest in the Marin area will be invited to a Jantzen swim suit fashion show at Emporium in the Northgate Shopping Center May 7, when a local winner will be picked.

Winners from all stores will compete May 8 in Stonestown for the title of "Miss Smile of the Bay Area," who will go to Hawaii to compete for the national title.

A DOZEN redwood frame awnings are being installed at Crocker Citizens National Bank's Mill Valley office at 525 Miller Avenue as part of its "face lifting" operation to enhance the appearance of entrance and exterior. The project was designed by San Rafael architect Robert W. F. Severin.

ROBERT L. (PETE) PETERSON, who started off American Helicopters Corp. in Novato with zero hours in flying a whirlybird, has picked up his private pilot rating. He can now fly passengers, but not for hire — that still is done by partner Ronald E. Winkler and commercial pilot Harold L. French. The school has recently picked up nine new students.

'Treetop' Model Home Set For Inspection

A "treetop" model home utilizing pole construction will be opened for inspection from 1 to 4 p.m. tomorrow at 173 San Marino Drive in Peacock Gap.

The house, built to order for J. H. Baxter and Co., San Francisco, features the use of "Baxco chemonited" tree poles, decks, girders, stringers and ceilings. It was decorated by A. Winston Associates of San Francisco.

The chemically treated lumber, used in direct contact with the ground, is said to eliminate the need for extensive excavation, retaining walls and drainage structures. The home has a water repellant exterior of resawn redwood plywood with inverted board and batten design.

The interior consist of a large living room, with one wall of sliding glass opening to a deck which runs the entire length of the house; dining room and four bedrooms. Living and dining rooms are finished in surface-hardened redwood.

The model was designed by Edwin Wadsworth of Redwood City. R. E. Nolan and Son, San Anselmo, was builder.

It will be open for inspection each afternoon daily.

In the year 380 Roman Emperor Theodosius banned pagan gods and made Christianity based on the Nicene Creed the official religion.

COMBINED AP & UPI

A block of Main Street, target for civil rights pickets, was barricaded. All vehicles were routed around the area. Pedestrians were not affected.

The gunfire came shortly after midnight at a Negro residence where two white civil rights workers have been billeted. Apparently no one was hit.

William J. Yates, 37, of Buffalo, N.Y., a Congress of Racial Equality project director, described the shooting as a clash with the Ku Klux Klan, which has been active in this southeast Louisiana area.

Bogalusa police said about eight shots were fired, all from the Negro home. No bullet holes were found in the house.

At Baton Rouge, Gov. John McKeithen said he talked with Bogalusa authorities and was told there was no gun battle.

"It was obviously an effort by these paid, professional agitators from the North and the East to come into our state and create an incident where they can get publicity and raise more money," McKeithen told newsmen.

The barricades were part of an elaborate show of police strength preceding tonight's civil rights rally. James Farmer, CORE's national director, was scheduled to address an audience at a Negro high school auditorium.

Two police officers were arrested today and charged with taking a young Negro prisoner from the Prosperity, S.C. jail early Monday and beating and threatening him.

J.P. Strom, state law enforcement division chief, said policeman Phillip Plampkinn and night watchman L. Cornell Wise were charged with second-degree lynching — infliction of violence by a mob not resulting in death.

Freddie Jackson, 18, being held on a disorderly conduct charge, was beaten and threatened at the jail early Monday by five or six men wearing Ku Klux Klan-like regalia of hoods and white robes.

Police at Camden, Ala., yesterday used tear gas and smoke bombs to turn back two of four marches by Negro demonstrators and white clergymen.

Apparently no one was injured. A white youth, James (Arkansas) Benson, was jailed for resisting arrest, and two Negro youths were taken into "protective custody" and later released.

The seven or eight out of state ministers participated in all of the marches and wore the blue denim "uniform" of the civil rights movement over their clerical collars.

Theft From Auto

Alfred Weiss of 195 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, told Mill Valley police today that four packs of cigarettes and a hard book containing $300 in insurance receipts were removed from the glove compartment of his car sometime yesterday, apparently while it was parked in the city lot in Lytton Square or in front of the Bank of America.

Roar Of Approval For TV Shows

NAPLES (UPI)—One of the most avid television fans in these parts is Milord, a seven-foot long, two-year-old lion belonging to Beppino Russo of nearby Piano di Sorrento.

Milord comes in from his job of guarding the orchards every time the TV set is turned on. And he sits entranced until the show is over. He shows no preference—sports events, music or advertising—he seems to like them all.

To Boys' State

Ernest M. Bergman, son of Capt. and Mrs. E. H. Bergman of 222 Corte Madera Avenue, Mill Valley, has been selected by Mill Valley American Legion Post 284 as its representative to Boys' State June 21 in Sacramento, according to William H. Lassner, commander.

New United Church Seen As Gaining

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — An interdenominational gathering ended its fourth annual session today with a declaration that it has reached "a decisive turning point" in its quest for a new united church.

"We have been led forward into deeper understanding of one another and clear vision of the unity which lies before us to be seized," said a closing statement of the consultation on church unity.

It noted that for the first time, after three years of exploratory study, work has now been started on sketching an actual plan of union, and it urged widespread discussion of the prospect throughout membership of the churches.

Six major Protestant denominations have been involved in the talks so far. Three Negro bodies have indicated they will join. This will make nine denominations with a total of more than 25 million members.

Their reunion would be the largest and most inclusive since the divisions began more than 400 years ago.

Your Almost Friendly Police

Two weeks later a woman telephoned the post here to report she had a library book due at 1 p.m. Would a trooper please rush to her home, pick up the book and deliver it to the library before the deadline?

The dispatcher who took the call was courtesy itself. He told her no one was available just then for that particular kind of help.

JIM MURRAY

This Columnist Has Quite A Happy Day

CHARLOTTE, N.C.—When you're a journalist, you write columns in all sorts of places under all sorts of circumstances. This one is coming to you through the courtesy of my knee and right forefinger in the Charlotte Airport. Charlotte is a nice enough place. What I mean is, if you've never been to Palm Springs you'll never know the difference.

Tuesday night was one of the great nights of my life. I was passing out autographs like Mickey Mantle, everybody laughed at my pokes and I couldn't buy a drink if I tried to—which I didn't.

IN CASE YOU haven't heard, I won the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Award in Salisbury. This is an event in which I finished second so often I was thinking of changing my name to William Jennings Murray. But I finally slipped through.

I think I was two adjectives or one unsplit infinitive in front of the rest of the ink-stained wretches who congregate here annually. All those correct usage tests I took in high school finally paid off and the translation from the original Stengel finally earned me the recognition as one of the foremost language scholars since Ovid.

The good townspeople of Salisbury have, somewhat bewilderingly, perpetuated this contest which combines the best aspects of a spelling bee and a pushup contest. There are no qualifications—which explains my success. I mean, you don't have to know the infield fly rule down to the fine print or remember the last Olympic javelin champion right off-hand. In fact, the only javelin champion I know of, right quick, was Horatius. I lost interest in the event when they stopped throwing them at people.

I TOLD THE good folks it was altogether fitting that California win this prize since we already led the nation in all the other important categories like (1) people, (2) suicides, (3) murders, (4) traffic deaths, (5) drownings, (6) shark bites, (7) floods, (8) brush fires. In other words, we head the list in every other form of catastrophe, why not sports writing?

There are some benighted people in the world who feel a contest between tarantulas would be as worthwhile as one between sporting writers but there are some people immune to the syntactical splendors of the full-blown rape of the language we fellows perpetrate daily ("Exploding like the atom bomb, the Milwaukee Braves today . . ." or "His putter flashing in the sun like King Arthur's excalibur . . ." or even "Outlined against a blue-gray October sky, the Four Horsemen . . ." and so on, as the sagging goes, ad nauseam).

WE HAVE been punched for our art (Cincinnati's Earl Lawson is healing nicely, thank you), escorted out of dressing rooms by muscular athletes with dangerous glints in their eyes (ah, there, Kenny Hunt—where are you now?) and given the choke sign by our constituents when we do no more disservice to the Republic than call a hit when a home boy does it and an error when the other fellows do (never mind, Charlie Park, that WAS a hit Gilliam got off Sam Jones that night, don't you worry if Andre Rogers did field it with his knuckles.)

At Salisbury, we get plaques, not brickbats. Elsewhere, we are necessary evils. Here we are unnecessary but welcome. A man who fell in love with a purple flight of hyperbole at an early age never outgrew it and when he died he left a town with a legacy of an annual all-expense invasion of paid-up members of the Freeloaders of America. It's as incongruous as a World Series in Fresno. But that may not be as far away as we think, either.

Writing a column is a useful but limited talent like hitting a curve ball or lining up a downhill putt. I ascribe all my success to learning to go to my left on an adverb, changing a compound participle — not letting it play me, in other words —following through on all my prepositions (repeat, prepositions) and learning to spell Tony Conigliaro.

I HAVE ALSO, in my way in all modesty, learned to recognize a knockout when I see one and if I'm a little weak on the differences between run-and-hit and the hit-and-run, I'm working on it.

I have also familiarized myself with the tight end in football (the one who staggers leaving the bar) and while I don't know how many chukkers there are in polo, I do know they wear pith helmets and are frightfully rich or know somebody who is.

Giants Show Opening Lineup—Lose

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Manager Herman Franks hasn't made the annoucement formally but it's pretty clear he has decided on his starting San Francisco batting order for Monday's National League baseball opener at Pittsburgh.

It will read:

Harvey Kuenn lf, Hal Lanier 2b, Willie Mays cf, Jim Hart 3b, Willie McCovey 1b, Jesus Alou rf, Tom Haller c, Jose Pagan ss, and Juan Marichal (21-8) p.

Slugging first baseman Orlando Cepeda will be given more time to get more strength into his right knee which underwent surgery in December.

Franks' tip-off came yesterday at the Giants minor league camp at Casa Grande when he started that exact lineup against the Tacoma farm club of the Pacific Coast League.

Embarrassingly, Tacoma won the game 7-6 on Gil Garrido's single in the last of the ninth, yet the fault lay primarily with two San Francisco relief pitchers.

The Li'l Giants of Tacoma scored two runs in the eighth off Bob Priddy and two in the ninth off Ron Herbel indicating again the San Francisco bullpen could use strengthening.

Marichal gave up three runs on five hits through seven innings—two of the tallies scoring in the seventh on Bob Burda's two-run homer. The right-handed pitcher from the Dominican Republic didn't give up a walk and struck out seven.

In what appeared to be a dress rehearsal for the league opener, although the Giants have three remaining exhibition games with Cleveland, Tacoma used a left-handed pitcher to open.

Al Stanek, only recently optioned to the PCL club by the Giants, allowed them only two runs in the five innings he worked. San Francisco added four more off reliever Carl Shelen, including McCovey's three-run homer in the seventh.

John Pregenzer, who had a personal fan club while with the Giants in past seasons, pitched the ninth and put his former teammates down in order on a half dozen throws to become the winning pitcher.

George Alusik opened the Tacoma ninth with a single and Herbel wild pitched him to second. Dick Wietz walked and Randy Hundley singled home one run and Gil Garrido singled in the winning tally.

San Francisco and Cleveland were scheduled to meet in Tucson today, play a night game in San Diego on Friday and wind up their exhibition schedules in San Diego on Saturday afternoon.

Aaron Grabs Early Masters Lead 67

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) —Tommy Aaron knocked five strokes off par today with a 35-32 first round to take the early lead in the Masters Golf Tournament.

The 28-year-old Georgian, in his fifth year as a professional, finished his round with a 15-foot putt on No. 18 for his sixth birdie. His only bogey came on the par four ninth.

He held a three-stroke lead over Mason Rudolph, who opened with 33-37—70.

Aaron, runner-up to Charlie Coe for the 1958 U.S. amatuer title, led the field a week ago today with a first round 66 at Greensboro, N.C. then went on to finish tied for 11th. He never has won a tour tournament.

He opened his round over the sun-baked 6,980-yard Augusta National course with birdies on the second and sixth holes, but turned only one under after his bogey on No. 9.

He birdied four of the last seven holes to catch Rudolph playing just ahead of him.

He started the streak with a 35-foot putt on the 155-yard 12th, knocked a No. 6 iron to within eight feet and made his birdie on No. 14, hit over the lake on the long 15th and chipped up for a four and ran in his long putt on the 18th.

On the front nine, the bespectacled Georgian had birdies at the second, from eight feet, and the sixth, where he ran the ball in from 12 feet. But he made his only bogey on the par four ninth where he hooked his drive into the trees and had an almost impossible shot. He pitched out into the fairway and wound up with five.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Al Kaline's Bat Wakes Up

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

For 19 games this spring, the thunder that resides in Al Kaline's bat sounded like a whimper and the notion that the Detroit Tigers might have an outside shot at the American League pennant, came out like whistling in the dark.

Kaline, around whom the Tiger attack has revolved ever since he won the batting championship 10 years ago, had been struggling through training with his batting average hovering near .150. And Tiger brass, aware that Kaline had a less than spectacular season last year, were a bit concerned.

The veteran right fielder batted .293, second lowest figure in his career, last year with just 17 homers, a drop of 10 from his 1963 figure. In 19 games this spring he had driven in just three runs and had no homers.

But Al seems to have come alive at last and his awakening came not a moment too soon for acting Manager Bob Swift. Kaline's third homer in the last five games helped the Tigers to their 9-4 victory over the New York Mets in a baseball exhibition yesterday.

"Al's building up for something," Swift said after the game, "and I think it's a great year."

Don Wert and Dick McAuliffe each drove in two runs for the Tigers who completed their Florida training with an 11-13 record.

Reserve infielder Phil Gagliano ripped three hits and drove in three runs as the world champion Cardinals blanked Philadelphia 6-0. Gagliano belted a two-run homer, a triple and a single as St. Louis mounted an 11-hit attack.

Doug Clemens poked three hits, two of them doubles, as the Chicago Cubs finished their Arizona training with an 8-5 victory over Cleveland. Billy Williams homered and Ernie Banks had a triple and single for the Cubs.

Gene Alley's three-run homer keyed Pittsburgh's 4-3 victory over Kansas City. It was the Atheltics' ninth straight loss. Bill Bryan tagged a two-run pinch homer in the ninth for Kansas City.

Felipe Alou and Mack Jones rocked Roland Sheldon for homers as Milwaukee whacked the New York Yankees 4-1. John Blachard's double in the sixth brought in the only Yankee score — first earned run off Milwaukee pitching in 35 innings.

Pete Rose and Tony Perez homered for Cincinnati as the Reds topped Minnesota 5-3. Tony Oliva connected for the Twins.

Washington spun off its fourth straight victory, whipping Baltimore 5-2. Don Basingame and Ed Brinkman had three hits apiece for the Senators. Charley Lau and Norm Siebern homered for the Orioles.

Some of their recently cut players came back to haunt the San Francisco Giants as Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League won a 7-6 squeaker. Gil Garrido, one of those cut last week, drove in the winning run in the ninth with a single. Willie McCovey's three-run homer was the big blow for the Giants.

TV Changes Some Plans For Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Five of the Saturday home games of the San Francisco Giants this season will start at 2:15 p.m. as part of the game-of-the-week television series.

The Giants announced yesterday that these games will be April 24 vs the New York Mets; May 8, Los Angeles; July 17, Houston; Aug. 21, Los Angeles; and Sept. 11, Chicago.

Telecasts of the Giants home games will not be shown in the San Francisco area, the club said. However, for the first time since the team came West in 1958, game-of-the-week telecasts will be shown locally on Saturdays when the Giants are out of town.

Also the nine games against the Dodgers in Los Angeles will be again on local television, Channel 2.

Except for the five TV Saturday and four Sunday double headers, the afternoon games at Candlestick Park will again start at 1 p.m.

A noon starting time is set for the doubleheaders against New York, April 25; Houston, May 16; Pittsburgh, June 20, and Chicago, Sept. 12.

Admirably Sets Mark

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — A three-year-old filly named Admirably equalled the world's record of 1:07 4-5 for six furlongs yesterday in winning the $10,000 added Golden Gate Sorority Handicap at Golden Gate Fields.

Her time tied the international standard set by Crazy Kid, a four-year-old colt, at Del Mar on Aug. 18, 1962. And, Admirably, with Robert Menell in the irons, carried 122 pounds—four more than carried by Crazy Kid.

Her time bettered the track record of 1:08, set Nov. 2, 1957 by Dumpty Humpty.

Bubble Bath, the place filly, paid $6.00 and $4.00 and Bushy Bunnie returned $3.60.

Only Filly

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Regret is best known as the only filly ever to win the Kentucky Derby but she had little trouble beating colts throughout her brilliant career, winning such stakes as the Sanford and the Hopeful among others.

Maris Is Acquitted, Then Says He'll Sue

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Roger Maris, acquitted of a charge he slugged a man in a bar fight last week, said he had decided to sue for more than $100,000.

"I did not swing at anybody," the New York Yankee outfielder told Municipal Court yesterday. "I was shoved from behind and thrown against the plaintiff. That was all."

After the judge found him innocent and he rushed to a spring training game, Maris announced he was going to file a civil suit against his accuser, Jerome Modzelewski, a 25-year-old male model.

Modzelewski, who divides his time between agencies here and in Chicago, also has pressed charges against Clete Boyer, the Yankees' third baseman.

That trial is set for May 11.

A bartender, Robert J. Burns, said he was trying to quiet Boyer "when the bang nappened. That's when Boyer hit him (Modzelewski)."

Burns and another witness said they did not see Maris take a swing.

Modzelewski and his red-haired companion, 21-year-old Angela Della Vedova of Sudbury, Ontario, testified that the rhubarb started when they were leaving Nick's Bar the night of April 1.

Modzelewski said he heard an objectionable remark -- so objectionable that it was not allowed in testimony — directed at him from the ballplayers' table.

"I asked Mr. Boyer for an apology," Modzelewski said. He went on:

"Boyer said, 'let's go out and fight.'

"I said, 'I don't want to fight. I'm here for an apology.'

"Maris said, 'get out of here. Who do you think you are?' "

Modzelewski said the pair then "ushered me out the door" and outside "the arms of both men came flailing."

Maris said he first noticed Modzelewski as he was talking to Boyer inside the lounge.

"I looked at Clete and I could see he was getting a little mad," Maris said. He said he was pushed toward the front door and when he got outside he "tried to stop what was . . . happening."

Instead of taking a punch, Maris said he pulled one person off Modzelewski. He also denied that he said, "let's go get him."

"I think I'm big enough if I wanted to get him, I could," Maris said.

Judge Arnold Grevitor dismissed the charge. "There is a reasonable doubt as to what happened," he said.

ALBANY, Calif. — Admirably, $5.80, equalled the world record of 1:07 4-5 for six furlongs in winning the Golden Gate Sorority Handicap at Golden Gate Fields.

BASEBALL TOURNEY CANCELLED

The Marin Athletic League Baseball Tournament, scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday, has been cancelled because of the rainy weather, league commissioner George Corson announced today.

Rains today have soaked Albert Field in San Rafael where the tourney was to have been played. More rain was predicted for tomorrow.

Corson had earlier said that if any of the tourney was rained out, the entire show would be scratched. Because of the already set league schedule, the tourney cannot be made up this year.

So Marin County prep fans will have to wait until next year for the MCAL tourney.

Wooden Quits As U.S. Coach

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A flareup of the long - standing controversy between the AAU and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) today resulted in John Wooden's withdrawal as coach of a U.S. basketball team against the touring Russian quintet.

The UCLA coach had accepted an invitation to direct the U.S. team April 25 at the Sports Arena against the Russian national team. But at the request of his athletic director, J. D. Morgan, the noted coach decided against handling the team.

Morgan claimed he gave Wooden permission to coach without being aware that the game was being sanctioned by the AAU instead of the NCAA's U. S. Basketball Federation.

Astros Try Out Indoor Stadium

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros agree a thrown and batted ball behaves in the $31.6 million Harris County Domed Stadium about like it does outdoors.

But catching it can present a problem.

During the afternoon batting practice most of the Astros had trouble catching pop and fly balls as the sun penetrated the dome and reflected against the bright center field seats.

Another intra-squad game is scheduled this afternoon as the Astros want to familiarize themselves as much as possible with their new home before they introduce indoor major league baseball with a six-game Friday to Monday exhibition and league opening schedule.

Houston and the New York Yankees open the stadium tomorrow night and the Astros play Baltimore Saturday afternoon and Sunday night and the Yankees again Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. Houston and Philadelphia play the league opener Monday night.

During the batting practice, the players had trouble tracking the ball against the grillwork of the skylights and girders of the roof.

General Manager Paul Richards and Field Manager Luman Harris both said they felt the matter could be corrected without difficulty.

Richards said the lights would be turned on for the intra-squad game this afternoon.

"I think it will be all right," he said.

Harris termed it a minor problem and added:

"If everyone had been wearing sunglasses, there would have been no problem."

After noticing such veterans as Nellie Fox, now a coach, misjudge the ball several times, Richards asked newsmen:

"How many day games do we have?"

He was told there will be 21 day games, 18 starting at 1:30 p.m., CST, and three at 3:15 p.m., CST.

"I didn't realize it was that many," he said.

Only four day games were played in the temporary stadium last year because of the heat.

"You are going to have to watch it close at this time (4:30 p.m.) of the day," Richards said.

Club officials have said it may be necessary to keep the arc-lights on even during afternoon games.

Top Flight International Skiing This Weekend At Alpine Meadows

The greatest group of international skiers to compete in the West this year will be on hand this weekend at Alpine Meadows, when the Kandahar races will be held, beginning at 10 a.m. each day. The giant slalom will be on Saturday, with the slalom on Sunday.

Opening welcoming ceremonies will be held tomorrow at 4:30 p.m., with Byron Nishkian officiating. He is first vice-president of the U. S. Ski Assn. and also president of Alpine Meadows.

BIGGEST GROUP will be the complete U. S. A and B team, both men and women, 26 strong. There will be six Canadians, including Nancy Green, Ron Hebron and Peter Duncan, who won the U. S. Championships at Crystal Mountain, Wash. last week.

All ten members of the visiting Swiss team will be on hand, as well as three from the French team, with hot shots Jean Claude Killy and Leo Lacroix.

Others will include two Japanese, two Italians, two skiiers each from Argentina and Chile, and one from Great Britain.

THE RACES WILL be held on the upper part of the mountain. There is no admission charge to Alpine Meadows, but unless you want to hike up the hill, a lift ticket will be necessary to see all the action. Parking is free, with space for 1,400 cars in the regular area.

Big social event is the Saturday night banquet to be held at Incline Village, near Lake Tahoe. Check in for tickets and information at the Alpine Meadows information desk.

Luggi Foegger, head of the Alpine Meadows ski school, who set the course for the first Far West Kandahar in 1939 at Yosemite, will help organize the weekend's races.

MISSED A COUPLE of Marinites who won their Gold Eagles at Sugar Bowl a couple of weeks ago. They are Jan Volz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Volz of Mill Valley, and Spencer York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor York of Fairfax.

Spence is on the Sugar Bowl ski team, and a sophomore at Drake High School. Jan is an instructor at Sugar Bowl. She's the girl with the long braid down her back as she flies down the hill.

Mrs. York, who with her husband owns Yuba Ski Land, tells us that many Marin County groups have been skiing there lately. There's the Boy Scouts, Sleepy Hollow Troop 50; Kentfield Junior Ski Club, Camp Fire Girls, Larkspur Teachers' Assn., Girl Scouts Troop 2662, Marin Teen Forum, Wolfe Grade Brownie Girl Scouts and the Unitarian Church Youth Group.

LATE ENTRIES are being accepted for the Levi's Ski Rodeo on Monday, at Donner Ski Ranch. Norm Sayler is race chairman, at P. O. Box 66, Norden, Calif. Classes are I through V, with no race card necessary. Start is 10:30 a.m.

Trader Vic's Tiki Trophy Invitational Race last Sunday was the most incredible party ever staged outdoors. First time I've ever stuck my skiis in the snow under a palm tree. In addition to the race, which was run in great style — although Claire Gannon and Scott Watterworth didn't come in first—there was Mai Tai in wooden punch bowls the size of washtubs, and Tahitian dancing girls.

Sugar Bowl will never be the same, I'm sure. Thank you, Trader Vic; please do it again next year.

MARIN SKI CLUB'S championship races on Saturday at Sugar Bowl were a giant slalom on MacTavish and an obstacle race in the woods near the poma lift. Joy Best won the slalom handily for the ladies, with a time of 36.7, with Sandy Massen second and Annagret Yonkow third. The men's slalom was won by Barry Evergettis with 33.6. "Doc" Edwards was second and Scott Watterworth was third.

In the obstacle race, which was done with pairs of contestants roped together, skiing without poles, Clare Gannon and Walt Stevens won in 4 minutes, 30 seconds.

4 Homers For Former Trojan

Bill DiGrazia, former Terra Linda High School Trojans baseballer, is now a first baseman for the Fresno State College freshmen team.

DiGrazia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned DiGrazia of 779 Penny Royal Lane, Terra Linda, had quite a time last weekend. He hit a total of four home runs in two days for the Fresno State frosh.

Novato Golfers Win Match, 4-2

Novato's golf team beat San Rafael 4-2 Tuesday in a Marin Athletic League match. Novato's Ray Leach was the star of the show, shooting a one-under-par 35 at Indian Valley.

Other Novato winners were Jim Kidder, Joe Panfiglio and Dean Edwards. San Rafael winners were Jim May and Jim Kilgore.

St. Louis Picked To Win N. L. Flag

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals will shade the Cincinnati Reds in the National League this season with Philadelphia, San Francisco and Milwaukee snapping at their heels. If Sandy Koufax can work regularly, the Los Angeles Dodgers also will be up there. Only Houston and New York appear hopelessly out of it

Nobody has repeated in the National League since Milwaukee in 1957-58 and only three teams have won successive pennants in the last 20 years. But that doesn't mean League President Warren Giles has passed a law against it. The Cards are a solid ball club at every position, a little thin in reserves and possibly in the bullpen. Like all the other teams, the Cards could be floored by an injury to a key regular.

The annual guessing contest is complicated this spring by the aches and pains of such stars as Orlando Cepeda, Roberto Clemente, Hank Aaron, Bill Mazeroski and Koufax. The healthiest team may get a jump in April and never be headed.

1. St. Louis
2. Cincinnati
3. Philadelphia
4. San Francisco
5. Milwaukee
6. Los Angeles
7. Pittsburgh
8. Chicago
9. Houston
10. New York

The Cards have the same lineup that squeezed home first last October and then beat off the New York Yankees in a seven-game World Series. They lost a manager when Johnny Keane moved over to the Yanks, but took on a favorite son, Red Schoendienst, as his successor.

A year ago the outfield was unsettled. Now the Cards have Lou Brock and Mike Shannon to go with Curt Flood. The infield is of All-Star caliber. Tim McCarver, still nusring a broken finger, is the only established catcher. The pitching has been helped by the addition of Bob Purkey from Cincinnati and Tracy Stallard from New York. The club has the punch, speed and defense to handle the others.

Cincinnati has looked great in spring training. Frank Robinson is on the beam slamming home runs. The pitching is so deep that Dick Sisler actually has too many starters. The infield is still unsettled with experiments continuing at first and third. If the Reds get away fast, nobody may catch them because their pitching is the best in the league.

Philadelphia has added Dick Stuart to hit home runs and Bo Belinsky as another left-hander to the pitching side. It remains to be seen if there will be any reaction from the collapse of last September when the club let the pennant slide out of its grasp in a 10-game September losing streak.

There is a feeling here that Gene Mauch can't possibly get any more out of his material than he got last year and possibly not as much.

Cepeda's slow recovery from knee surgery adds doubt to the Giant situation where Herman Franks, a coach last year, has taken over as manager. The potential is there with Willie Mays still leading the way but the Giants have an annoying habit of failing to live up to expectations.

Milwaukee's hitters scare everybody in the league but Bobby Bragan's pitching still may be a little too green for the long run. The absence of Aaron, who underwent surgery on his ankle during spring training, has to hurt.

Koufax is the key to the Dodgers. If he is a once-a-week pitcher there will be a heavy burden on Don Drysdale, Claude Osteen and Johnny Podres. Tommy Davis must continue his fine spring comeback if the Dodgers are to get enough runs to back up the pitching.

Clemente's illness and Mazeroski's broken foot have left the Pirates in an awkward position although Clemente has rejoined the club. Manager Harry Walker's hopes hings on continued improvement by Willie Stargell, Donn Clendenon and Bob Bailey.

Houston has hopes and a new domed stadium. The Mets look better but not enough better to make up the 13 games separating them from ninth place and Houston.

Peacock Gap Ruggers In Title Match

The Peacock Gap rugby team, northern California club champions, will meet the long Beach Rugby Club, southern California club champions, in a big playoff scrap Saturday on the Peacock Gap field.

The match gets underway at 1:30 p.m., free of charge.

A new award will be presented to the Peacock Gap team at halftime by Ken Russell, president of the Northern California Rugby Union. It is the Robert H. Baxter Memorial trophy, named in honor of the past president of the rugby union who died in a plane crash in Mexico earlier this year.

The San Rafael team, in its first year in the rugby union, had a dazzling season to win the championship, earning the right to play the champion from southern California.

Boxing Finals Slated Tonight At Novato High

The finals of the intramural boxing matches between Novato High School fighters will be held tonight starting at 7 o'clock in the Hornets' gym.

There will be a 10-bout cart card, ranging from 105 pounds to heavyweights. Billy Thomas, former state featherweight champ, will referee the fights.

Tickets, at $1 for adults and 50 cents for students, will be sold at the door.

Portland Wins Hockey Semis

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Portland won the first leg of the Lester Patrick Cup playoffs with a 6-2 victory over Vancouver last night.

The Bucks will meet the winner of the Seattle-Victoria semifinal series. Seattle leads 3-1 with the two clubs scheduled to clash tomorrow night in their best of seven series.

Bullets Whip Lakers In NBA Playoff Tilt

BALTIMORE (AP) — The pressure didn't bother Bailey Howell. He was so relaxed, he was floating.

After undergoing inteisve treatment and taking pills to relax his back muscles, the veteran Baltimore cornerman led the Bullets to a 122-115 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers last night.

Although he was a doubtful starter until two hours before gametime, Howell scored 29 points and grabbed 17 rebounds and survived 40 minutes of punishing basketball without further aggravating his old back injury.

The come-from-behind triumph gave Baltimore its first victory in the National Basketball Association's best-of-7 Western Division final playoff. The Lakers had taken the first two games of the series in Los Angeles.

Baltimore and Los Angeles take a breather tonight, but the Eastern Division final resumes in Boston with the defending champion Celtics entertaining the Philadelphia 76ers in a series tied 1-1.

Howell sank 10 of 20 field goal attempts yesterday and led both teams in rebounding during a rough contest in which 65 fouls were called.

Jerry West, the phenomenal backcourt star of the Lakers, put on another dazzling show with 44 points. But even though he scored 15 in the final period, Baltimore pulled away by outscoring the Lakers 11-3 in less than three minutes for a 114-104 advantage.

West has hit 57 of 61 foul shots in three games, and he ran his consecutive streak to 31 before missing in the fourth quarter.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Reader Wonders: Are There Any Piranhas Lurking In The Water?

STEVENS

In Tuesday's column, I spoke of the intensive drive on the part of the Department of Fish and Game to track down and dispose of all the bloodthirsty super killers, the piranhas. Quoting from a release by the DFG, I mentioned that an estimated 5,000 piranhas were illegally possessed by pet stores, individuals and others in the southern part of the state. Remember?

Well, I was asked by a reader how come the DFG has waited so long before taking action if, as stated, this terrible little fish has gotten into the hands of illegal owners. Isn't there a good chance that some of the piranhas are already in certain waters? asked the reader.

COULD BE, I guess, but I am not able to say. I do think, though, that the reader who asked the rather obvious question has a good point. Maybe the DFG will reply, if, as I suggested, my caller queries them direct.

The weekend just past was almost a complete washout as far as salmon trolling is concerned. I said "almost" because there were some good results, mainly in the Point Reyes area. A 50-pound monster was boated on the Skipalou by angler Donald Sellers, I understand. Also hooked, played and landed aboard the Chinook, by George Shimko of San Leandro, was another lunker of more than 42 pounds. However, the average per rod during the weekend was only one fish per rod or less.

ON MONDAY the briny calmed down a bit, more boats went out and more salmon were landed. One party boat with 11 hopefuls aboard unloaded 30 salmon to 20 pounds for 11 rods. That was the New Merrimac out of Caruso's Sausalito Harbor. The Salmon Queen, also from Caruso's, made an average of two fish per rod—to 21 pounds.

Hal Boenner of Lee's Bait and Tackle in Oakland reported the well known Oliver Marshall is skippering the Sunfish now. Oliver reported 11 salmon to 16 pounds on Monday.

Boenner also reported a trio of expert bass fishermen taking limits each to 11 pounds on Monday in the lower Napa River. The names? Leonard and Tony Freitas and Bob Gurillo.

CONSIDERING THAT we are in the throes of minus tides, the San Pablo Bay will likely remain in the doldrums for the balance of the week. However the same minus tides historically spark fishing in the Lower Bay, Mission Rock, the Estuary and South Bay.

Clam diggers will work the shores and inlets heavily from today through Monday. Some of the more hardy souls will take their share of abalones, also, but in my book the tides won't fall enough to make abalone picking along the coast very productive. A 4 or 5 point minus is fine for clam digging, cockles or giants, but not for the abalone hunter who would work the rocks near the shore. The submarine abalone hunters may have a ball, though. The poke-pole addicts should have a good time, and here's hoping they do. Chow!

Cooperation—Or Lack Of It —Discussed By Candidates

Cooperation—or lack of it—between the San Rafael City Council and other local governing bodies developed as a heated issue in the campaign for the San Rafael mayoralty at a candidates' night program last night.

The two candidates for mayor, Dr. Charles W. Aby and C. Paul Bettini, drew most of the questions from the audience of about 80 people in the San Rafael High School Little Theater.

However, city council candidate Irwin Taranto created a minor sensation when he declared, "I can find nothing to be proud of in San Rafael except for its wonderful people, and its beautiful natural landscape which may soon be destroyed."

All candidates were present except council candidate Joseph R. Filippo, who submitted in writing his answers to three questions posed by the program's sponsors: qualifications for the office, city's most pressing problems, and how city and county can cooperate.

The non-cooperation charge was stressed by Bettini, who said San Rafael has shown no apparent cooperation with other cities and the county.

"The spirit of helpfulness and cooperation has been missing the last few years," he said, and lack of cooperation between city and school system "has been costly to the taxpayers."

Asked for specifics during the question period, Bettini cited delay in building a bridge to Glenwood School and accused the council of "taking advantage of the school district" in forcing a land swap to get possession of part of the E Street School property for Third Street extension when flaws were found in the school district's title to the land. The city, he said, should have paid for the land for the street extension.

"There was a lot more involved than just trading of land, and you know it, Paul," said Aby.

As to cooperation with other cities and the county, Aby said there has always been cooperation among cities and "the board of supervisors and the council are at least talking to each other." (Byron W. Leydecker, one of the two county supervisors whose districts include part of San Rafael, was in the audience.)

Other remarks by the mayoralty candidates included:

ABY: Fourteen years on the council should be qualification for the mayoralty.

As to what are San Rafael's most pressing problems, he said problems are "not pressing, just the problems that affect any growing city." He mentioned parking, traffic, public improvements, parks, and said progress has been made on all of them.

BETTINI: The mayor "should be a strong, determined leader with a record of success." He cited his 10 years on the board of education, six of them as president, and noted that its budgets for high school and elementary school districts totaled over six million dollars, "two million bigger than the city budget."

He called for "immediate adoption of a master plan," and cited traffic congestion as a pressing problem. He also advocated taking steps to "provide as soon as feasible for an efficient public transportation system."

There were these remarks by council candidates:

FILIPPO (in his written statement): Qualifications include success in business, having time and dedication to serve," and "working in the city, being available at all times."

Most pressing problem, he said, is that "the master plan has not been followed and must be updated." Assessment districts should not be required for public improvements, he continued.

He said the bay should not be filled "but we could fill the mudflats across the canal." He cited need for "a street cut through at Castlewood School" (he probably meant Glenwood School; there is no Castlewood.)

He called for cooperation to "eliminate such incidents as occurred when the Montecito Shopping Center was dug up during the Christmas holidays."

TARANTO: "There must be no possible conflict of interest between the city policies and decisions and the councilman's financial or business interests . . . I can derive no financial benefit from being a councilman. I wish this was true of our present council."

He said "there are many problems facing San Rafael due to the failures of past actions," and cited as the biggest problem "complete lack of pride in the city by the people." He then went into a series of criticisms concluding with his statement that "I can find nothing to be proud of in San Rafael except for its wonderful people, and beautiful natural landscape which may soon be destroyed."

As to city-county cooperation, Taranto said the "easy answer" is "remove the present council." He said the council "has boycotted all county efforts and functions."

LOUIS H. (BUD) BAAR, incumbent: "I didn't know we had such a bad city," said Baar, who followed Taranto. He cited his eight years of council service as qualification to continue in office.

The most pressing problems are being solved, said Baar, citing the city's general plan, new city hall and Glenwood fire station to be built this year, widening of San Pedro Road through joint powers agreement with the county, and one-way street pattern near completion. "The park and recreation program must and will be stepped up," he said.

He cited the council's direction that city and county planning commissions jointly study the general plan as an example of city-county cooperation.

HARRY A. BARBIER, incumbent: "Persons who decide to run for city council on the spur of the moment mostly have an axe to grind," he commented, then mentioned that he attended council meetings regularly for four years before his appointment to succeed David Menary Jr. two years ago.

Like Baar, he said the most pressing problems are being solved, and cited city-county cooperation, inaugurated by the council, on the general plan.

Board of education candidates said, among other things:

LAWRENCE I. KRAMER JR.: Four years on the Dixie School District board should be qualification.

Most important problem? "Every problem that might adversely affect the youngsters in the classroom is the most important problem."

KENNETH M. PROCTOR: The school board "should not leave policy making to the educators. This would destroy our system of checks and balances."

He called curriculum and teaching standards the most important problems.

WALTER R. CASTRO JR.: A school board member "must be able to carry out the big business board of directors technique in running the district." He cited his business experience as an automobile dealer.

Most important problems, he said, are understanding between parents and teachers and reducing class sizes.

LAURENCE B. THOMAS: He said he felt himself qualified through long residence (12 years) and ability to devote time to the job. As a labor-management arbitrator, he has to "deal with every conceivable type of situation" and this should equip him for school board service, he said.

Most important problem, said Thomas, is need for "the community to do some pre-planning."

The mayoralty and council candidates were asked from the audience for their stands on bay fill. Everybody said he was against filling the bay. The incumbents pointed out that bay fill controls have been eliminated from the proposed general plan, awaiting action of the state legislature on the McAteer Bill for a commission to control filling all around the bay.

The board of education candidates were asked their views on the school administration.

Kramer and Castro said a new member must begin his job with an open mind and presumption the administration is good.

Thomas said, "I have a great deal of admiration and respect for the present administration."

Proctor said "I think the administration very well qualified," but added that while San Rafael schools are good, "we'd like to think we can improve them."

Mrs. Peter White was chairman and Mrs. Richard Cook timekeeper for the program, which was sponsored jointly by the League of Women Voters of Central Marin, Glenwood Parent-Teacher Assn. and San Pedro Parent-Teacher Assn.

Dock Workers Spurn Cargo From Alabama

The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union announced Wednesday that Alabama products would not be unloaded at Honolulu, where the freighter is berthed.

The ILWU also refused last month to handle Alabama goods aboard a ship at San Francisco. The action followed an announcement by Harry Bridges, ILWU president, that his union would not handle Alabama products.

Later, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. called for economic boycott against Alabama to strengthen the Negro civil rights struggle.

The longshoremen's action, acting union division director Alfred Mattos said, is "part of a nationwide effort to achieve total civil rights for all residents of Alabama."

The ship, owned by United States Steel Corp., is carrying 500 tons of non-perishable cargo from Mobile, Ala. Mattos said all non-Alabama cargo will be unloaded.

A spokesman for the ship's agent declined to say what will happen to the Alabama goods.

Alaska Hiker Found On Way

James Acheson of Fairfax trudged out of the small coastal village of Elim, Alaska, today on the next leg of his 800-mile hike over tundra and ice flows from Nome to Fairbanks, United Press International reported.

Acheson, 23, of 206 Bolinas Road, hoped to reach Moses Point by nightfall. He plans to finish his journey in three months, living off the land.

Word of the Drake High School graduate's arrival in Elim late yesterday was relayed around Alaska by the Bureau of Indian Affairs radio. Acheson said he left the Eskimo village of Golovin early yesterday after being weathered in since Saturday.

Fears had been voiced for his safety during that period.

County Parks Official Raps Budget Slashes

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday took issue with the county administrator's cuts in its budget proposals.

The $200,000 asked for land acquisition was chopped to $100,000, and a $74,955 request to further development of Paradise Park on Tiburon Peninsula was cut to $51,400 in County Administrator Alan Bruce's recommendation.

Parks and Recreation Commissioner Lothar Salin noted that the Paradise development was originally seen as a three-year project. Now, he said, it appears to be a four-year or five-year development.

"The administrator seems to take the view that our judgment is not as good as the judgment of others," said Gibbs Lawson, commission chairman.

Assistant Administrator John F. Barrows explained that both Bruce's recommendation and the commission's original request will go to the board of supervisors at budget time.

In the wake of this discussion, backers of a recently initiated program of recreation for the handicapped were told they should take their request for $2,500 next fiscal year directly to the administrator's office.

It would be very difficult to try to add it to the commission's budget at this late date, Lawson told the group.

Ben Barton Jr., past president of United Cerebral Palsy of Marin, said the program, under way since December at Terra Linda Recreation Center, would have to be shut down if the county did not provide financial support.

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission also:

1. Discussed but took no action on proposed open area zoning for Bolinas Lagoon. Eugene McDaniels and Clyde W. King of the Bolinas Harbor District board said the zone does not allow commercial harbor activities. They asked investigation of applying the recreational zone soon to become part of the county zoning ordinance.

2. Agreed that lack of information prevented the commission from making any recommendation on a proposed subdivision on the north edge of Bolinas Lagoon, east of Bolinas.

Driver's Knee Bruised After Head-On Collision

Robert Steve Ruzick, 22, of 1902 Novato Boulevard, Novato, complained of bruises on one knee after a head-on auto collision on South Novato Boulevard at 6:40 p.m. yesterday.

Police said Ruzick's car southbound collided with a northbound car driven by Lewis Barton Pettijohn, 31, of 771 Diablo Avenue, when the latter crossed the center line. Ruzick said he would see his own doctor.

Craig Anthony Campbell, 13, of 4 Doris Avenue, Novato, was taken to Novato Hospital after his bicycle hit a car driven by Gloria Joan Lankford, 37, of 26 Kristy Court, Novato, at Center Road and Diablo Avenue at 3:26 p.m. However, examination disclosed no injury.

Georgia Proud Of Its Marble

ATLANTA (AP) — What comes from Georgia? Peaches, certainly. But the Peach State can also claim to have produced some of the nation's finest marble.

Marble from northwest Georgia was used in building the Lincoln Memorial in Washington. Georgia marble also was used for state capitols in Rhode Island, Minnesota, Kentucky and Arkansas.

Marinwood Asks Notice On Planning

Marinwood Parks and Recreation Commissioners will ask, through the Marinwood Community Services District, that the county planning department give it notice on planning matters in the community.

Commissioners, in their meeting Tuesday, noted that the county planning department had voted to amend the Marinwood Master Plan to permit some cluster housing.

None of the commissioners knew of this, chairman William T. Lane said.

The commission also agreed to relay complaints from two neighbors of the recreation center to the community services district board. The complaints were over proposed power lines and a road to serve a maintenance shed.

Why They're In Kentucky

LOUISVILLE (AP) — George Washington unwittingly had a hand in development of the distilling industry in Kentucky.

The president's approval of excise taxes on distilled liquors in 1791 led to the so-called whisky rebellion in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Many distillers moved to Kentucky and set up businesses that became some of the well-known distilleries still operating in the state.

Loot May Return

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Someone robbed Joseph Monaco's homing pigeon lofe of 75 birds. "If they get loose, they'll find their way back home," he said.

WONDERFUL FACE

Rosemary Forsyth? She'll Be A Star

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It is a tremulous moment when a young actress stands on the threshold of stardom.

Standing there now is Rosemary Forsyth, who is 21, freckled, doesn't wear lipstick or rouge, and looks like a tall blonde goddess.

Will Hollywood open its golden door wide for her? Universal Studio is so convinced Miss Forsyth has star quality that it has signed her to a seven-year contract and given her a year of dramatic training.

"I don't feel like a star, because I'm not one yet," said Rosemary practically. "I don't know whether I'll ever be one. I've never really thought of being a star — just a good actress."

ROSEMARY FORSYTH
Picked for stardom

But after seeing the rough shots of Miss Forsyth in her first motion picture role, producer Walter Seltzer immediately gave her star billing with Charlton Heston in another forthcoming film.

"She has a wonderful face — a little like Ingrid Bergman, and yet different, too," he said.

Rosemary also looks a little like Grace Kelly, Lee Remick and has something of the tomboy quality of the late Carole Lombard. But because of her quick success she is most often being compared with that old film circle favorite — Cinderella.

"I know some girls work 15 years and never get a break such as I've had," remarked Rosemay, "and I'm grateful for it. But I don't feel much like Cinderella."

Sturdily independent, she has earned her own way since she was 18. Born in Montreal and educated at Stockbridge, Mass., she worked as a camp counselor and file clerk before becoming a $45-an-hour fashion and television model.

"I never had much of a struggle," she said. "I have lived in some crummy apartments, but I never missed a meal in my life.

"I got an invitation to make a film test after a studio executive saw my picture in Show magazine. I hated fashion modeling, just standing still and trying to look cool and perfect. I'd rather model a potato peeler. At least then you're doing something real. When you peel a potato, you're relating to something."

Rosemary is 5 feet 9, lithely built, has long tresses and the kind of cheekbones that send cameramen into ecstasies.

Here is the kind of girl she feels she is:

"I'm outspoken, sometimes hypersensitive, terribly romantic. When I walk down the street I'm always dreaming I'll catch some strange man's eye, fall in love with him instantly, then marry him and live with him for 75 years in a big old house and have 17 children.

"But I'm a realist, too. There's always a bit of logic in my head that says, 'That's enough now. Cut out the day dreaming.'

$1,094 Shaving Mug Bought In London

The bowl, an unusual Lambeth pottery one, was painted with a surgeon barber about to lead his horse into a stable. It was dated 1706, when barbers did minor surgery.

Truck Set For Drive To Mississippi

Student body president James A. Martin and another senior from the San Francisco Theological Seminary will drive a two-ton truck from Marin to a pair of towns in Mississippi next week to deliver items donated in the "Marin to Mississippi" campaign.

Martin, a dormitory master at the San Rafael Military Academy, will be accompanied by Thomas J. Blaney of 43 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo.

They plan to leave Saturday or Sunday after loading the truck at collection points throughout the county all day Saturday.

Taking advantage of the San Anselmo Seminary's "reading week" in which there are no classes, Blaney and Martin plan to arrive in Maben and West Point, Miss., by Easter, then be back by the middle of the following week.

Their cargo will include television sets, sewing machines, typewriters and three sets of encyclopedia, as well as books, clothing, food and other goods for Mississippi Negro families.

Police Dog Apprehended

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — A purse-snatching German police dog was caught and taken into custody by police after the victim flagged a patrol car.

The dog almost got away with the "crime" when Police Cpl. Harold Cox saw the dog walking calmly on the street with the purse clutched in its mouth.

Mrs. Beatrice Archibald said when the dog approached as she was walking on the sidewalk, it jumped up, snatched the purse from her grasp and took off.

Dominican College Elects New Officers

Also elected was next year's senior class president, Irene Hogan of San Francisco. Paula Cavanaugh of Vallejo will head the juniors, while Hetty Keeney of Piedmont will be sophomore president.

Other new student officers are Gigi Grove, vice president; Kay Doser, secretary, and Helen Bianchini, treasurer. Nicki Boss will head the new student affairs board and Mary Hoffman will be president of the Women's Athletic Assn. Marty Devitt and Marion Alonzo will be junior and senior community service representatives.

Alaska Hiker Found On Way

James Acheson of Fairfax trudged out of the small coastal village of Elim, Alaska, today on the next leg of his 800-mile hike over tundra and ice flows from Nome to Fairbanks, United Press International reported.

Acheson, 23, of 206 Bolinas Road, hoped to reach Moses Point by nightfall. He plans to finish his journey in three months, living off the land.

Word of the Drake High School graduate's arrival in Elim late yesterday was relayed around Alaska by the Bureau of Indian Affairs radio. Acheson said he left the Eskimo village of Golovin early yesterday after being weathered in since Saturday.

Fears had been voiced for his safety during that period.

County Parks Official Raps Budget Slashes

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday took issue with the county administrator's cuts in its budget proposals.

The $200,000 asked for land acquisition was chopped to $100,000, and a $74,955 request to further development of Paradise Park on Tiburon Peninsula was cut to $51,400 in County Administrator Alan Bruce's recommendation.

Parks and Recreation Commissioner Lothar Salin noted that the Paradise development was originally seen as a three-year project. Now, he said, it appears to be a four-year or five-year development.

"The administrator seems to take the view that our judgment is not as good as the judgment of others," said Gibbs Lawson, commission chairman.

Assistant Administrator John F. Barrows explained that both Bruce's recommendation and the commission's original request will go to the board of supervisors at budget time.

In the wake of this discussion, backers of a recently initiated program of recreation for the handicapped were told they should take their request for $2,500 next fiscal year directly to the administrator's office.

It would be very difficult to try to add it to the commission's budget at this late date, Lawson told the group.

Ben Barton Jr., past president of United Cerebral Palsy of Marin, said the program, under way since December at Terra Linda Recreation Center, would have to be shut down if the county did not provide financial support.

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission also:

1. Discussed but took no action on proposed open area zoning for Bolinas Lagoon. Eugene McDaniels and Clyde W. King of the Bolinas Harbor District board said the zone does not allow commercial harbor activities. They asked investigation of applying the recreational zone soon to become part of the county zoning ordinance.

2. Agreed that lack of information prevented the commission from making any recommendation on a proposed subdivision on the north edge of Bolinas Lagoon, east of Bolinas.

Driver's Knee Bruised After Head-On Collision

Robert Steve Ruzick, 22, of 1902 Novato Boulevard, Novato, complained of bruises on one knee after a head-on auto collision on South Novato Boulevard at 6:40 p.m. yesterday.

Police said Ruzick's car southbound collided with a northbound car driven by Lewis Barton Pettijohn, 31, of 771 Diablo Avenue, when the latter crossed the center line. Ruzick said he would see his own doctor.

Craig Anthony Campbell, 13, of 4 Doris Avenue, Novato, was taken to Novato Hospital after his bicycle hit a car driven by Gloria Joan Lankford, 37, of 26 Kristy Court, Novato, at Center Road and Diablo Avenue at 3:26 p.m. However, examination disclosed no injury.

Georgia Proud Of Its Marble

ATLANTA (AP) — What comes from Georgia? Peaches, certainly. But the Peach State can also claim to have produced some of the nation's finest marble.

Marble from northwest Georgia was used in building the Lincoln Memorial in Washington. Georgia marble also was used for state capitols in Rhode Island, Minnesota, Kentucky and Arkansas.

Marinwood Asks Notice On Planning

Marinwood Parks and Recreation Commissioners will ask, through the Marinwood Community Services District, that the county planning department give it notice on planning matters in the community.

Commissioners, in their meeting Tuesday, noted that the county planning department had voted to amend the Marinwood Master Plan to permit some cluster housing.

None of the commissioners knew of this, chairman William T. Lane said.

The commission also agreed to relay complaints from two neighbors of the recreation center to the community services district board. The complaints were over proposed power lines and a road to serve a maintenance shed.

Why They're In Kentucky

LOUISVILLE (AP) — George Washington unwittingly had a hand in development of the distilling industry in Kentucky.

The president's approval of excise taxes on distilled liquors in 1791 led to the so-called whisky rebellion in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Many distillers moved to Kentucky and set up businesses that became some of the well-known distilleries still operating in the state.

Loot May Return

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Someone robbed Joseph Monaco's homing pigeon lofe of 75 birds. "If they get loose, they'll find their way back home," he said.

Couple In Tiburon Honored At Parties

By MOLLY MARIN

Off on an exciting three-week cruise are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Steiger of St. Bernard Hill, Tiburon, and their daughter, Betsy, and son, Bill. The Steigers will leave on Monday, via plane to Paris, reboard another plane for Genoa, where they will board a small Italian liner Bernina to cruise and visit Marseilles, Naples, Catania on the Island of Sicily, Alexandra, Egypt, Cairo for two days where they will ride camels, visit the pyramids and the sphinx, the Greek Islands, Athens, Greece, and Turkey. They will tour the Adriatic Sea up to Venice where they will be for two days. From Venice, they will fly to Rome, and from Rome, back to New York City and then home.

ENTERTAINING AT a cocktail dinner party for Ann and Ted on Saturday evening at the Corinthian Yacht Club, will be Dr. and Mrs. Alden Steiger of Napa. Invited are Messrs. and Mesdames Fred Dittman of San Francisco, George Steiger of San Rafael, Ronald Valencia of Menlo Park, and George Berticevich of Tiburon.

ALSO ENTERTAINING for the Steigers, before their departure, were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Locati Jr., of Tiburon, who honored the Steigers with a dinner party.

Mrs. Jack McAlpine of Tiburon, honored Mrs. Steiger at going away luncheon last week

While the Steigers are away, their home will be occupied by Dr. and Mrs. Alden Steiger.

The Steigers will spend four days this week (Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday) in Palm Springs attending the Bankers Convention, and at the El Mirador Hotel.

MR. AND MRS. JACK F. M. Taylor of New York City, former Marinites who lived in Sleepy Hollow and own a vineyard in Napa County, write they are returning to Finland after 40 years' absence. They are traveling with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nixon and the Hon. Joseph Smallwood, premier of Newfoundland. They are planning a September visit to Marin and will stay in the Sleepy Hollow home of their daughter, Mrs. J. W. M. Schorer, and family while Robin and her husband travel in Europe.

TELLING FRIENDS of their delightful trip to Mexico, from which they returned Tuesday night, are Mrs. Byron Hurd of Sausalito and Mrs. Ernst Carr of Greenbrae. They flew both ways but did much of their traveling between cities by automobile so that they could enjoy the countryside. Among places they visited and enjoyed most were Taxco, Acapulco, Guadalajara and Puerto Vallarta.

PEACOCK GAP Country Club was the setting for a dinner party honoring Mrs. Thomas T. Thornton of Fairfax, who celebrated her 85th birthday on April 2. Mr. and Mrs. James T. Thornton were hosting the party for his mother. Among the 24 guests, all relatives and friends, were two other sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thornton, Fairfax, and Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Thornton, San Anselmo, and eight grandchildren.

University Women Re-Elect Officer

The Novato Branch, American Assn. of University Women has re-elected Mrs. Marjorie Mowat as president for the coming year. She is an English teacher and counselor at Novato High School and was chosen as the group's first president last April.

In order to get the branch started on a schedule of staggered terms to avoid a complete change of officers at one time, Mrs. Mowat and two other officers served only half the usual year term.

Also elected were Mrs. Harry Mumma as recording secretary and Mrs. Richard Shuck as corresponding secretary.

Mrs. William L. Metteer was appointed to fill out the term of Mrs. Robert Wisgerhof, who resigned as first vice president in charge of programs.

The new officers of the 72-member Novato branch will be installed in June. Other officers to the branch whose terms expire next year are Mesdames Thomas Rappsilber, second vice president in charge of membership, and Philip Pratt, treasurer and Metteer.

One or more of the four new study topics will be chosen by the program development committee of the Novato branch for study during the next two years, according to publicity chairman Mrs. Raymond Johnson.

The four new topics which AAUW units throughout the nation will be exploring are "Revolution In Modern China," "Education — An Antidote To Poverty," "The Law And The Citizen," and "Science — A Creative Discipline."

Laura Jane Wagner Bride Of Clifford Hamilton Richards

Holy Innocents Church in Corte Madera was the setting for the wedding of Laura Jane Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wagner of San Anselmo, and Clifford Hamilton Richards of Kentfield at 2 p.m. on March 27.

The Rev. Tod Ewald officiated at the double ring ceremony in which the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Laura wore a full length gown of antique satin trimmed in rose point lace with full train.

Darrell Lee Richards, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and another brother, Thomas Richards of Kentfield and Robert Wagner, brother of the bride, ushered.

The bride is the sister of Mrs. Jack Kelso of San Rafael. The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl William Richards of Kentfield, is the brother of Mrs. Harry F. Coles of Washington. He is the grandson of Mrs. Thomas K. Griffin of San Francisco and is employed with Westinghouse.

Daniels-Plummer Engagement Told

The engagement of Alison Plummer to Curt Nichols Daniels of St. Louis has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pierson Plummer of San Francisco.

Alison made her bow at the first Marin Debutante Ball in 1962. She was graduated from the Katharine Branson School and Stephens College. Mrs. Harold Pierson Plummer of San Francisco is her grandmother. Alison's sister, Jane, is a student at the Katherine Delmar Burke School in San Francisco.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August Henry Daniels of St. Louis. He was graduated from University of Missouri and will receive a degree in June from the university's school of veterinary medicine.

Tulips, Daffodils Make Striking Easter Grouping

Flowering plants, those happy harbingers of spring, are a traditional part of the Easter season. Tulips, daffodils, azaleas, and the classic Easter lilies are all at their beautiful best at this time of year.

THE SOCIETY of American Florists suggests that while a single plant in full bloom is always much appreciated, two, three or even half a dozen flowering plants grouped together in a striking arrangement make a marvelous Easter gift.

When making a selection, choose all of one variety but of different colors, or an attractive mixture of various kinds of flowering plants. The colors should either blend or contrast.

Grandmothers Club To Fete Charter Members, Officers

The Novamarin Grandmothers Club of Novato will honor six charter members and nine past presidents at their dessert luncheon at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Roy Huffman in Novato.

Honored will be charter members, Mesdames A. J. Cain, Reed Heustis, Joseph Wayne, Francis Bomgartz, Nels Hansen and Harry Wehrer.

The past presidents are Mrs. Wehrer, and Mesdames Ross Stangle, Fern Schmidt, Frank Greene, Ethel Murphy, James Silk, John De Zeeuw, Arvid Burg and Matilda Freeman.

Day School's Program Set

Marin Country Day School's second annual summer program will run from June 21 to July 30, providing grouped activities for children between second and eighth grades.

Called "An Informal Summer for Interest in Learning," this six-week session includes a new course in conversational Russian. The program will run Monday to Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Grades 2, 3 and 4 will form the adventure group; 5 and 6 the intermediate group; 7 and 8 the advanced group.

Hart-Kaufman Drama Planned

Literally the entire senior class of Tomales High School will present the Broadway play "You Can't Take It With You," by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the school auditorium.

All 50 seniors have been given jobs in stagework, ticket sales or other facets of the production, while 33 will at least have walk-on parts in the play itself.

Featured among the 17 main roles will be Wayne Parks, Renee Agan, Janet Koschetz and Donna Dellepere. Teacher and librarian Annie Rook will be directing her eighth senior play at the school.

Parts of it will be presented free to elementary school pupils at a special assembly tomorrow morning.

Patricia Neal 'Disappointed'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The husband of Oscar-winning Patricia Neal says the star, recuperating from three massive strokes, got her feelings hurt somewhat when she watched this year's Academy Awards on television.

British writer Roald Dahl disclosed yesterday that Miss Neal, 39, had expected that her stand-in at the ceremonies might make some mention of her. But Audrey Hepburn, a close friend who made the best actor presentation Monday night in Miss Neal's place, didn't do so.

The only reference to Miss Neal, a winner last year for her performance as the housekeeper in "Hud," came when Bob Hope read a telegram from the ailing actress.

Completes Training

Seaman apprentice Eric S. Tainter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric M. Tainter of 15 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center at San Diego, and is on leave until Monday when he will join the ammunition ship, Mount Katmai, berthed at Concord.

Mrs. Hoenes Is Retiring After 30 Years Of Teaching

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

Mrs. Dora Hoenes like to hike, garden and dig clams, when she isn't traveling.

"Now I'll be able to do it when I want to," she said yesterday, looking forward to retirement after 30 years of teaching, most of it in first grade in the San Anselmo School District.

Mrs. Hoenes will retire in June. Her husband, William M. Hoenes, supervisor of the land department of the San Rafael office of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., will retire in November. The couple hopes to go to Canada on the first of a series of trips they plan.

Mrs. Hoenes said that the past few years have seen the biggest changes in education within the three decades she has taught.

"It started after Sputnik," she said. "The new math is quite hard. It takes a lot of preparation. It's hard to say if it's any better than the old. Next year we might know."

Then she stopped. "But I won't have to worry about that."

A native of San Francisco, the then Dora Nicholas graduated from high school in Petaluma and received her teacher training at San Jose State College, leaving school in the depression year of 1932.

She was a substitute teacher for a year, and then was given a whole school of her own. The school, in Tehama County, had 12 students in eight grades.

After a year there she became a second grade teacher in the Petaluma school system. In 1938, she took over the district's speech correction program.

She was married in 1941 and soon afterward moved to Marin, taking over a first grade in the San Anselmo School District at what was then the Red Hill School, now Isabel Cook School.

Mrs. Hoenes left teaching in 1945, but returned in 1948 to teach the first grade, her favorite class, at request of school principal, Isabel Cook.

"The district used to be small. We couldn't afford maintenance men as we have now," she said. "Once when we needed a new sandbox, the district could afford the lumber but not the carpenter. So my husband built the sandbox."

She had a little advice for parents and future teachers: "I've always been a strict disciplinarian. Discipline lets a child know what's expected of him. He's a happier child."

Planting To Mark Kiwanis Anniversary

Five fruit trees, first of a batch of 50, will be planted Friday at 1:30 p.m. at the Wade Thomas School, San Anselmo, to commemorate the 50th anniversary of Kiwanis International.

They are all gifts of the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club. The other trees are scheduled to be planted at various schools in the San Anselmo district.

Mill Valleyan Acts As Student Teacher

Ruthmarie Frank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Frank of 155 Shoreline Highway, Mill Valley, is among a group of Humboldt State College majors acting as student teachers in Humboldt County.

Miss Frank, majoring in physical education, is practice teaching at Arcata High School. She is a graduate of Tamalpais High School.

Organ Concert Set Tomorrow

Youth of the Mill Valley Methodist Church will sponsor a benefit organ concert at 8 p.m. tomorrow in San Rafael High School Auditorium, to raise funds to bring an a cappella youth choir from Torreon, Mexico, to Mill Valley this summer.

Following the concert by professional organist Frank Stitt of San Rafael, refreshments will be served.

The Mill Valley church youth became acquainted with the Mexican choir last summer while working on a project in Torreon.

Singer Slated

Singer Claudia Capurro of Kentfield will be featured in a variety show sponsored by Company E, 579th Engineer Battalion of the California National Guard at 2 and 7:30 p.m. Monday in San Rafael High School auditorium.

Bank Awards Competitors Meet Tuesday

Nineteen Marin County high school students will be among 34 students competing for Bank of America achievement awards Tuesday at College of Marin.

Marin County members of the five-man panel of judges selecting outstanding students in liberal arts, fine arts, vocational arts and science and mathematics will be Mel L. Morse, of San Rafael, executive director of the Humane Society, and attorney Richard G. Burns of Corte Madera.

NO VOTE

Dr. Stephen E. Epler, president of the College of Marin, will be the chairman of the judges' discussion but will have no vote in the selection.

Competing in science and mathematics will be Don Dresser of Novato, Howard Gamper Jr. of Terra Linda, Ronald Skellenger of Sir Francis Drake, Drew Sullivan of Marin Catholic and Ann Treverton of Tamalpais high schools.

Marsha Lang of Terra Linda, Linda McClure of Redwood, Bruce Saxton of Drake and David Wilkinson of Tamalpais will compete for awards in fine arts.

SEEK PRIZES

Susan Muller of Tamalpais, Linda Rediske of Novato, John Rostoni of San Rafael and James Strachan of Terra Linda will seek prizes in the vocational arts competition.

John Elder of Tamalpais, Stephen Frazzini of Terra Linda, Sharon Haynes of Redwood, Judith Parsons of San Rafael, Christina Press of Drake and Lynn Schmitz of Dominican Upper School will compete for awards in liberal arts.

Winner in each of the four categories will compete for $1,000 awards in Bay Area finals in San Francisco next month.

Strep Infections Lead Diseases

The number of cases of streptococcal infection reported in Marin last week jumped to 88, County Health Officer Carolyn Albrecht reported yesterday.

The number jumped from 63 cases the week before and only 36 cases the week before that. Of the 88, 10 were in Mill Valley, 25 in San Rafael and 37 in Novato.

Nine cases of gonorrhea were reported, three of measles, two of mumps and salmonella and one of syphilis. A rabid bat was reported at Hamilton Air Force base March 26. The bat was captured and a seven-year-old boy who handled it began antirabies vaccinations.

Social Security Pension Rise Seen

By PETER S. NAGAN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — The fanfare connected with the broad medicare program approved by the house Ways and Means Committee has obscured the big increases in old-age pensions written into the same Social Security bill.

This first-step approval of medical care for the elderly represents a major legislative breakthrough. But the pension sections of the same measure need not take a back seat.

Congressional tax experts estimate that the pension changes will affect around 20 million persons now getting Social Security checks — the aged and disabled and their families, plus orphaned children and their widowed mothers. They would draw over $2 billion more in 1966.

This group has suffered as living costs have risen since the last general increase in benefits in 1959. The pending bill goes far to make up for the slippage. In addition, it makes additional groups eligible for benefits—or eligible for longer periods of time.

Here are the main pension changes now waiting for approval by the house and then by the Senate:

The biggest change would be an across-the-board increase in benefits to all persons now receiving Social Security checks. The minimum increase would be $4 a month.

Benefit payments to surviving children would be extended for longer periods for those attending school.

The age at which widows can receive pensions would be lowered to as early as age 60.

Retired persons would be allowed to earn more outside income without penalty.

Interns and self-employed physicians would be covered.

Ban Lifted From Wells

County health officials yesterday lifted their ban on drinking water from Nicasio Creek and nearby wells.

The announcement came after state sanitary engineer Frank Jones ruled that tests showed "no health hazard in any measurable quantity" in samples of water from wells along the creek.

Residents have been prohibited from drinking the water since chemicals were dumped in it two weeks ago.

Scholarship Voted

Unification Film Set On Monday

A documentary program on the proposed unification of the schools in the Tamalpais High School District area will be shown over television station KPIX (Channel 5) Monday from 10 to 11 p.m.

The show will consist of filmed scenes from two public hearings conducted by the Marin County Committee on School District Organization in February, and a taped discussion with two committee members.

Appearing will be Mrs. Betty Wallace, who favors overall unification, and David D. Ring, who opposes the plan, which will be before the district voters April 20.

Court Of Honor

Court of honor for advancing members of San Rafael Troop 10, Boy Scouts of America, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the First Presbyterian Church, San Rafael.

Rev. Anderson To Be Ordained

Rev. Kenneth E. Anderson will be ordained to the Episcopal priesthood in ceremonies at 10 a.m. Saturday in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, San Rafael.

Reverend Anderson, who has served his diaconate as assistant to Rector John D. Riley of St. Paul's, will be ordained by Rt. Rev. G. Richard Millard, suffragen bishop of the Diocese of California. Preacher will be Rev. James E. Carroll, rector of All Saints Church in Long Beach, Rev. Anderson's home parish.

Five Seeking Three Hub School Positions

Five candidates, including two incumbents, are vying for three seats on the San Anselmo School District board in the April 20 election.

Robert W. Corlett and Joseph E. Tilt are seeking re-election to the board, while trustee Howard McKinley, whose term also expires, has decided not to run.

District voters also will ballot on a proposed $700,000 bond issue and $500,000 state loan authorization.

The candidates and some of their views are:

ROBERT W. CORLETT

ROBERT W. CORLETT, an attorney who lives at 14 Carolina Avenue, has been a member of the board since 1957, and has served as board president.

Corlett also has served as president of the Marin County School Boards Assn., and as a member of the national board of Camp Fire Girls and the boards of the Marin United Fund and the Family Service Agency of Marin. He has been a resident of San Anselmo since 1947, except for one year when he lived in Sacramento.

A graduate of the University of Minnesota Law School in 1947, he worked for Standard Oil Co. of California in San Francisco before starting private practice of law in 1953.

Corlett advocates passage of the bond and loan issues, and favors the Tamalpais High School District unification.

JOSEPH E. TILT, 36, of 1200 Butterfield Road, has been a member of the board since October, 1963, when he was appointed to fill out the term of Philip Smith, who resigned.

Tilt is assistant to the assistant general manager and vice president of Kaiser Engineering in Oakland.

A native of Los Angeles, he received a B.S. in mechanical engineering from Princeton University and is a member of the Princeton School Committee in Marin. He is a past president of the Kaiser Employees Club and the Kaiser Oakland Federal Credit Union. He has three preschool children.

"Unification and particularly unification of the Tam High School District as a whole will be very beneficial to San Anselmo schools as well as the entire district," Tilt said.

"The school taxes are very high, but living in an area such as Marin with its low industrial and commercial density, this is bound to happen." Unification will help to spread the tax burden evenly, Tilt said.

He said he fully supports the district's bond issue and state loan. "It appears that some 240 children will be on double sessions next fall and the district continues to need at least two new classrooms each year," he commented. Unification would help solve the problem in the long run, he feels.

JAMES L. HUSBAND, 28, is an electrician who studied labor management at University of San Francisco and the John O'Connell vocational school toward an A.A. degree.

Father of five children, Husband lives at 9 Irving Drive, and his business is in San Francisco.

Husband said the Tamalpais High School District unification proposal is too impersonal. "To elect a seven-man school board at large to replace an unpaid board of 58 would not only make it financially impossible for many of us to seek office, but would take the school board away from public scrutiny of neighborhood communities," he said.

As to taxes, "the San Anselmo school taxes are comparatively similar to other school districts of our size and assessed valuation. I feel they are justified," he said.

Passage of the district's bond measure is imperative, Husband said. "Regardless of unification, the bonds must pass to end the dilemma San Anselmo now faces."

FRANKLIN C. LATCHAM

FRANK C. LATCHAM, 43, an attorney, is co-chairman of the San Anselmo Citizens Committee for Better Education, which is supporting the bond issue.

Aside from membership in legal associations, he has served as president of the San Francisco Tax Club and of the Wade Thomas School Parent-Teacher Assn. He is the author of numerous articles on legal subjects and co-author of "Shareholder Democracy," published by Western Reserve University Press in 1954.

A native of Tacoma, Wash., he was graduated from University of Washington and Yale Law School and served on the faculty at Western Reserve University Law School in Cleveland, O., before entering private practice in San Francisco in 1954. Latcham, who lives at 165 Crescent Road, has four children.

He said he wholeheartedly supports the plan for unification of the Tamalpais High School District area. "Although I believe the San Anselmo School District has done a good job over the years, I believe that the educational needs for the future require a larger district to handle the job," he said.

Latcham said "real property taxes in general are too high in Marin County" and "a large percentage of those taxes are required to support the school systems."

"As long as unification is delayed, I do not see how the tax rate can be reduced," he said.

Latcham also said citizens in the district cannot afford to reject the bond issue. The need for both bond issue and state loan is obvious, he contended.

PIETER TOAL

Formerly an assistant professor at University of Indonesia in Bandung, he was active in recreational activities for underprivileged children in Indonesia.

He was born in den Helder, The Netherlands, and graduated from Delft Technological University with a master's degree in civil engineering.

During World War II, he was placed in a forced labor camp in Germany and after liberation served as an interpreter for the U.S. military government.

Toal also is a member of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs. He lives at 48 Hawthorne Avenue and has three children.

Toal said "Tamalpais district unification should be pursued as soon as possible."

He said "school taxes are about right," but "good education should not be confused with nice looking buildings, nurses, dental inspection, planter boxes, a large staff, lunches, fancy multi-purpose room and other tax consuming debatable expenditures.

He urged a yes vote on the bond issue.

Fusselman Dinner Slated For May 26

A dinner honoring William D. Fusselman, former supervisor of Marin County's second supervisorial district, will be held at 7:30 p.m., May 26, in Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

The principal speaker will be announced later, said Niel Shultz Jr., Marin County Planning Commission chairman.

Direct Phoning Service Should Not Be Delayed

Telephone users in San Rafael and in Ignacio, who do not have the benefit of direct dialing, apparently must wait another indefinite period.

The State Public Utilities Commission had under consideration a Pacific Telephone Co. proposal for extended area service between Ignacio and San Rafael.

After more than four months of consideration, the State Public Utilities Commission, by majority vote, decided that further "investigation" is necessary. This means the problem is shelved again indefinitely.

The only apparent objection is from Western California Telephone Co., which operates phone service in the Novato area. Its argument is that extended service should be provided between San Rafael and Novato, along with San Rafael and Ignacio. In other words, without the one, don't grant the other.

While direct dialing between San Rafael and Novato is desirable, why make one contingent on the other? As far as public convenience is concerned, direct dialing between San Rafael and Ignacio is an improvement, even without direct dialing between Novato and San Rafael.

The PUC was not unanimous in postponing a decision on the San Rafael-Ignacio proposal.

Dissenters included Commissioners Peter E. Mitchell and William M. Bennett.

"This is the second time around for the people in the Ignacio-San Rafael exchanges," said Mitchell. "I earnestly exhort the majority to grant or to deny" the people in the area the right to extended area service.

Bennett, too, called for an immediate decision, or at least a statement of reasons for a further "investigation."

"It is plain," Bennett declared, "that ratepayers need and desire extended and expanded calling areas."

Pacific Telephone's application for an immediate decision is also predicated on "public interest."

Representatives of home owners groups of the Marin Golf and Country Club Estates and of Loma Verde, the base commander at Hamilton Field, and the Marin County Development Assn. are all on record in favor of extended service between Ignacio and San Rafael.

We hope that the current "investigation" will not turn out to be an indefinite shelving of the issue.

We believe that the convenience of direct dialing between San Rafael and Ignacio, while only a small step in the trend toward extended area service, is better than no step at all.

It Takes 174 Years For Court To Protect In State Trials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mills of justice grind so slowly it has taken the Supreme Court 174 years to say a man tried for crime in a state court has as much right to question his accuser as a man tried for crime in a federal court.

It finally reached that point Monday in the case of Bob Granville Pointer, convicted in Texas of robbing Kenneth W. Phillips of $375. By the time Pointer was brought to trial Phillips had moved to California.

SINCE HE didn't show up at the trial, Pointer's lawyer couldn't cross-examine him. Instead, the state offered as evidence against Pointer a transcript of testimony given by Phillips at a preliminary hearing some time before.

In the appeal to the Supreme Court, Pointer's lawyer argued that, under the Constitution's Sixth Amendment guarantee of an accused man's right to confront his accuser, his client should have been able, but wasn't, to question Phillips.

The Supreme Court agreed. Its decision was a landmark.

BUT WHY did it take the Supreme Court all these years to reach a decision which might seem obvious to anyone reading the Constitution?

In 1791 the first 10 amendments to the Constitution—the Bill of Rights—were adopted because the states were afraid the federal government might in time encroach upon what they considered the rights of states and individuals.

Among other things these amendments guaranteed trial by jury, religious liberty, freedom of speech, of the press, and of the people to petition the government for redress of grievances.

TWO OF these amendments —the Fifth and Sixth—are particularly pertinent here. The Fifth said a man could not be compelled to testify against himself.

The Sixth said a person accused of crime not only had a right to be informed of the charge against him but to confront his accusers and to have a lawyer defend him.

For much of its history the Supreme Court took the view that the Bill of Rights' guarantees applied only to what happened within federal jurisdiction and not to the states at all.

IN FACT, more than 100 years ago it ruled that the bill's amendments applied only to federal jurisdiction. A change of view set in, but ever so slowly, after the adoption of the 14th Amendment in 1868.

This one, aimed at protecting the newly freed Negroes, said everyone must have equal protection of the laws and that no one could be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

BUT AS LATE as 1908 the court specifically held that the Fifth Amendment—which said a man can't be compelled to give testimony which might incriminate him—did not apply to state proceedings.

It was only last June that the court reversed itself on that.

BACK IN 1942 the court took a step, an extremely timid one, in making the Sixth Amendment's guarantee—that a man accused of crime is entitled to a lawyer—apply to state courts but only if the accused faced the death penalty.

After 21 years the court was ready to go further, and did. In 1963 the court ruled that every state, as well as every federal court, must provide an attorney for a person charged with crime but too poor to hire a lawyer.

And in Monday's case of the Texas man whose lawyer was not able to question the accuser—because the accuser wasn't there—the court reversed previous decisions in saying a man accused of crime in a state court must be permitted to cross-examine his accuser.

BRAKES FAIL, BUT TRUCK DRIVER DOESN'T

A driver stayed with his runaway truck as it raced downhill and so probably saved the lives of several schoolchildren on their way home to lunch.

The 27-year-old truck driver told police that the brakes on his heavily-laden vehicle gave way shortly after he started down a long hill.

Seeing children straggling into the street as he neared the school, the quick-thinking man hopped from the driver's seat onto the running board. Then he shouted warnings to the young people while steering the truck with one hand.

No children were hit but the man himself suffered minor injuries. He was thrown from the speeding truck just before it hit two parked cars and came to a stop with one of its wheels broken.

Persons who have the interests of others at heart are usually alert and resourceful in coming to their assistance in times of danger.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

It Appears Both Demos, GOP Taking Election Seriously

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — On the heels of Gov. Edmund G. Brown's announcement that the California Democratic Coordinating Committee is being reactivated to promote the interests of the Democrats at the 1966 elections, come the Republicans with an announcement that the recently organized Los Angeles County Republican Alliance will get on the ball to elect 15 senators from the GOP out of Los Angeles under the court-directed reapportionment.

ALL OF WHICH brings the public to a realization that politics will be taken rather seriously for the remainder of 1965 and for 1966, the next gubernatorial year.

It will be taken seriously by the Democrats as a result of bickering within the party, which controversy already has set the majority party off in different circles both with different philosophies, one faction headed by the governor which can be considered ultra-liberal, and the other by Speaker of the House Jesse M. Unruh which can be construed as liberal in some matters but not as liberal as the governor's branch.

It will be taken seriously by the Republicans because the splits in the GOP are even more widespread than in the Democrats. Quasi - liberals, middle-of-the-roaders, conservatives and extremists all have their factions with the over-all coverage of Republicanism designating the entire registration.

THE REPUBLICAN Alliance is a group which designates itself as interested in electing Republicans and, so far, it has pasted labels on none of the members of the party. It is starting its operations on an ambitious basis. Assuming that Los Angeles County is awarded 15 state senators in the final reapportionment count, the assumption that all of them are going to be Republican may be a lot too much.

However, one never crosses the chasm unless one tries, and from all indications the alliance, headed by Kurt Hahn, will make an all-out effort. It is starting in plenty of time to convince the voters, and an extensive political education program is part of its program.

HOWEVER, MORE potent will be, Hahn says, "a hard-hitting campaign organization based around a foundation of experienced leaders from winning campaigns. Currently serving on the Alliance's board are over 30 per cent of the 1964 Murphy campaign area chairmen, two top organizers from the 1952 and 1956 Citizens for Eisenhower organization, as well as a substantial number of persons closely associated with the past campaigns of former Vice President Richard Nixon."

He said the alliance will engage in an expanded membership campaign seeking workers from the ranks of those who have not in the past participated in Republican activities.

Klan Probe Greeted And Question Raised

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I welcome the news that the House Committee on Un-American Activities is planning to investigate the Ku Klux Klan.

Wonder now whether the self - styled champions of American civil liberties and assorted bleeding hearts will rally and riot against the "witch hunters" whom they chastised so generously and consistently in the past?

Wanted: Simple Text On Unification Issue

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It would be very helpful if the pros and cons of unification could be described in simpler terms. For the average layman, the editorials, so far, leave one bothered and bewildered. Discussing this with neighbors and friends, one finds the same reaction. This is an issue everybody should understand, and surely the Independent-Journal should be the best source of simple explanation for us "ignorant" readers.

Our Viet Nam Conduct Barbaric

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We are waging a brutal war in Viet Nam, using horrible weapons indiscriminately against civilian men, women and children, bombing by hearsay rather than reliable information, and defoliating and burning the countryside. Will this kind of barbarism "win us Asia"? I think not, Senator Kuchel's assurances notwithstanding.

As long as the military are allowed to dictate policy, they will want to try everything in their arsenal, nuclear weapons included.

Negotiations are inevitable, whether this government likes it or not. The point is, how many lives are we willing to save, and incidentally, how much of our already tarnished image are we willing to salvage, before these negotiations take place? Allegiance is not won by brutalizing people, and much more than material interests are at stake here. All our military might is useless compared to decent and humane conduct, the best expression of which is a willingness to seek peaceful negotiations.

Cities Urged To Take Stand On Marincello

Editor, Independent-Journal:

May I extend one of your famous "bouquets" to the Novato City Council for realizing that the proposed city of Marincello would most certainly affect the citizens of Novato as well as those of southern Marin?

Many of us feel this development to have every bit as much impact on the whole county as did the building of the Golden Gate Bridge itself.

By the same token, is a "brickbat" apropos for the town councils of Ross and Corte Madera for their belief that Marincello is "none of their business" (to quote from Harlan Soeten's letter to the editor, March 22, 1965)?

Surely the citizens and councilmen of these and all other communities not yet heard from, should look into the pros and cons of this development and at least voice an opinion on such a vital issue; and then inform your county supervisors of it.

(Editor's note: Ross Town Councilmen DID say they felt Marincello was of concern to the Town, but that they wanted more facts before taking any stand.)

Unification Has Parallel

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mr. Hepp's letter of April 2 challenging the good faith of certain candidates for the Mill Valley School Board who also happen to favor unification brings to mind a period in our own history. The first permanent union of states in America was formed under the Articles of Confederation. One defect of the Articles of Confederation was the lack of a strong central government. Prior to adoption of the Constitution in 1789 many leaders of the day, including Washington, Hamilton and Jefferson, pointed out the weaknesses of the Articles of Confederation even while serving their country on both the state and national level. Did these men, because they strived for something which seemed to them better while operating under the Articles of Confederation, hold the prior record for "lack of good faith and integrity?" Should they have been rejected by their states because "unabashedly dedicated to closing up" the business of those states?

Unification Foe Voices Appeal

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A school district, to be truly effective, needs the close support of parents and voters. The voters must feel that they exert some control over the affairs of the district, that their elected trustees are responsive to their wishes.

This contact between school administration and electorate decreases as the size of the district increases. In a large district—one with more than 10,000 students—it is often difficult to stimulate widespread support for financial programs proposed by the school board.

If the unification election in southern Marin is successful, it will create a district of 189 square miles which, in 20 years, may contain as many as 100 elementary schools and 10 high schools.

The present proposal must be defeated, so that we'll have a chance to vote on something sensible. Vote NO on April 20!

Cemetery Use A Good Idea

Editor, Independent-Journal:

One of the most interesting thoughts to come out of the Marincello controversy is the suggestion that the site would be more suitable for a National Cemetery than for the group of high-rise apartments to be submitted by the developers.

This is worth serious consideration. The area to be developed is out of sight of the freeway; and surrounded by the proposed parks so that it would certainly have a quiet and dignified setting in unspoiled natural terrain.

A cemetery here would, by its nature, add to the great green-belt of the parks, and would impose no traffic problems on the overburdened Golden Gate Bridge.

Dodd's Viet Trip To Test Firmness

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Sen. Thomas Dodd's, D-Conn., unexpected trip to South Viet Nam involves a very delicate diplomatic mission for President Lyndon B. Johnson.

A close friend and long-time political confidant of the president, Dodd was given the assignment of determining the conditions and terms under which Premier Phan Huy Quat's government will negotiate with North Viet Nam.

THE PRESIDENT asked Dodd to seek the views of the powerful Armed Forces Council, composed of South Viet Nam's top generals and nominally controlled by five staunch anti-Communist Catholics.

In meeting with these generals, Dodd is to obtain their frank opinions of Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, the intensely nationalistic commander of the northern region.

This unannounced mission was given Dodd during a three-hour White House session at which the president indicated he was receiving conflicting information from his advisers on the positions of the top South Vietnamese authorities and key military officers.

BEFORE MAKING a final decision on seeking negotiations or stepping up the war in North Viet Nam, the president told Dodd he wants to be absolutely sure of the stands of the South Viet Nam officials and the stability of Premier Quat's government.

"I want to be sure that none of our coming decisions will trigger a change of government in Saigon during this critical period," the president stated.

THE JOHNSON administration has developed a split personality over an amendment to the foreign aid bill designed to help U.S. firms protect their investments abroad from expropriation.

The amendment, which gives U.S. courts jurisdiction over cases where U.S. firms seize foreign cargoes and assets in lieu of other compensation, is being vigorously supported by Commerce Secretary John Connors.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who claim the amendment would hamper the conduct of U.S. foreign policy, are opposing efforts to write the amendment into the president's $3.4 billion foreign aid bill.

NONE OF THESE Cabinet members claims to represent the views of President Johnson.

The split within the administration became known when Katzenbach appeared before the House Foreign Affairs Committee to oppose the amendment.

After the Justice Department chief had denounced the provision as "a move to put the courts in charge of foreign policy," Rep. Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., chairman, asked: "Are you expressing the administration's position in opposing this amendment?"

"NO," REPLIED Katzenbach. "I am representing the view of the Justice and State departments."

"Where does the president stand?" asked Morgan.

Does Anyone Have 'No On U' Buttons For Tam Students?

"Come mothers and fathers
throughout the land,
And don't criticize what you can't understand.
Your sons and daughters are beyond your command."

A Redwood High School student came home recently from school wearing a "Yes on U" button, although her father is strongly opposed to the proposed unification measure of the Tamalpais Union High School District area.

The buttons were handed out after class by a teacher, who had not thought about possible legal ramifications concerning campaigning during working hours.

"DISTRICT DOINGS," the house organ of the Tamalpais district, published at public expense, has in its current issue a major article on the campaign for unification.

The second page carries an editorial in favor of unification. The third page, with teachers' association news, has a pair of articles on the vote drive. On page six is an article called, "Some Reasons for Unification."

On the advisory committee of Citizens for Unification is Edward J. Neumeier, editor of District Doings.

School newspapers at Redwood and Drake high schools support unification editorially, but teachers insist no pressure was put on students in the matter. Teachers merely explained the issues objectively and let students make up their own minds.

"There are no truths Outside the gates of Eden."

PARENTS OF THE girl with the button had another story, although not verified. It seems a high school teacher in another class, during a discussion on the subject, was objective on only one side of the unification question.

In this class, too, a student, the child of voters opposed to the unification measure, was sitting.

"Why didn't you speak up? You know what the issues are," the father demanded.

"I want to go to college," was the reply.

THE TEACHER WITH the buttons acknowledged that a student organization opposed to unification could be formed on any high school campus. "Of course, there might be trouble finding a faculty sponsor."

The Tamalpais district policy officially encourages district employees to participate in elections "to the extent of their interest," as long as the law about use of district funds or time is not broken.

Teachers for unification can be heard from, but where are the brave faculty members on the other side? There must be at least one.

And if they do not speak out against the crowd, when will their students learn to stand up, when some day they must?

"Don't worry, Ma.
I think I'll make it."

Theater Hits All-Time Low, Loses Magic For Columnist

I RARELY VISIT the theater nowadays, but ours was once a flaming romance. Like every New Yorker of my vintage, I felt Broadway was the special repository for magic and glamor: And to a kid in knee-pants a show was the best of all possible treats.

Nor did long pants change my view. To catch a glimpse of John Drew walking jauntily along Fifth Avenue made my day: It was like seeing "Shelley plain," something to be remembered with reverence.

So you know how I felt when I finally achieved the playwright's privilege of entering via the stage door and chatting familiarly with stars I had idolized from afar—afar being a seat in the gallery. I was properly blase, I trust, externally, but inside I was floating on Cloud Nine, on which I had placed a sign reading "Do Not Disturb."

THOUGH WE MOVED to California, we still came back once a year to see as many shows as we could. The magic was still there when the curtain rose, and it was sweet lagniappe to go backstage and hold reunions of gay reminiscence with the players and writers and stagehands.

But, about a dozen years ago, the spell broke. After six or seven highly touted plays left a bad taste in our mouths, my wife and I asked each other, "What's become of the fun?" We didn't know the new crop of actors and playwrights and, even if we had, we certainly weren't going backstage to congratulate them.

Oh, we still saw a few shows, but—with some notable exceptions — they worsened each year. After a 1960 trip I wrote a column suggesting this decade might be known as the "Smutty 60s." That brought outraged mail from avant-garde realists who called me a Puritan the procession had passed by.

NOW THERE'S always a chance that such a charge has merit. I do not doubt that the decline of the theater was the subject which many a superannuated playwright was weeping into his mug of ale about when Mermaid Tavern was in its heyday—and probably before.

But in my heart I knew I was right. And about two years ago I had my opinion confirmed when I was talking shop with a group of show people. I had offered my two cents' worth and Cedric Hardwicke, who had stage honors down to here, nodded in agreement.

"The theater began to die," he said, "when the drawing-room comedy went into the ash can. It suddenly became undemocratic for the curtain to rise on a room furnished in good taste, whereon entered some well-dressed ladies and gentlemen who spoke decent English. Now even under those dreadful handicaps, a writer like Pinero could so manipulate his characters as to show all their human virtues and frailties and make the audience — cockney and peerage alike—laugh a little and weep a little with them and for them, and thus achieve catharsis.

"BUT TODAY a drawing room cannot possibly provide entertainment, let alone art. The ideal locale is an untidy kitchen, populated by frowsy females and beatnik males who belch loudly as they slosh their coffee and hurl imprecations once confined to the barracks.

"Now let your heroine suffer from a social disease and make your hero a transvestite and the critics will rave and you will achieve an international reputation. The next step, I predict, will be to get even farther away from the obnoxious drawing-room symbol and have the whole action take place in a privy."

Sir Cedric has passed on, but his prediction has come true. A New York play of last year, currently on view in Los Angeles, bears the title, "The Toilet," and all its action is confined to that room. The language fits the environment, and the plot deals with a group of colored boys who slay a white man who is attempting to seduce them. Burgess Meredith directed the local version, and the cast has been embellished with some Los Angeles high school talent.

NO, I HAVEN'T seen it—but I did read the opening scene. I pray that this artistic effort will not be made a "must see" for academic credit for those high school students who didn't make the cast. Though nowadays you never can tell.

The excuse for all this is that it deals with "real life." Now I am fully aware of the human body's need for excretion, but I can find no reason, esthetic or moral, not to keep the bathroom door closed. It is not only more sanitary, but damn it!—it's less smelly, too.

The toilet, in short, may be a good place to visit, but who wants to live there?

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, April 8, the 98th day of 1965 with 267 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Mars, Jupiter and Mercury.

Mary Pickford, the American actress, was born on this day in 1893.

On this day in history:

In 1730, the first Jewish congregation to be organized in America consecrated its synagogue in New York City.

In 1952, President Harry Truman seized the steel industry to forestall a general strike.

A thought for the day—When U. S. Grant was inaugurated in 1869, he said: "I know no method to secure the repeal of bad or obnoxious laws so effective as their stringent execution."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Develop Means Of Telling Your Partner About Hand

When you open the bidding and then raise your partner's suit, you show about 13 to 16 points, counting distribution as well as high cards.

Your partner can afford to bid game if he has 12 points or more, can try for game with 10 or 11 points, and can pass with less than 10 points.

♥ Q J 10 9
♦ K J 10 8 7
♣ J 10 5

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two diamonds.

You will raise hearts at your next turn. This shows about 11 or 12 points in support of hearts, too much for a single raise but not enough for an immediate jump to three hearts.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

North, with 14 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton, can well afford the opening bid and the spade raise.

GOOD SUIT

South wastes no time in getting to game since he has a good suit with 13 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton.

It would seem that South has more than enough strength for his game, but he must actually play the hand carefully to make up for the bad placement of the ace of hearts, the king of diamonds and the trumps.

West opens the queen of hearts, holding the trick, and continues with the jack of hearts.

TESTS CLUBS

Declarer again plays low from dummy, and East naturally plays low also. (If East were a mindreader he would take the ace of hearts and return the nine of diamonds.)

South ruffs the third heart, draws one round of trumps with the king and then tests the clubs by taking the queen and leading a club to dummy's king.

When the clubs break normally, South can resume drawing trumps. The correct play is to lead a low trump to the queen.

LAST TRUMP

If trumps broke, South could draw the last trump and run the clubs. Since trumps break badly, South leaves the ace of spades in dummy and leads another club.

East ruffs and leads a diamond, but time is not on his side. South steps up with the ace of diamonds and leads a trump to dummy's ace.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens the bidding with one heart, and the next player passes.

Second Bloch Fete Concert Is Slated

Chamber music of Ernest Bloch, including two works never before performed in the west, will be heard in the second of two Bloch festival concerts in the College of Marin gymnasium Sunday at 8 p.m.

The performance will be by Bay Area soloists William Corbett Jones, piano; Bonnie Hampton, cello; Edward Haug, trumpet; Margery Tede, mezzo soprano, and George Wargo, viola.

Included as West Coast premieres are Suite No. 3 for Cello Unaccompanied, played by Miss Hampton, and "Proclamation for Trumpet and Piano" with Haug and Jones.

Other works on the program are "In the Night," "Poems of the Sea," "Two Songs from Poems of Autumn," "Three Songs from Historiettes au Crepuscule," "From Jewish Life—Three Sketches," "Meditation Hebraique," and Suite for Viola and Piano.

An exhibit of the life and work of Bloch is being shown in connection with the concert.

Playing Ring Around Roses

First, he uncovered a thin gold wedding band. Then, Mrs. Boegel lost her diamond cluster and he located it in a bed of peonies.

This House Takes Trip

JANESVILLE, Wis. (AP) — A porticoed stone house, nearly 125 years old, has survived a shaky experience and is being readied for a new life.

The house, a rare example of temple style Greek revival architecture built before 1842 by an early Wisconsin settler, was moved across town to its new location on the grounds of the Tallman mansion. The stone building will be restored and opened to the public as part of the Lincoln-Tallman Museum which is operated by the Rock County Historical Society.

The Tallman structure, once the home of a leading local family, was a stopping place for Abraham Lincoln when he went into Wisconsin.

WONDERFUL FACE

Rosemary Forsyth? She'll Be A Star

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It is a tremulous moment when a young actress stands on the threshold of stardom.

Standing there now is Rosemary Forsyth, who is 21, freckled, doesn't wear lipstick or rouge, and looks like a tall blonde goddess.

Will Hollywood open its golden door wide for her? Universal Studio is so convinced Miss Forsyth has star quality that it has signed her to a seven-year contract and given her a year of dramatic training.

"I don't feel like a star, because I'm not one yet," said Rosemary practically. "I don't know whether I'll ever be one. I've never really thought of being a star — just a good actress."

ROSEMARY FORSYTH

But after seeing the rough shots of Miss Forsyth in her first motion picture role, producer Walter Seltzer immediately gave her star billing with Charlton Heston in another forthcoming film.

"She has a wonderful face — a little like Ingrid Bergman, and yet different, too," he said.

Rosemary also looks a little like Grace Kelly, Lee Remick and has something of the tomboy quality of the late Carole Lombard. But because of her quick success she is most often being compared with that old film circle favorite — Cinderella.

"I know some girls work 15 years and never get a break such as I've had," remarked Rosemay, "and I'm grateful for it. But I don't feel much like Cinderella."

Sturdily independent, she has earned her own way since she was 18. Born in Montreal and educated at Stockbridge, Mass., she worked as a camp counselor and file clerk before becoming a $45-an-hour fashion and television model.

"I never had much of a struggle," she said. "I have lived in some crummy apartments, but I never missed a meal in my life.

"I got an invitation to make a film test after a studio executive saw my picture in Show magazine. I hated fashion modeling, just standing still and trying to look cool and perfect. I'd rather model a potato peeler. At least then you're doing something real. When you peel a potato, you're relating to something."

Rosemary is 5 feet 9, lithely built, has long tresses and the kind of cheekbones that send cameramen into ecstasies.

Here is the kind of girl she feels she is:

"I'm outspoken, sometimes hypersensitive, terribly romantic. When I walk down the street I'm always dreaming I'll catch some strange man's eye, fall in love with him instantly, then marry him and live with him for 75 years in a big old house and have 17 children.

"But I'm a realist, too. There's always a bit of logic in my head that says, 'That's enough now. Cut out the day dreaming.'

$1,094 Shaving Mug Bought In London

The bowl, an unusual Lambeth pottery one, was painted with a surgeon barber about to lead his horse into a stable. It was dated 1706, when barbers did minor surgery.

Truck Set For Drive To Mississippi

Student body president James A. Martin and another senior from the San Francisco Theological Seminary will drive a two-ton truck from Marin to a pair of towns in Mississippi next week to deliver items donated in the "Marin to Mississippi" campaign.

Martin, a dormitory master at the San Rafael Military Academy, will be accompanied by Thomas J. Blaney of 43 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo.

They plan to leave Saturday or Sunday after loading the truck at collection points throughout the county all day Saturday.

Taking advantage of the San Anselmo Seminary's "reading week" in which there are no classes, Blaney and Martin plan to arrive in Maben and West Point, Miss., by Easter, then be back by the middle of the following week.

Their cargo will include television sets, sewing machines, typewriters and three sets of encyclopedia, as well as books, clothing, food and other goods for Mississippi Negro families.

Police Dog Apprehended

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — A purse-snatching German police dog was caught and taken into custody by police after the victim flagged a patrol car.

The dog almost got away with the "crime" when Police Cpl. Harold Cox saw the dog walking calmly on the street with the purse clutched in its mouth.

Mrs. Beatrice Archibald said when the dog approached as she was walking on the sidewalk, it jumped up, snatched the purse from her grasp and took off.

Dominican College Elects New Officers

Also elected was next year's senior class president, Irene Hogan of San Francisco. Paula Cavanaugh of Vallejo will head the juniors, while Hetty Keeney of Piedmont will be sophomore president.

Other new student officers are Gigi Grove, vice president; Kay Doser, secretary, and Helen Bianchini, treasurer. Nicki Boss will head the new student affairs board and Mary Hoffman will be president of the Women's Athletic Assn. Marty Devitt and Marion Alonzo will be junior and senior community service representatives.

Education Bill Passes Hurdle

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate Education Committee has approved a bill that would bring $70 million into California to help children whose environment stunts their educational growth.

The measure's sponsor, Sen. J. Eugene McAteer, D - San Francisco, said the money would come from a federal bill certain to win final passage, probably this week.

The McAteer bill, approved yesterday, would make permanent a 1963 state pilot program which reached 16,000 so - called culturally deprived children.

The cape buffalo is generally rated as Africa's most vicious animal. Buffalo have been known to ambush a hunter and trample him with ax-sharp hoofs. They have even dispositions—always angry.

Art Auction Will Aid Freedom School Job

Works of more than 20 artists will be auctioned at 3 p.m. April 17 at the Dickson Ranch in Woodacre.

Proceeds will go to help rebuild the freedom school and library in Indianola, Miss., which was burned after many residents of the San Geronimo Valley sent books, household goods and other items to aid Negroes there.

March is the month of ceremonials among the Navajo Indians of New Mexico. At this time many secret rites and dances take place in honor of nature's elements.

Los Angeles Due New Vet Hospital

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A legislator reports the U.S. Veterans Administration will award a contract within three months for a 1,040-bed new hospital in East Los Angeles.

The report came yesterday from Assemblyman Walter W. Powers, chairman of the Assembly Military and Veterans Affairs Committee.

He said he got the information in Washington last week, and also was informed of major expansion due or underway in veterans facilities in California.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A first-grade teacher met a youngster who had been in her room last year.

"Gee," the little girl sighed, "I wish you knew enough to teach the second grade—we could have so much fun."

Morse Wages War On Ticket Fixing

Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., is a former law school dean who believes that a government should enforce all its laws—even parking regulations.

He is forcing local officials in the nation's capital to do just that.

Putting teeth in a traffic ticket —a frustrating matter for policemen anywhere—was until last year especially difficult in Washington's world of congressional privilege and diplomatic immunity and I-know-somebody influence.

Washington's metropolitan police used to report 40,000 "corrected" tickets a year. But no longer. A year ago Morse, a subcommittee chairman on the Senate committee that handles District of Columbia affairs, looked into ticket fixing and took action.

His most telling blow, to date, was an order that police furnish him with a weekly list of tickets they had adjusted. Morse left these lists on a table in the Senate committee office, with and invitation for inspection by the press.

Soon names and explanations began to appear in the public print. Some seemed plausible enough, like the case of a suburban resident who parked — or stopped — in an intersection with a broken axle.

But there also appeared such names as Rep. Richard Roudebush, R-Ind., a member of the House District of Columbia Committee, whose car was parked at an expired meter.

In the first two months of this year, Morse's lists had bagged two fellow senators and four congressmen.

Congress which governs the District of Columbia, thoughtfully provided that its members may park where they please as long as they are on official business. Be that as it may, Morse included all names on his lists of fixed tickets, and the included:

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., Senate assistant majority leader, Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., Rep. James Burke, D-Mass., Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., Rep. Byron Rogers, D-Colo., and Rep. Roudebush.

This unusual publicity soon led to a secret meeting of District of Columbia commissioners with the House District committee, which normally announcing a meeting of his Senate subcommittee on the same subject, to be held in public.

Morse says he had no complaints from colleagues Long or Hartke, and that senators who have talked to him about the matters are "delighted" with what he is doing.

Morse is now entering a broad new field of exploration legally protected by diplomatic immunity.

Some 1,600 foreign diplomats and their families have failed to pay traffic fines or answer traffic charges. Their tickets are in State Department files, but that's not enough for Morse.

"The State Department should notify their governments," he said, "tell the people concerned."

Has Morse ever been ticketed himself?

"Twice last year," he said, "and I paid them both."

Provost Named To New Campus

BERKELEY (AP) — Charles Hunt Page, sociology professor at Princeton and chairman there of sociology and anthropology, was named today as provost of "College No. 2" on the new University of California campus at Santa Cruz.

His choice was announced by Dr. Clark Kerr, president of UC and by Chancellor Dean McHenry of the Santa Cruz campus.

Professor Page will take up his duties next September. The Santa Cruz campus will have a series of residential colleges. The first one is named Cowell. The rest have not been named.

Midnight Liquor Bill Tried Again

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A previously unsuccessful attempt to cut down on the open hours of liquor stores has been introduced again in the legislature by Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai.

His bill put in yesterday would open liquor stores at 8 a.m., instead of the current 6 a.m., and close them at midnight, two hours earlier than at present.

Frog Eggs In Pouch

LONDON (AP)—The London Zoo now has six rare "marsupial" frogs which carry their eggs on a pouch on their backs. The zoo also has new snakes with pike heads and half as thick as a pencil. The new animals came from Trinidad.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Patients Might Have Symptoms That Are Actually 'Nondisease'

VAN DELLEN

We suspect that some physicians write with tongue in cheek. I just read an article in the New England Journal of Medicine on nondisease by an Alabama physician. The patients usually are seen by consultants who find them not just healthy but afflicted with a specific nondisease.

Dr. Clifton K. Meador cites several examples. A woman was sent to him because her physician suspected she might have a tumor of the pituitary gland (Cushing's disease). She had many of the findings, including obesity, facial rounding, ruddy complexion, and unwanted hair on the upper lip. But all tests for this condition were negative. She had non-Cushing's disease and Dr. Meador justifies this diagnosis on the theory that nondisease exists when it is suspected but not found. It was suspected because certain symptoms were present.

He would not make this diagnosis on every Tom, Dick, and Harry who had negative laboratory tests for this disease. This person had a group of symptoms that mimicked the disorder.

THE MOST common of all nondiseases are classified as upper-lower-limit syndromes. These are men and women with laboratory tests that are borderline. A person with nonanemia has a blood count that is not low enough to diagnose as anemia nor high enough to call normal. The same situation exists when the blood pressure is borderline (nonhypertension). This is somewhat ridiculous because repeating the tests usually settles the question.

OVERINTERPRETATION of X-rays, electrocardiograms, and physical findings lead to a suspicion that certain diseases are present. A shadow that looks like a tumor or ulcer may appear on the X-ray film. Surgery is done and when a lesion is not found, Dr. Meador makes one of his nondisease diagnoses. Overestimating the seriousness of a soft-sounding heart murmur may lead some physicians to conclude that heart disease exists. In time, when the murmur proves to be innocent or functional, he comes up with nonmitral (valve) insufficiency.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

SOCKLESS CHILD

Mrs. G. H. writes: What is your opinion about not wearing socks? My 11-year-old daughter will not wear them because the other children at school don't. She has sore throats and colds all the time.

REPLY

Children of this age want to belong to the group. In all probability, she is getting her colds from classmates and not because she is sockless.

ANGIOGRAM

A. P. writes: What is an angiogram of the neck? Is it a dangerous procedure?

REPLY

This refers to the visualization of the arteries of the neck. The procedure is done by injecting a material opaque to X-rays into the carotid artery. Films are made at frequent intervals to determine whether the vessel is open, narrowed, or obstructed.

Today's Health Hint — Heat, in most forms, is beneficial in arthritis.

THE SAVAGE CELL

World Lives In Sea Of Cancer Causers

inability of equally qualified experts to agree on the validity or interpretation of evidence, the pressures and propaganda of industries to protect themselves and their products, and the natural tendency of scientists to surrender to or too bitterly resist the pressures.

A few researchers have been forced to resign their positions because their findings were unfavorable to an influential industry or product, but their colleagues sometimes argue as to whether true persecution or the scientists' paranoid evangelism was at the root of these incidents.

The second difficulty lies with the suspect substances themselves. It is difficult to ascertain what constitutes a real danger to humans. Some carcinogens cause cancers in 80 or 90 per cent of one sex of animal, and virtually no cancers in littermates of the opposite sex.

Some carginogens act alone. Some must work together. Many must be dissolved in natural fats, oils, or water to take effect. And some cause cancer only when altered by body chemistry.

Some chemicals act in concert with physical or chemical injury, cold, heat, growth, aging, genes, hormones, viruses, rays, vitamins or enzymes. Some cancer-causers are inactive unless there is a deficiency of a vitamin or hormone or enzyme.

The most notable instance of federal action against a carcinogen was in the famous tainted cranberry episode. The government's intemperate blast in a naive press against defiant cranberry growers did not win the confidence of the public or the respect of science.

The answer to the riddle of cancer-causation may be basic — such as the possibility of some yet unknown common denominators. But important clues could lie in a number of other vague areas.

Is there, for instance, such a thing as a "house of cancer" — a house in which an inordinate number of cancer deaths have occurred? There are a number of these eerie residences in which all or almost all unrelated tenant families for a half-century or more lost at least one member to cancer. Is this sheer coincidence? Or is there something in the structure, the grounds, the air, or the water which is conducive to cancer?

Some 30 years ago, it was first shown that butter yellow, a food additive, caused liver cancer in rats.

Since then, many new carcinogens have been identified. Some are among the 800 artificial chemicals in common use, and possibly among the 50 or so introduced each year to the public.

The path to scientific proof has many pitfalls. For instance, an appallingly high lung-cancer rate is said to prevail around Anaconda, Mont., where copper smelting is virtually the sole industry. Part of the answer could be that the State Tuberculosis Sanitarium, housing patients with many respiratory diseases, happens to be located in the same county.

There is obvious validity to the claims of industry that if we were to abandon absolutely the use of all carcinogens, life would become dreary.

We would not have, as we know them, paved roads, synthetic automobile tires, oil and gasoline, plastics of many descriptions, many metals and alloys, pesticides, insecticides, fertilizers, cosmetics, detergents, drugs, foods, dyes, and other essent

U.S. To Crack Down On Student Loans

By ERWIN KNOLL
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Colleges and the federal government are about to crack down on former students who have been neglecting to repay loans they received under the National Defense Education Act. (NDEA).

Members of a House education subcommittee have made it clear that they expect action "to put teeth into collection procedures, for the past-due student loans."

U. S. Commissioner of Education Francis Keppel acknowledged that "we have a problem and corrective action is needed" in administration of the seven-year-old loan program.

He told the subcommittee that loan repayments from former college students totaling about $3 million were past due as of last Oct. 31. This represented more than 16 per cent of the total amount of loans in collection status.

The law allows deserving college students to borrow as much as $1,000 a year, up to a total of $5,000. The program is administered by colleges and universities, but the federal government contributes 90 per cent of the loan money.

Students are required to repay the loans, plus 3 per cent interest, in 10 annual installments beginning one year after graduation. The first repayments were due last year.

Students are required to repay the loans, plus 3 per cent interest, in 10 annual installments beginning one year after graduation. The first repayments were due last year.

Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore.), chairman of the House subcommittee, cited "reports that some students have borrowed and then gone off to Florida, and that loans have been made to fictitious students."

The subcommittee is investigating charges that officials of one junior college in Florida have personally benefited from fraudulent NDEA student loans.

Praising the assistance rendered by the loan program, which President Johnson has asked Congress to extend and expand, Mrs. Green commented that it would be "disastrous to have the program ended by Congress" because of abuses by student borrowers or colleges.

"I could not possibly agree more," Keppel said.

He announced that the U. S. Office of Education will mount "an intensive administrative drive' to help colleges institute sound collection procedures and to "'make it perfectly clear to students that these are loans.'

Keppel said a substantial share of the past-due loans involves' institutions that have had no previous experience with student borrowers. Colleges have been reluctant to use bare-knuckles collection procedures on their alumni, he suggested.

But Mrs. Green said the problem "is across the board, with small colleges as well as big ones, whether they have had loan programs before or not."

Keppel and other federal officials believe that with more guidance from the federal government, colleges will be able to step up their collection efforts. He predicted "steady improvement over the next two or three years."

Unless such improvement takes place, members of the subcommittee indicated, a federal agency might be set up to join the colleges in loan collection efforts.

"Death, disability and bankruptcy ought to be the only criteria for which loans should be forgiven," said Rep. Sam Gibbons (D-Fla.).

"Ultimately, the federal government will have to play a role in collections. When people owe money to Uncle Sam, they get real serious about it."

Gibbons suggested that Social Security records might be used to trace missing borrowers, but was advised that the government holds Social Security data in strict confidence. The congressman called this approach "soft-headed."

British Aroused By Scandal Caused By Renting Racket

By JOSEPH GLADSTONE

LONDON (WPS)—Every now and again some domestic situation shocks the British nation to its core. The last great scandal was the Profumo case, which rocked the Conservative government and cost it the general election. Now the British conscience has been aroused by another scandal. This time it is the rackets in renting and the brutalities of a number of London landlords.

"LANDLORDS WHO LIVE ON FEAR," headlined one daily paper here. But this was no newspaper scare; it was an official, thick, government report from a committee appointed by the former Tory government.

The report revealed brutal truths about rented houses, flats and rooms in London, and the effect of rent control on them.

Since a dwelling becomes decontrolled when tenants move from it, some landlords have been using every kind of "persuasion" to force their tenants to leave—so they could force up the rent to the next tenants.

In London alone, 10,000 tenants have been subjected to intimidation of a kind that most British had no idea existed: itching powder sprinkled on a mattress; a dead rat planted in a pile of garbage on a bedroom floor; a snake in a bathtub; jukeboxes playng night and day outside bedrooms.

Some tenants have been knifed—one woman landlord is in jail for such an attack, at the moment—and others have been threatened with murder.

A West Indian took his wife to a hospital to have her second baby and returned to find two rented rooms without their furniture. The landlord had removed the bed and flung the bedding into the garden.

Another landlord—this one a West African—tried to force a family from three rooms (rented unfurnished) where they had lived for 27 years.

He removed the lavatory chain, took slates off the roof to let in the abundant English rain, removed their carpets, blocked the coal cellar. Though he was taken to court and threatened with jail he continued his abuses to get rid of the family.

In another case, a 65-year-old widow was found wandering and destitute after the threats of her Greek - Cypriot landlord had driven her from her rented room.

Such shocking conditions the British are accustomed to read about from less developed countries—and to read with a feeling of gentle smugness that such things have long since disappeared from Britain. Yet some 190,000 people are affected in London alone. And members of Parliament say that similar conditions may well exist in some of the great provincial urban complexes where other millions live.

The bewildering thing to most people here is how such a situation could have developed when Britain has built more than five million new houses since World War II.

The trouble is that rented accommodations have been shrinking all the while—due in large measure to rent controls which wrecked traditional British liking for "bricks and mortar" as investment.

The main victims of the rent rackets have been young couples, old people living on small pensions, and colored immigrants.

The immigrants, crowded into high - rent houses, have been particularly exploited. And as often as not, the exploiters have been their own fellow countrymen.

As for houses built by the municipality, in large British cities these "housing lists" never grow any smaller, no matter how many new houses are built. Thousands of British families have been waiting for years for such houses. This is a factor in Britain's racial problem, for there is nothing that stirs up trouble among the phlegmatic British more than seeing immigrants getting houses while native Britishers must still wait for them.

On thing that shocked Housing Minister Richard Crossman, when he took office, was the discovery that his ministry seemed to know nothing about the rent rackets. Nor, apparently, did the municipalities.

In future a special "intelligence unit" in the ministry will keep watch on the need for and supply of rented accommodations.

Surest take-off with Marin's Best-Seller

Here in Marin County, successful retailers have proved time and time again that the broad, safe runway for sales success is in the advertising columns of the Independent-Journal.

This is where business gets off the ground. Not simply because the I-J "runway" is as long and broad as the county itself. The I-J gets to homes. But more important, it gets to PEOPLE. It brings the only effective ingredient which makes advertising pay—READERSHIP. With it, you communicate—on merchandise, values, price. Without it, you're merely buying space.

That's why, in planning your advertising (even planning to advertise), take a good hard look at advertising media. Buy it as you would merchandise for your store. Don't put your money on a guess, put it on the facts. And the facts are these:

Marin people look at the ads in the I-J more than in any other publication. They spend more time with the I-J than with any other newspaper in shopping the ads. They turn to the I-J, more than to any other newspaper, for retail and clothing store ads. They rely upon it for food advertising. And they find that the I-J "most often has useful ads." Source: Field Research Company Study.

This "getting through" to people is the TRUE MEANING OF CIRCULATION . . . and the reason why retailers have found the Independent-Journal more productive than any other medium or combination of media in Marin.

These are the facts of retail life in Marin County. No throwaway publication can produce this kind of readership. (If it could, it wouldn't be a throwaway—people would pay for it). Neither can any other newspaper. For the I-J is MARIN'S NEWSPAPER, wanted and subscribed to by most families in the county. And read, like the best-seller it is, from cover to cover.

If you'd like to come up to your sales potential, talk to our advertising people. Put Marin's best-selling newspaper to work and get some answers. The kind you can take to the bank.

Corte Madera Man Is Decorated Again

Army Capt. Charles R. Kottich of 711 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, has been awarded his second Bronze Star for service in Viet Nam where he served as an advisor to a Vietnamese Ranger battalion.

Now a staff officer with headquarters of the Sixth Army Maneuver Division at the Presidio of San Francisco, Kottich earned the medal when the unit encountered Viet Kong forces in a "search and destroy" operation on March 17, 1964.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Julie Harris Great In 'Holy Terror'

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —"The Holy Terror," an original NBC-TV drama in which Julie Harris starred last night as Florence Nightingale, was a unique production. It had a beginning, a middle and an end. And it suggested, right out in the open, that courage, risk and nerve are not only admirable but also invigorating—and that a rebel can actually have a positive approach.

Those people on the "Hallmark Hall of Fame," which put on last night's 90-minute teleplay by James Lee, never seem to learn. They keep putting on shows about people like Thomas Jefferson and Oliver Wendell Holmes and Florence Nightingale when all the time they could be offering inspiring works about bums, junkies, anti-heroes and misunderstood teen-agers. What is the matter with the "Hall of Fame?"

"The Holy Terror" was a meticulous production of a sound, though essentially episodic, story, and the acting was absolutely tops. I must say I still enjoyed Miss Harris the most in "I Am A Camera," as the dazzlingly gay and sad Sally Bowles in pre-World War II Berlin, but there is no denying she is pretty fine at whatever she attempts.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Vice President Humphrey will take to television to help sell the administration's "See The U.S.A." suggestion, which is aimed at keeping more dollars in the country ... He will appear on NBC-TV's "Today" program next Wednesday to offer some reasons why the citizenry should tour America ... And he will also turn up on ABC-TV's "Issues and Answers" April 18 to talk along the same lines.

Expanded Office

The building and operations committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District recommended yesterday that plans and specifications be drawn up for expansion and alteration of the district administration building to provide more office space.

The committee recommendation, which will go to the district directors tomorrow, calls for: (1) expansion of the toll sergeant's office into space now occupied by tow truck operators, with part of the space to be reserved for the operators, and (2) an extension on the building's upper deck north of the board room to provide more general office space.

The committee also recommended that General Electric Co. be allowed to install, at no charge to the district, several of its new sodium roadway lights, which the company claims cost 84 per cent less to operate than the lights now used on the bridge.

The lights would be installed south of the toll plaza on an experimental basis.

Community Attitude Survey Results Due

If anyone was waiting to see how the results of a San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce community attitude survey might tip the scales in next week's municipal election, the answer is that they won't.

Results of the survey, made in January, will be available soon, according to Richard F. Cuthbert Jr., junior chamber secretary, but not before the Monday election.

Members of the junior chamber auxiliary, the Jaycettes, have found the tabulating task a big one. However, Cuthbert said yesterday, they have nearly finished the job. All that remains now, he said, is for them to compute the percentages of citizens who gave various answers to 38 questions on a questionnaire.

In Sickness, Health

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP) — Barber James Freeman gives his customers free tonsorial service when they are hospitalized. When his day's duties are done at the shop, he packs his tools and goes to the hospital

'Pilgrim's Progress' House Is Found

BEDFORD, England (AP) — An architect and an archaeologist say they have uncovered in a children's day nursery features of a medieval building they contend is the interpreter's house of John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress."

The building is believed to be the hard core of the original Hospital of St. John built here in the middle of the 14th Century. The original oak roof timbers of the main hall have been found hidden behind a ceiling — all in sound condition.

PROMOTED—Albert W. Winter of 1433 Cambridge Street, Novato, has been promoted to chief of the community relations branch, Headquarters, Sixth Army Information Office at the Presidio of San Francisco. For the past 13 years, he has been the director of publicity for the Sixth Army Recruiting District.

Marin 4-H Competitors For Field Day Announced

The 27 gold seal winners in Marin County's 4-H Field Day will compete in the regional field day in Davis May 8 against members from seven North California coastal counties. They are:

Tomales 4-H Club: Linda Zimmerman, Irlene Duncan, Kathy Eckenroad, Madelyn Angress, Debbie Nelson, Ronald Souza, William Jensen, Dan Erickson and James Erickson, Nicasio; Diane Dougan, Janice Lafranchi and Lisa Tomasini. Novato Aggie: David Budde, Marcy Eisenhauer, Cheri Fossum, Sherri Dimmick, Julieann Salmina and Regina Lowe. Novato Valley: Tina Crandell and Jean Thomas. Novato Jets: Kathy Heyman, Maureen Heyman, Mary Lee Schneeflock, and Leonard Rodriguez. Ross Valley: Janet Piombo. Novato Olompali: Sandy Henry. San Geronimo: Melinda Tarr.

Winners in the rural arts and recreation contest were the Novato Jets and San Rafael Community 4-H Clubs, and they also will compete in the regional event.

Mother Of Four Carries Mail

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—Mrs. Wanda Wood, mother of four, is Hobb's first woman mail carrier.

Mrs. Wood, whose husband works for a construction company, will be a substitute carrier for an undetermined period before becoming a full-time postal employee.

She walks 12 to 15 miles daily carrying a mailbag weighing as much as 35 pounds.

Mrs. Wood says, "I always wanted to work for the Post Office Department. My father was a railway postal clerk for 36 years.

Punishment Fits Fine

BELLEVUE, Ky. (AP)—Lewis Van Benschotin was panting heavily when he appeared in the county clerk's office to buy a 1965 auto tag—one day after the deadline.

Britain Working To Get Tourists

LONDON (AP) — Britain is aiming at getting four million tourists by 1970, says the British Travel Association's deputy chairman, Norman Wood.

In 1964 Britain had 2,500,000 tourists who brought in 330 million pounds ($924 million). Wood expected that 1970 tourists would spend 500 million pounds ($1,400 million).

County High School Art Work Display Set

An exhibition of more than 400 art works by Marin County public high school students will open Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Frances Young Gallery in the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

Art teachers at Novato, Redwood, Sir Francis Drake, Tamalpais, Terra Linda and San Rafael High Schools have each organized displays by their students. The show is being sponsored by Marin County Schools Office and the Marin Society of Artists.

The works selected for the exhibition include, paintings, prints, sculpture, ceramics, jewelry and other crafts. The show will run through April 25.

Truth Or Poetry?

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — There was either a misplaced letter or a lot of truth in this ad which a restaurant placed in a local paper: "Just a reminder—a book of our meal tickets makes an ideal girthday present."

Drill Proves To Be Surprise

1965 SPRING FASHIONS

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 8, 1965

SOPHISTICATED SILK

Victorian Tones To Spring Style

There's a slightly prim and proper feeling to the new spring fashions, and it's underscored by the Victorian and Edwardian mood of many of the latest accessories. It's all part of the feminine movement in fashion and it's all most flattering.

FABRICS such as airy crepes and basketweave wools are helping to create this softer look for spring, aided and abetted by such touches as trapunto detailing on coats, ruffles and bows on shirts, soft sectioning and shirring on dresses and the soft, drapey look of many new hats. If fashion for spring 1965 could be summed up in one word (which it couldn't) the best word to select would be soft.

To illustrate the variety to be found on the spring scene, coats are both shaped and skinny for spring—take your choice! Many of them feature hidden closings, new beltings and deep armholes. Wrap coats are an important new look, while above-the-ankle coats are making a spectacular appearance.

SUIT STYLES also vary, from the dirndl to the lean silhouette. Special interest is focused on the big little suit with its flared skirt, precision-shaped jacket and soft, ruffled shirt, with the 3-piece suit continuing to gain attention. Skirts are often fuller or gathered on a bias band, and topped with longer or hip-tipping jackets. Pantsuits echo the excitement over pants in a refined way by camouflaging them with a neat overskirt while the Mary Poppins suit typifies spring's prim and proper look at its most becoming.

Dresses for spring favor swinging pleats and go to extremes with either low belting or high skimmer styling. Enveloping collars and bulky loose jackets top many of the new designs and the popularity of the A-mod style reflects the Victorian influence on spring fashions in general. New, too, is the cape dress . . . another reflection of the same mood.

SPRING HATS are prettier than ever and more feminine than ever! The soft look is seen everywhere in turbans, or little hats with ostrich sweeps and tasseled caps. Brims are in evidence too, particularly in black leather swaggers. But the "small head" look prevails, often featuring back interest such as bows or drapes. Many hats have a tied-up kerchief effect and softer fabrics such as velvet, wool jersey or silk have come into their own.

In sportswear, everyone's jumping into stretch jumpsuits and of course, the big news is the pantskirt. Culottes have been citified and are seen not only in skirt form but also as culotte-dresses. Here the look is still snappy and young, mode and yeye, bringing the new English chic into prominence. Sometimes copying the English school boy, this look features delicate little detailings, miniature prints and foulards, longer jackets and swinging skirts, plus crisp white collars.

THE NEW UNITS for spring are featuring distinctive patterns and interesting textures: ridges, lacy looks, airy and open weaves, "smoke rings," crinkly stripes, accented diagonals, herringbones, and chenilles. Bootleggers, or up-to-the-knee stockings that are cuffed closed with shoe laces, provide new excitement, along with stretch nylons. Some hose feature over-the-knee garter tops . . . all are designed to make a woman feel more like a woman, and to make a man notice!

. . . DOTS WITH DASH . . .

Hathaway's Dacron® and cotton shirts are here

—as crisply unruffled as ever

ONE CLASSIC answer to the problem of keeping cool and crisp is a Hathaway drip-dry shirt. And for good reason.

Hathaway's famous blend of Dacron* polyester and cotton rarely needs ironing—and never goes limp and wrinkly like many a lesser drip-dry. It also washes in five minutes and dries overnight.

Now notice Hathaway's impeccable tailoring. It includes a soft, hand-turned, button-down collar. Sensibly long tails. And stitches so tiny you can scarcely see them.

Gossamerweight Is The Word

EXCEEDINGLY HANDSOME

Couture Specialties uses wool in a glowing melange of color, with a modicum of nylon for added stamina, for this handsome costume. The soft, silken charm of the coordinating blouse and the distinctive hand-painted buttons are both points worth noting. Available at The Emporium, Northgate Shopping Center.

Not since Eve in the Garden of Eden have women been so lightly clad as is the fair sex for spring 1965.

Not only is the American woman the lightest dressed, but also the coolest and shapeliest in outerwear and undercover garments created in the wispiest, sheerest and most comfortable fabrics ever.

Even the women in Cleopatra's era wore more clothing than does the discreetly-dressed woman of today. Despite the warm climate of the Nile valley, Egyptian ladies wore over ten pounds of clothing. Though tunics were light and filmy, they disguised metal girdles and the jeweled ornaments they wore were quite heavy too.

IN THE DAYS of Shakespeare, iron corsets were in fashion. To those ten pounds of torture, Elizabethan ladies added farthingales and heavily-ornamented gowns and cloaks for a total of about 55 pounds.

In the lush, plush Victorian days, the woman wore a mere 37 or so pounds of fashionable attire. Although her girdles were made of linen or cotton, reinforced with whalebone, it weighed about a pound. However, petticoats and dresses added up the poundage.

FOLLOWING World War I, woman's cultural and social status changed — as did her wardrobe.

Even when the flappers cast off her corsets but donned bosom flattering brassieres, her short-skirted dresses, "teddies" and other accoutrements were still in the light-heavyweight division.

But now, long-legged panty girdles weigh as little as an ounce. Cottons are as light and airy as tissue and even bosom-shaping contour bras use a new kind of fiberfill—so light that it floats on air—nor do they mat or shift.

PARIS COLLECTION—SPRING AND SUMMER

A fabric that Paris has taken to its heart is used by Jean Patou for an evening dress, at left, from the Celanese Paris Collection for spring 1965. It is midnight blue Celanese Arnel triacetate cloque crepe, soft and flowing. The decolletage is high in front, plunging low in the back. The skirt is cleverly cut to give the effect of a wrap around. Patous shows this with a water green Arnel satin coat—a dramatic color combination. Mme. Gres used the candlelight glow of soft pink Celanese Arnel triacetate for this princess evening dress, center, chosen for the Paris collection. The intricately shaped bodice has a decolletage edged with wing-like volants, the one in back above a deep trapeze cut-out to the waist. A bias band edges the hem, giving it a bell-like swinging silhouette. This soft gleaming look, so beautifully illustrated in this gown, is very much in the mood of Paris this spring. A favorite Paris fabric appears in the Gres collection in a sculptured evening coat of heavy lemon yellow, right. It is all line—a beautiful trapeze made supremely elegant by the fabulous fabric. Gres showed it over a softly draped Arnel evening gown—an exciting contrast in line and texture.

Chic Fashions Are Keyed To Activity

The chic young woman of today is a whirlwind of activity . . . be she career gal or young mother. And spring fashions are keyed to her busy pace, with clothes designed to follow the body in motion.

Great examples are the pleated skirts, flicking shortly over lacy legs that walk, dance or climb into cab or car with marvelous abandon and good looks; the disco dresses that tirelessly follow the figure; the comfortable trouser suits for active country weekends; and the pant-skirts that divide and conquer the most strenuous day.

THERE'S NO END to the many refreshing looks the individualist can achieve this spring with such great fashions as narrow blazers with wide stripings, hip-tipping jackets, little bags on short straps or chains, the narrowest little coats, and grosgrain ribbons flowing at the nape of the neck.

The "Mods", those young instigators of English chic, are setting an individualistic pace in sportswear with understated suits, coordinates and shifts, featuring round white collars. It's a look that is simple and distinctive.

Red, white and blue are another great young look as seen in bright navy trouser suits or red and white checked wool dresses for evening. Red and white hound's tooth is also popular, both in pants skirts and rain suits.

SWEATERS ARE SMALL, close to the body and numerous. This is the time to have a great collection, when there are so many styles to choose from. There are skinny little French ribbed ones, classic shapes in ravishing new shades, sissified styles with crocheted lace edges, red - white - and - blue, sweaters striped like T-shirts, parka-like styles that feature outsize zippers, the long-waisted sweaters and the lacy knits.

Plaids are running rampant this spring in coats, dresses and pants. In fact, they promise to be with us right on through fall and winter.

Aura Of Girlishness Seen In Flirty Looking Gloves

This year, it's a gay, young spring marked by prettiness and an aura of school girlishness. And to "hand" you a look that is as fresh as a new crocus are a bevy of bright and sprightly new gloves.

Short, snappy and sure to make a special exclamation point on the clothes they accompany are the pert little gloves that contrast snowy whiteness with the touch of shiny patent leather. In crisp double-woven cotton is the gay shortie that bands its wrist-high inverted V-shaped notch with a slick ribbon of leather.

OTHER "BRIEFERS" are frankly feminine with buttons, bows and embroidery adding a light and lovely touch. Ideal to partner with any of the pastel tints so smart this year are the nylon shorties, their backs completely spattered with eyelets in pink, blue, yellow or white. Another nylon glove, scooped to a gentle curve at the wrist, takes its eyelets as a border trim.

FUN-TOPS FLAVOR STRIPES

'Soft Look' Floats Into Shoe Scene

This spring, be a softy in pretty leather shoes. The "soft look" has floated onto the style scene and footwear fashions are leading the trend.

The soft look afoot means feathery leather textures, light 'n' bright colors and more romantic styling. Wearing these new shoes, you may feel like a lady or a femme fatale — but you'll definitely feel "all-female".

The shaping of the simple leather pump for spring is lower-cut at sides and front and set on a variety of low and mid-sleek silhouette are such fashion points as open shanks, flat buckles or bows and stripping effects across the vamp. Among the many surface treatments are stunning smooth and suede leathers, genuine patent leather, subtle grained and crushed leathers and casual brushed and waxy leathers. Friction-free leather linings eliminate discomfort and stocking snags.

Returning on the new wave of romanticism are the slingback and the strap sandal. These footwear favorites may be worn daytime or evening, depending on leather texture, heel height and styling detail.

Straps range from skinny to wide, from T-strap to mid-vamp strip. Slings may be completely open or feature a narrow leather backpost. Sturdy leather soles provide the foot support and balance so essential to a lithe, feminine walk.

Leather casuals, too, have gone quietly elegant. New waxy leathers, with a rich finish that retains all the natural shadings, are seen in smart little-heel sandals with a hand-crafted look. Both subtle variations on the moccasin theme and graceful walking shoes are interpreted in waxy leather.

Shopper Should Know What To Look For In Buying Skins

Since, however, the alligator is a valuable skin, rare enough to make a purchase of a handbag quite a handsome investment—the shopper should know what to look for before buying.

According to one of Chicago's leading jewelers and connoisseurs of fine accessories, it is important to be able to identify the value of hides, frames, linings, finish, etc.

The only difference between a crocodile and an alligator is in the mouth structure, and not in the skins at all.

MOST AMERICAN designers prefer skins from our domestic swamps. The crocodile is more at home in Asia, Africa and Australia.

The choicest skins come from Florida, Louisiana and Mexico. South American alligators ruin their undersides by crawling on sharp rocks near riverbeds and also form callouses where the choicest skins are located.

The French finish found on fine alligator handbags adds to the expense of the skins. American manufacturers send their raw 'gator skins to France for special tanning and then they're shipped back.

Another factor that makes these skins so high priced is the fact that all countries restrict the killing of the giant reptiles, resulting in greater demand and limited supplies.

A "TWO SKIN" bag is usually the finest—it uses the best part of two choice underside skins to create matching sides of the handbag.

Check the insides of the bag also; fine bags are usually lined with calfskin and include an open pocket, closed pocket and zipper compartment. The frame, whether self covered or enamel finished, should have deep sides for a conveniently wide opening.

FOR THE BASIC alligator handbag in your wardrobe, choose it in black or brown. But honey tones, reds, greens, and pastel shades also brighten the fashion scene.

Because the alligator handbag represents a wise investment, look at enough styles and designs to get a proper perspective on the tailoring, size, shape and color which will give you the best in wear and fashion smartness.

A JAZZY COMBO

Fresh from Hart Schaffner & Marx are these three looks for the coming season. They were shown recently at a Chicago clothing convention. At left is a model with such forward-look style-marks as edge-stitched lapels and pockets, side vents and slanting flap pockets. The two-button model is illustrated. The soft shoulder look, center, has naturally styled shoulders, straight-hanging lines and dartless jacket expressed in a classic fabric. At right is the moderate but modern styling that's seen in the slim, trim lines of the two-button model. All at Schwartz, Inc. in San Rafael.

Men Go For Silk, Iridescent Effect

Therefore spring calls for a wardrobe that will befit the man's job, social and recreational activities.

For the office man or salesman, warm weather calls for business - going suits lightweight wools, mixtures and some of the more fabulous shape holding, crease-resistant man-made fibers.

MOST MEN can use three or four sport jackets in their warm weather wardrobes.

Plain and iridescent effects in silk and silk-like fabrics are favorites. Now new colors, stripes and plaids show up in seersucker, denim-like fabrics and heavy cotton blends. Colors are soft and blended rather than bold in these designs.

Linen and the look of linen are also popular; these come in patterns, plain and self-weave styles.

PASTEL SHADES and bright colors score in golf slacks and shorts.

For the summer days to come, shorts get the nod in seersuckers, linens, denim types, Madrases and other current fabric favorites.

The bold look returns to the sport shirt scene as do the perennially popular solid colors, plaids, stripes and novelty patterns.

The shirt that is a "jacket" is due for another big season and knits make news in all shirt styles.

SPEAKING OF KNITS, a lightweight sweater (or two) is a must for most men, especially for sportsmen.

For formal occasions, spring and summer call for cummerbunds, bow ties, and even formal shirts to complement the wide variety of formal wear available for the discriminating male.

BUNNY DRESSES

Young Styles Follow Grown-Up Designs

Young spring fashions are following grown-up designs with waistlines that move up or down or are camouflaged, and with dresses that look like suits. These feature important jackets that give them that costume look. Pastels such as blues and yellows are the colors favored for spring by little girls . . . little boys like the blazer look for spring dress-ups.

Young Juniors will be partying in long dresses this season . . . these new styles feature slim skirts and sleeveless bodices and are especially popular in white. Short dresses in brocade, chiffon and crepe are also popular party fashions. Jumpers are back on the scene again in wools, paired with matching silk or white blouses.

YOUNGSTERS will be sporting a nautical look at play this spring, as well as a surf look. Among the fashions set for a season of play are bunny dresses fashioned of snappy red calico; overalls in tablecloth checks; tennis dresses with matching rompers in white cotton knit, edged with polka dot binding; tweedy blue knit sailor sets.

Fabrics in young fashions are featuring a turn-of-the-century charm. Among these neat and proper fabrics are crisp ottoman in machine washable, crease resistant dacron polyester and cotton, cotton gingham checks that feature precise tucking, and cotton jacquards with openwork.

School jewelry is another important preference of the teen ager, and today's choices include a wide and interesting collection of pendants, bracelets, pins and rings.

LOOK OF ELEGANCE

The look of elegance for any important occasion can be yours with Bucilla's new metallic golden or silver brocade. Both pattern and yarn are available at The Yarn Nook, San Anselmo.

Sloppy Look Has Nothing Going For It

The beatnik look is gone, and good riddance. Even a poetic genius can ill afford to look sloppy, this spring.

Jonathan Swift once remarked that he had a friend who wore clothes as if they were thrown on with a pitchford.

Unless you're a member of that vanishing breed known as beatniks, a sloppy appearance has absolutely nothing going for it . . . and there's no future in it.

Good grooming and proper dress help create an impression for you and about you, even before you have an opportunity to speak. Indeed, your dress often says many things about you that you don't and can't.

Although there are definite guide lines for good dress, there is still ample latitude to express your own personal taste and preferences.

THE ESSENTIAL factor for any well-dressed man is that he choose a quality suit or sports ensemble which has been properly fitted. Men today have a choice of three varied "looks": natural shoulder, for the man who wants his styling classic and restrained; moderate, contemporary styling expressed with tasteful, slim lines; and advance fashion, for men who seek the newest and best of tomorrow's style ideas.

It's helpful to know some of the "do's" and "don'ts" in men's fashions. Here are a few:

JACKET — Make certain it covers you adequately in the rear. A jacket that's too long makes the garment look dated; one that's too short dates the garment, too . . . it looks like you've outgrown it. Judge jacket length on the basis of what looks good on you and for your proportions. However, note that some suit styles are supposed to be shorter than others.

TROUSERS — Here again, length is crucial. Too long or too short makes the wearer look considerably less than well dressed. Best rule-of-thumb is to let the trouser cuff just touch the shoe without an actual "break." You may prefer trousers slightly longer or shorter . . . it's all a matter of taste. Don't wear trousers that are too baggy. Today's trend is to trimness, but don't go to extremes. No well dressed man ever looked like he was ladled into his pants.

HATS—Hair may be a woman's crowning glory but for a man, it's a hat. It adds dignity, maturity and completes the well dressed look. There's no such thing as a man who doesn't look good in a hat. That man just hasn't been fitted with the proper hat for his build and the configuration of his head.

Check brim width, general hat style and how it relates to you . . . your head, shoulders, body. For square or round faces, better stick with a fuller crown and a slightly wider brim. In every instance make certain the hat comes well down on the head . . . it should never perch precariously on top of the head.

A half inch is a good general rule for the amount of shirt cuff to extend beyond the jacket, too. You may be bold and want to show more linen and cuff links.

TIES — Live a little. Use color. Don't be afraid to mix them in shirt and tie combinations. And don't be timid about mixing patterns . . . with taste of course. Nothing wrong with a striped tie on a striped shirt . . . provided they're the right stripes.

LADY SLIPPER

And away you go in one of fashion's most talked about heel heights. Side opened pump in honey tan calf and softest kafalope. By Palizzio. Handbag of matching color. Available at Netboy Shoe Salon, San Rafael.

Soda-Sippers' Society Sets Pace With Stretch Playtogs

For the playpen crowd, the sandpile set and the soda-sippers' society come wonderfully gay, easy-care playwear in an exciting array of stretch fabrics.

As many as 58 types of stretch fabrics are being used to fashion versatile coordinated play-time togs for infants, toddlers and subteens.

Notable stretch fabrics for the new season are stretch nylon denims, a soft knit cotton-nylon stretch terry cloth and an almost uncountable variety of stretch knits in novelty textures and patterns.

IN PLAYWEAR, beachwear and casual togs, these stretch fabrics shape-up in bathing suits for toddlers and their somewhat older brothers and sisters; in shift dresses, shift sets; tennis dresses and bountiful showings of mix or match coordinates of all kinds.

Boys, particularly, will enjoy outfits that include zipper front parkas, polo shirts, shorts and shirt sets, deck pants (favored in stretch ducks or denims). Boys will also go for a new line of stretch fabric underwear and pajamas.

THE GIRLS WILL like natty and nautical looking middy-type shirts, all types of shifts, and other coordinates to ensemble in polka dot, striped and solid color stretch knits.

Scarves With Bangs Attached New Look For Spring Heads

New for the head are scarves with bangs attached. The triangular scarves come in five solid shades — black, white, beige, French blue and hot pink. The bangs are in three shades — blonde, brunette and red — and are set by a beautician so that the wearer can comb, cut and shape to her own taste and style. The bangs are washable, can be dry cleaned and the maker, said they also are mothproof, non-allergenic and flameproof. Since the colors are interchangeable, a girl can wear red bangs with a black scarf, brunette bangs with a pink scarf.

Color Me Wonderful

Half a century back, Henry Ford made a classic comment on color choice. He said, "You can buy any color Ford you want, as long as it's black."

Nearly every purchase the modern woman makes involves a color choice ranging from an automobile down to a small utensil or the paint for the exterior of her home.

In fact, to many women, this cornucopia of color is too overwhelming to manage. So many color decisions are required to harmonize and fraternize with hues and shades already in the home, is it any wonder that many women are inclined to hit clinkers again and again. For proof, open the average female closet.

EVEN THE MOST fastidious homemaker has dresses she never wears, unfinished lipstick she won't use or a pillow, a painting, table linens, vases, shoes, or a bathing suit all tucked out of sight . . . and the majority of these are not being used because of mistakes in color.

Errors increase as number of color choices increase and unfortunately, many poor choices aren't easily hidden. For example, the wrong color on the walls can be depressing or the wrong color upholstery repelling. Why psychologists say the wrong color can even ruin appetites.

FORTUNATELY, HOWEVER, this problem need no longer vex the busy homemaker. The inescapable rainbow has been harnessed by a classically simple plan called the color key. This system enables a woman to choose harmonizing colors that complement both her own coloring and existing decor.

Based on the fact that every person is classified into one of two color spectrums, the color key dictionary presents 300 swatches for use as an on-the-spot shopping guide.

Key number one tends toward a blue cast as opposed to the yellow cast of key number two.

SUPPOSING A woman with key number one decided to paint her living room walls green, but wanted to use blues in her room furnishings. Color key would solve her problem, for no matter what green she chose if she stuck to the blues in her category, they would be sure to harmonize with the green in every instance.

Floral Accessories Add Dash Of Charm

As far back as ancient Greece, flowers have been worn to accent ladies' fashions. The Greeks adorned themselves with garlands, and women ever since have been wise to the romantic effect of flowers. Empress Josephine of France selected the rose as her official flower, and bouquets played a courtly role in the reign of Louis XIV.

In spring of 1965, flowers are still delighting viewers and smart gals are still wearing them to compliment their fashions. This season's new styles lend themselves especially well to floral accessories; their look is young and vital, their effect like a breath of fresh air.

A round collar looks even more charming, for instance, when pinned with miniature carnations in a soft spring shade. And high-standing pockets on suits or blazers take on new freshness with a trio of yellow daisies tucked inside.

GOING PLACES!

This is the look that's going places. Flat rounder toe, high straight sides, U-throat, new open detail and low slung heel. It's so light, cushioned-soft and easy fitting. Blazer, a Cobbie by the makers of Red Cross shoes. At Kramar's Shoes, Corte Madera Center.

S(C)ANDALOUS

Color, Clarity, Cut And Caret Important Factors In Diamonds

SPRING IS a time of courtship and engagements and dazzling friends and family with that tell-tale ring. Because this is a popular season for engagements, the Jewelry Industry Council has offered some practical suggestions on purchasing a diamond.

Care should be exercised in selecting this most romantic of gifts and the aid of a reliable jeweler should be obtained. It can offer expert advice and help by explaining the qualities that determine the value of a diamond and can also assist in choosing the most flattering setting in any price bracket.

THE DIAMOND solitaire is still the favorite choice for an engagement ring, with the brilliant cut leading in popularity. Other cuts include the marquise, pear, emerald, square and oval. Whatever its cut, the solitaire need not be a large stone in order to have brilliance and beauty.

The Council lists what it calls the 4 C's . . . color, clarity, cut and carat . . . as the important factors in selecting a diamond.

"Color" in a diamond is a delicate distinction; a faint shade or tone can make a world of difference. Diamonds have been found in varying colors, from colorless white to deep yellow, brown, blue and even black. The finest commercial diamonds resemble a crystal clear drop of water.

"Clarity" describes a diamond's freedom from imperfections such as spots of carbon, internal cracks or tiny bubbles. Nothing in nature is perfect and the diamond is, after all, a product of nature.

THE SMALLER the flaws in a diamond, and the fewer there are, however, the greater the value. For commercial purposes a diamond which shows no flaws to an expert eye under a 10 power jeweler's magnifying glass may be advertised legally as "perfect" or "flawless."

Sassy Straps For Sub-Teens

For hop-scotch, rope jumping or party-going, a-foot this spring for little girls are gay, colorful lightweight leather shoes with a more-opened look than in the season past.

Most important from the juvenile point of view is the lighter look and the great variety of lively leather textures available.

THE LOVE AFFAIR between sub-teen girls and sporty saddle oxfords or moccasins continues. New for '65 saddle oxfords combine dazzling white patent leather and colored patent inserts. Suede leather saddle shoes are tops, too.

The moccasin is most popular this spring in glove leather and a new waxed leather in natural tan or brassy tones. Pliant leather soles, somewhat extended beyond the moccasin's sink silhouette, frame the shoe even as they give wanted support to the foot.

For everyday wear, the leather oxford takes on a new image in combinations of two textures of leather. An appliqued effect or cutouts displays the second color or leather as highlight.

PARTY TIME SHOES will surely thrill every little miss. Yellow, coral, bright red, as well as black and white shoes dazzle the scene in smooth leathers or gleaming patents, in trim sling sandals or shell pump styles.

Straps, small bows, neat appliques, cut-out designs or nail head trims help give little girls' shose a very grown-up look.

Like the lassies, boys like to follow the fashion lead set by elder brothers and their dads. This spring, the fashion byword with fashion-conscious boys is —brogues.

In grained and smooth leather, brogues are top scorers with the young set and their leather oxfords and slip ons take on "broguey" styling, too. Ruggedly good-looking but light weight, these shoes are the perfect all-around wear footgear.

Perforations, pinking and wing tips add style to shoes for pre-teen young men in solid masculine brogues. Junior's oxfords and slip-ons repeat the same smart fashion detailing found in the true brogue.

The hand-sewn leather moccasin is as popular with the boys as with the girls. For dress-up, the young man will step out in sleek slip-ons of smooth or grained leather and sometimes in shoes that combine them both.

TRIM FASHION touches for swinging young fellows are visible side gores, monk strap detailing or side closings. Deep and medium browns, alpine tans, and of course, black, are favored colors.

For boy and girl, the shoe showings for spring indicate smart, high stepping.

Refreshing new styles for school include: grained leather strap pumps, pale glove-leather mocs and pinhole perforated trim and brushed leather booties with split throatlines. Spring's leather boots are light and feminine and compliment pretty textured stockings.

IN THE GREAT TRADITION

CLASSIC LOOK OF SPRING

Tweeds and Weeds of Kentfield offers the smooth line of this Sloat dress in white Irish linen worn by Mrs. Les Vogel Jr., from its spring selection. The dress features simple pockets and tie belt. The semi-fitted look makes any spring occasion a success.

IN MALE FOOTGEAR

Moccasins Are Sneaking To The Fore

At ease, men. It's goodbye to foot care and forward march into a relaxing spring with new lightweight leather casuals and dress shoes.

Today's men's apparel story is one of lightness in weight, in color and in styling. Following this lead, men's footwear has a wonderfully soft and easy-going look, whether in smooth, waxy, grained or brushed leathers.

Leading style favorites in the new trend, reports Shoe Fashion Service, are the leather moccasin and its many variations; leather boots, slipons and kilties. For dressier occasions, leather brogues, oxfords and dress slipons will be in evidence.

Your feet are care free in these easy walking spring styles. This buoyant feeling springs not only from the shoes' fashionably relaxed lines, but from the supple leather uppers, the flexible leather soles and the natural porosity of the leather.

THE TRIM, up-dated version of the leather brogue continues to hold its own as a favorite dress shoe. While medium weight leather soles, fine grains and slimmer lines generally have lightened the brogue's heft and appearance, traditional perforations, pinking effects and five and six eyelet ties carry through its classic masculine character.

Another dress favorite is the leather oxford, with a host of styling features to make for individuality. Moccasin toes with closed seam effects, wing tips and hand stitching details are some of the fashion touches bringing a look of variety to the oxford.

CONTINUING in popularity this spring are polished leather dress slipons with plain toes or wing tips. Many feature hidden side gores for a smoother look and closer fit.

You'll be at leisure in leather when your off hours find you unwinding in a pair of new spring casuals. Soft as a spaniel's ear are the hand sewn moccasins in waxy natural leathers or glossy smooth leathers, set on lightweight leather soles.

Spring's leather slipons styled for casual wear, have sleek simple lines. Occasional strap treatments are seen, such as the slotted strap or the half strap and buckle. Leather mocs and slipons are fashion right with males of all ages, from grade schoolers to grandpas.

Tough, but oh so gentle, are brushed leather casuals. Particularly good looking in ties and chukkas, brushed leather stands up to punishing wear without losing its smart appearance.

The high riser takes to the sporting life — usually as a slipon with side goring or a one to three eyelet tie. Something considerable less than a boot but more than a shoe, the ankle clearing high riser appears in all types of leather — smooth, grained, waxy and brushed leathers.

Purses Feature Pleats And Tucks

Handbags have taken a cue from the new faminine fashions and are favoring soft, mellow leathers, suedes and reptiles in newer smaller shapes. Many bags feature fine little dressmaker pleats and tucks, and are reminiscent of the twenties. Shoulder bags continue in popularity, while others are dangled on short straps or chains. Often bags have both, for versatility and double duty.

Leather Dress Is Devastating Be It Full, Wide Or Shift-Y

With the latest leather fashions showing a new delicacy of line, spring will be dressed for romance this year.

Suit yourself with leather this spring. In lightweight suede and smooth leathers, stunning two and three-piece ensembles are tailored to enhance the wearer. Pastel suede blazer jackets bound in smooth team with matching slim skirts. Double-breasted suits in leather come with their own leather scarves to tie or tuck in at the throat. Pretty leather-and-silk combinations are available — case in point: a raw silk blouse with leather skirt and a leather vest trimmed with silk applique.

Spring coats in exciting leathers and textures and a full range of colors offer a variety of silhouettes—fitted arrow-straight or A-line. Mostly full-length, these elegant leather coats feature many individual touches, such as unusual buttons, contrasting leather piping or binding, self-ties or sashes and varied neckline treatments.

Whether softly flared, empire or shift-y, the leather dress is quietly devastating in delicate shades of coral, pistachio or sand. The versatile two-piece leather dress can be seen with slim, A-line or draped skirt and fitted or cropped top.

Leather separates accomplish wonders in the wardrobe-stretching department. Easy jackets in buttery suede and supple grained leathers in straight-cut or semi-fitted styles. Other smart leather separates include overblouses, skirts, dresses, jumpers and pants.

SPEEDY STYLIST

Designer Custom Fits With Muslin

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A need to put down family roots may seem an odd reason for starting a dress shop, but that was the reason Wanda Fudge started her Dolphin Fashions Original Apparel salon on the Sausalito waterfront.

THE WIFE OF LT. Cmdr. David A. Fudge, navigator on the U.S.S. Stonewall Jackson, a Polaris submarine now stationed at Guam, she has been traveling around the world with him for 10 years.

She especially felt the need for roots because of their two children, Diana, 10, and David, 7.

ONE DAY while she was visiting in Sausalito she discovered that two fascinating old frame buildings were for rent right on Bridgeway opposite Sausalito's sea wall and Tiffany beach, affording a spectacular view of San Francisco.

What a wonderful spot, she thought, for a unique dress shop in one of these buildings that could be the first unit of what might eventually become a fashion center.

A dress designer before her marriage, she had the necessary training and experience and had continued making wardrobes for her friends after she was married.

Late in December, 1964, she opened her shop at 581 Bridgeway in one of the famous sister buildings, which were the first two homes built about 1850 on the street when it was little more than a cow path.

SOON THEREAFTER she persuaded her friend, Lydie Cappe, a young French woman trained in European methods under Antoine in Paris, to open in the other building at 579 a boutique specializing in skin consultation, facials and the various arts of makeup.

Decor of both salons is in 18th Century antiques in keeping with the age and architecture of the buildings and the character of the street, which is an antiques center.

Not long after she opened her shop Wanda started her Wednesday fashion shows during the luncheon period from 12 to 3 p.m. at the Alta Mira Hotel with three of her friends serving as models.

They are Pat Nicholson, wife of the commanding officer of the Stonewall Jackson; Barbara Kniss, wife of the executive officer on the same submarine; and Margaret Ledick, wife of the commanding officer of the U.S.S. Kamehameha, another Polaris submarine.

FOR WANDA, dress making has been a lifelong interest and occupation. She has been sewing ever since she was in the third grade. She designed and created all of the costumes for the high school, junior college and little theater plays in Santa Ana, California, and made all of her own clothes, even lingerie to match her dresses.

She has never bought a thing for herself since.

"My basic philosophy," she says, "is that women should be dressed to look like women, which is not always as easy as it sounds.

"I believe in simple elegance with emphasis on fabric for afternoon and evening dresses, with something more dashing for sports wear and dramatic for

THIS IS THE kind of simple sheath, in the same Dior red, that will go well with her high style satin and feather hat, Wanda Fudge tells her friend, Barbara Kniss, who is wearing a "tape measure muslin." The designer makes muslins up in all of her patterns in sizes from 8 to 16. The customer slips on a style she has chosen and in a few minutes the designer has exact measurements which enable her to make up the dress without a single fitting.

FABIANI PRESENTS—

Fabiani of Italy creates this pattern for Vogue's spring collection. The coat has away-from-the-neck collar and pockets in side front seams. Kimono in front, raglan in back with sleeves eased into band cuffs. Available at the Nimble Thimble Shop, Mill Valley.

Furs Still Retain Aura Of Opulence

What with tweed going to the opera and denim dining by candlelight, it's only natural that furs should undergo a change of pace this season.

GONE ARE THE days when furs were obvious symbols of extravagance—today they are able to go more places with less formality than ever before, rivaling the infinite variety of cloth coats for dawn to dark, urban to suburban wearability. Today's furs are young, vital.

Noteworthy among the new furs are soft, supple Persian lambs in natural pales, jet black and new color mutations, and sleek, ebony Persian broadtail lamb with its polished, satiny surface.

BECAUSE Persian lamb has not been used extensively in the past, when furs were designed to look lavish, it is emerging as an important fur now that restraint is the prime factor.

Designer's Fitting System Achieves Record For Speed

hostess apparel. The latter stems from my experience in costuming plays.

"There is no reason why a really good dress with careful attention to detail and construction should not last 10 years.

"I stock some competitively priced ready-to-wear sports outfits and hostess clothes, but everything else — dresses, coats and suits — is custom made."

HALLMARKS WITH the designer are certain types of ornament, such as fringe, beading and three-dimensional flowers appliqued to hems and sides of skirts on fun clothes.

With this work she is helped by her children, both of whom sew, cut out the flowers and do beading.

One of the explanations is a most interesting device she uses. She makes up various dress patterns in sizes from 8 to 16 in muslin with tape measures sewn right on them.

The customer selects her fabric, slips into a muslin of her choice, and in a few minutes Wanda has exact measurements. She can then make up the order within 48 hours without even one fitting.

SINCE SAUSALITO is a town beloved by tourists, this is a great advantage, for the garment can be mailed.

She achieved what must be a record for speed when she made a wedding gown for a girl to replace one lost by the store at the last minute.

Told of the disaster at 4:45 p.m. Saturday, Wanda had the new dress ready by 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

DELIGHTED, THE customer thought she was such a miracle woman that she asked if she could make her going-away outfit before the wedding, which was at 4 o'clock that afternoon!

Shoes Going Romantic With Jeweled Buckles, Flat Bows

Shoe-happy show-offs can display delicate T-strap flats in fine grained leather multi-colored suede kiltie sling-backs and smooth leather pumps in bright colors with discreet buckles or bows. These leather lovelies cradle the foot comfortably and boast flexible leather soles for needed support and protection.

GOING ALL OUT for the romantic look are leather dress shoes for those red-letter dances and dates. Sling-backs and stripping sandals are devastating in refined smooth and lustre leathers, kitten soft suede, sleek patent leather and very fine grained leathers. Leather pumps cut low at sides or front, or opened up at the sides, are sometimes adorned with old fashioned jeweled buckles or large flat bows.

One of the six best surfers in the world, Mickey Munoz, models a wide-band competition stripe jacket and surfing baggies featured at the new Hang-Ten Surf Shop in the Marcus Shop, San Rafael. These authentic Hang-Ten stylings worn by the experts are rugged two-ply nylon. Competition stripe "T" shirts and sport shirts are also featured in the new shop.

Collars And Ties Wider This Spring

The reason men no longer possess the fashionable elegance they once displayed is most likely due to our species, according to a well known men's wear designer.

HE POINTS OUT that Nature's plan calls for the male to be more resplendent in the various species of animals, but the human animal has reversed the scheme so that the male now shows up as a pretty dull bird.

The male is allowed a short period of flambuoyance when he is adorned with cowboy and Indian suits, but once the colorful age is past, his mother "lowers the boom," the designer comments.

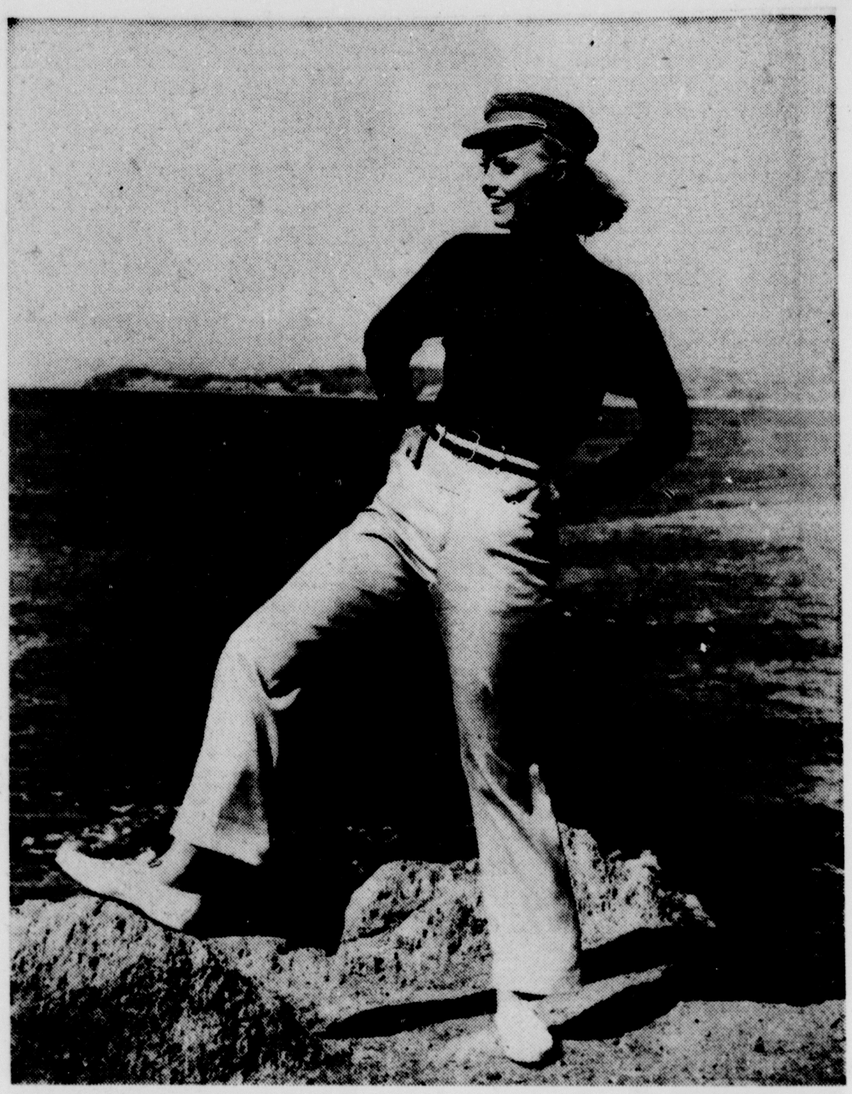
She informs him that he is not supposed to be preoccupied with clothes and thus he is made to feel that it is sissified to care about them. The logical outcome which follows is that he subdues his inherent instinct for bright apparel.

THIS DESIGNER suggests that men aim to reverse this handicap. He advocates that, " . . . men should throw off dull shackles." He encourages men to develop their own fashion education, then select and buy what they like and feel comfortable in.

Platinum Blonde To Return In Harlow Look This Summer

Watch for the return of the Platinum Blonde via the Harlow look . . . but not until summer or early fall. Spring's look in coiffures introduces my lady's "Gentled Oval" . . . elegantly feminine.

This look is echoed in clothes for spring. Loose fashions with a gentle feminity blossoming forth in pale shades of apricot, beige, pale greens, bold black and white polka dots. Sirenish total effects of black or white creating magic all on their own. Last season's bulky fabrics have tamed down to lightweight, flatter textures.



CALLING ALL FIRST MATES

Stan's Apparel for Sports in San Rafael features the new "Deck Trou" sailing pant for the girls this spring. Though it may look like a Ginger Rogers outfit in an MGM musical circa 1936, it's authentic White Stag for 1965. Topped off with a Nordic dinghy cap it makes for the most attractive sea-going gals in Marin.

Light And Lacy-Textured Is Spring's 'Leggy Look'

Light, lacy-textured and lovely are the adjectives for the new "leggy look" for spring. Highlighting the fashion picture are the knee-highs and over-the knees styles.

Since light is right for spring, the over-the-knees take on an airy feeling. Meant to partner with low-heeled cut-out shoes and pale-tinted woolens, they are completely at home on city streets, but have the plus potential of turning up as underpinning to a country-bound ensemble or traveling in style due to their hardy manners. One over-the-knee, in a wide-open fishnet mesh that might almost have been crocheted, literally bares the legs in a peek-a-boo manner behind its texture.

ANOTHER RUNS a narrow vertical ribbing from top-to-toe in a faint open-mesh motif, while a third acquires a lacy textured look via a small self-diamond pattern. Light in color as well as texture, these casual stockings barely tint the legs when worn in the palest of pastels, can also be marvelous fashion sparkling in cool bright white.

"Baring the knee" beneath the skirts of urban outfits and their partnership in casual elegance has resulted in the smartest knee-highs this side of Easter. Lest school and college lassies feel left out, the socks will be as right on campus as they are with the pleats and blazers destined to be an urbanite's daytime uniform for the current spring.

SNAPPY AS a midshipman's salute is the soft knee sock that shows its fashion stripes with a single broad band of contrasting color down each side. Cotton combined with stretch nylon turns into a wonderfully tweedy look in the knee-high called Raffia that mixes white with bright, then knits them together into wide vertical ribbing. And like its over-the-knee sister is the knee-high in an open-air mesh that comes in such vivid shades as red or blazer—navy as well as in the powdered pastels.

PAGES FROM THE PAST

TWO NOTABLE JEWELRY TRENDS -THE VERY STRONG OR DAINTY

There are two notable trends in fashion jewelry this season: the very bold, strong and colorful and the conservative, dainty and delicate.

The gold look continues very strong. Charming and excitingly smart effects are created by the combination of a bright polished finish with the matt, brushed or Florentine.

NECKLACES ARE long or short. The long ones are swinging, dashing flashes of colored stones and crystals, many with huge, round, octagon or circle pendants of the same stones. An assortment of these coordinated necklaces add a dramatic touch to spring dresses and suits. The shorter necklaces are closer to the choker length and feature dominant center groupings for the "fill-in" neckline.

BRACELETS ARE prominent this spring, especially because of the sleeveless dresses. Very popular are the thin bangle bracelets — five or six of which are worn together — as well as the wide, almost cuff-like bangle bracelet.

For ALL The Men In Your Life—

To help alleviate the problem of what to give the men in your life at Easter, Father's Day or graduation, consider these timely suggestions together with tips on how to key your purchase to his personal tastes from the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear.

NECKTIES ARE a good old standby provided they're his favorite types. If he is a contemporary style dresser give him grenadines, satins and imaginative woven patterns. Traditionalists favor reps, foulards in paisley prints, neat all-over designs and colorful wool challis.

Both dress and sport shirts are always a welcome gift. Again cue them to the styles he wears and you can't go wrong.

Ascots, those neat silk, cotton or synthetic fiber scarfs worn under sport shirts are zooming in popularity.

TO ADD A BIT of dash to his business and casual outfits give him some handsome foulard pocket squares.

Lightweight sweaters such as V-neck pullovers, cardigans and sweater vests will serve him all through the spring and summer. There are attractive cashmeres, lambs wools, mohairs, shetlands and alpacas to choose from.

Many men never have enough cuff links, tie clasps, tie tacs and collor pins and if you wish to go all out, they are available with precious stones and precious metals.

And in the boutique department, there are such delights as decanters, shoe polisher, jewelry boxes and bar accessories.

ALL MEN appreciate fine leather goods. So please your man with a fine wallet, pocket secretary or belt.

With all these to choose from, gift giving need not be a problem after all.

LEADING THE PARADE

A linen-look "Serrano" ensemble for a young fashion plate is destined to lead the Easter parade. The perfect Easter and after colors prevail with a sun yellow coat topping a sleeveless long-torso dress, white with yellow trim and applique. By Linda Lo at Kaufman's, San Anselmo.

Soft, Delicate Styles Set Pace For Spring

Gone are the days when a career woman's fashions strive to emulate the male. This spring's designs are feminine and appealing in spite of the fact that they are geared to active lives.

SPRING SILHOUETTES are soft and fluid. There is no rigid tailoring and obvious seaming. Textures are smoother and flatter . . . fabrics are refined and understated.

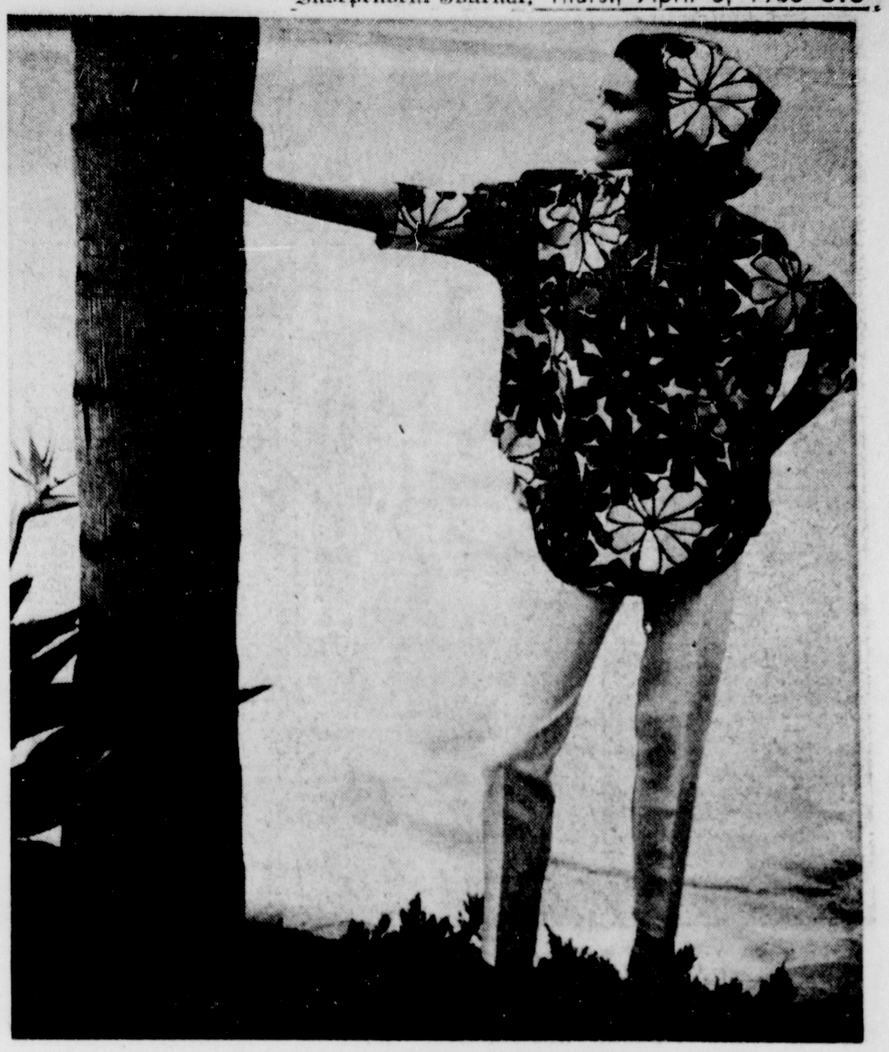
Tender, delicate tones form the backdrop in the spring garden of fashion, with tearoses, gentle greens, marigolds, sweet peas, delphiniums and the varied shades of pebbles and earth. As in every verdant setting, there is a peppering of vibrant colors too with bold pungent orange, red and vivid turquoise entering the scene and trailing along is the every fashionable black and white.

EMPHASIS HAS been placed on the complete ensemble in the new career woman look, with the mating game being played in a hundred different ways. Trims of suits are coordinated with coats and blouses are keyed to linings. Ensemble color combinations are refreshing with pale-toned coats of chalk, blue or pink over suits of new rich, deep navy or cool black.

Suit jackets are longer officially but for those who look best in shorter jackets and know it . . . there are many hip-level styles.

Skirts are supple, with soft gathers and many feature pockets or belts. Pleats appear . . . but without fanfare. They do not flutter all over the place as heretofore, but are a subtle part of the flattering Spring '65 image.

PATTERNS ONCE considered "clashing" are now called "dashing," according to the National Board of the Coat and Suit Industry. They state that it is currently fashionable to combine a checked or even polka dot blouse with a pin-striped suit. Pin stripes or herringbone weaves are often used in the round as well as up and down in the same suit this season.



SIZZLING COLORS

Swinging brightly into spring and summer is this cotton, flower printed poncho in sizzling shades with matching Bikini scarf. Skinny cotton Capris in blooming flower box colors complete the ensemble. At Roos/Atkins, Northgate Shopping Center.

Half The Fun Of Big Parties Is Preparing Dress, Makeup

If you've been invited to a big party this Spring holiday season, getting ready for it can be half the fun because the fashion forecasts are all fresh, young and swinging.

Organize your plans for what to wear a few weeks in advance, so there'll be time for alterations, mending and shopping details. Decide on a dress first, then build an ensemble around it, coordinating your accessories.

ABOUT YOUR DRESS: experiment with the whipped-creamy pastel shades, skinny disco dresses, wedding cake-tiered ones or some with ruffled accents. If you think a long gown may be appropriate, try that, too.

Then, take an honest, hard look in the shop mirror and let fashion guide—not mislead—you to select the dress that reflects your most flattering image. A word of caution about its hemline: the short, short skirts look best on girls with long, slender legs—so take it from there.

WHILE YOU'RE still in the launching stages, be careful that you don't get so carried away with the project of dressing-up that you neglect your complexion's future appearance. Plan on having your skin glow along with what you're wearing. The best way is to start putting your skin in the right mood about two weeks in advance. This would include proper cleansing, a sensible diet and plenty of rest. Put yourself on schedule—then follow it faithfully.

White shadow is used on the eyelids, brown in the fold of the eye, with eyelashes cut in half and placed at the outer corner for emphasis. Blue pencil is used above the lower lashes to whiten the eyes and the brow is penciled in very naturally with gray brown liner. Lipstick is a soft hue, with just a hint of sharpness. The result is a wide-eyed, glowing look of innocence—perfect for the prim and proper new spring fashions.

'RINGLET'

Everything about this gored sabot strap is slim, soft and smart enough to delight the most fashion conscious little girl. Very new broad oval toe and a simple side circlet adds a light touch of detailing. At McKenzies Children's Bootery in San Rafael.

Women Take To Needles For Treasure Of Handknits

Spring fashions have found a gold mine in new handknit styles. Knits are more important than ever and women can take to their needles to make the season's richest fashion treasure.

IN AN AGE of machine-made tools, handknits are the answer to custom originality in dress design. And, the accomplishment of turning out handsome, handknit fashions is a boost for the ego as well as the wardrobe.

Spring knits are designed to keep pace with women on the go. Yarn producers have an around-the-clock collection of ready-to-knit styles inspired by world-famous designers. Dresses have the new "easy" skirts. Wear them beltless or tied gently at the waist. Chanel-type suits and blazer jackets are impeccably crisp, springy and fun to knit.

THE POPULARITY of knits is greater than ever this season, and they'll be worn everywhere for everything from active sports to dressy affairs.

The "narrow" coat is the season's smartest cover-up. Bernat's new coat designs are gently fitted to hug your shape. Their easy lines are set off by boldly cabled patterns for rich texture. Sweaters are always in season, and this spring designs run from skinny shells to longer, Continental look. Pullovers and cardigans are long waisted and new tunic styles stretch even lower with side slits for easy striding. Many Bernat sweaters knit-up quickly, even for amateur knitters.

Handknits are free and carefree. Simple, versatile designs can be worn daytime and for an evening out. Handknits say never-mind to wrinkles and well-dressed women in their own hand-knit fashions will be fresh as morning at the end of the day.

Shoes—Low Down And Barely-There

The news this season in shoe fashions is "Low-Down and Barely-There". Women will be stepping out in low, sling-backed pumps, delicate T-straps and criss-cross sandal styles. Heels have sunk to their lowest heights in years.

Texture, too, plays leading role in shoe styles this season, with both gleaming smooth pale leather and richly-toned reptile effects sharing the spotlight. And, the textured look in stocking fashions is loosely woven and patterned by day, becoming delicately webbed or super-sheer by night.

Fashions Add To Hairstyles For New Femininity

Fashions and hairstyles have joined together this season to prove it's once again fashionable to be feminine.

The key to this welcome trend in fashions is the ruffle. Ruffles are appearing to encircle collars and cuffs and to add softness to v-necklines and man-tailored blouses. Hemlines, which have caught everyone's fashion eye this season, swirl with ruffles for added interest and movement.

And hairstylists, who take their cue from the fashion world, have turned their talents to creating "ruffled" hairstyles. The look is a frothy combination of soft curls and deep waves—a casually feminine look which is replacing the highly teased, smoothly lacquered styles.

Presidents Add Sparkle To Fashions

Although U.S. presidents do not have a great deal of influence on men's fashions, they have often been known for their preference for a particular item of apparel.

Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft took to vests and Roosevelt adorned his with a big gold watch chain. Woodrow Wilson often was seen in formal wear as was Warren Harding. The all white suit also was a Harding trademark.

Herbert Hoover was partial to the high boiled collar. Franklin D. Roosevelt often wore a cape and favored double-breasted suits and hats with wide brims turned up all around.

Ex-haberdasher Harry Truman often donned sport shirts that could only be described as wild. Dwight Eisenhower wore a homburg and hat sales went up accordingly.

Purses Create 'Costume Look'

Your handbag is an important element in the total fashion picture. It should integrate with the rest of your ensemble to create a "costume look". And this season, that look most often reflects the very feminine "romantic" trend in women's clothing.

HANDBAG SIZES vary from small to quite large, shapes are generally deeper and softened in silhouette. Bringing a light-as-air, easy-care beauty to these pretty purses are legant leathers — grained, smooth, suede, waxy, genuine patent.

For daytime wear, casual category, it's still the leather satchel or tote —no longer oversized, but still roomy enough for those hundred-and-one essentials no lady would be without. Expandable sides and pretty pale colors endow these casual carry-alls with that up-to-the-minute "soft touch".

LONG JACKET LOOK

WHIPPED UP

'Honeycomb' New In Wiggy World

Wigs and wiglets, with great stress on the latter, are more in evidence than ever. Not just making their appearance in the evening, they've adapted themselves to the every day go-to-business or market life.

An entirely new, more versatile world of wiggery has come into being. The "Honeycomb" is one exciting example. Made on a round, open work base, one's own hair can be pulled through the openings and blended with that of the postiche. A most dramatic use of the "Honeycomb" is created when a dark-haired woman dons a blonde or silver "Honeycomb," pulls her hair through and blends it in with the wiglet. The total effect, instant frosting. The "Princess" is another innovation in wiggery. Made on a very small base, it gives a head the complete coverage of a wig . . . but, because of the tiny base, it may also be whipped up into a chignon, curi-clusters, loops or other marvelous postichery.

Hair color, too, joins in the trend toward the look of "Gentilesse." This trend is toward dimension in color. No longer is hair the very same color all over. There is, instead, a subtle blending of colors for more depth and naturalness.

Beige blondes and other sparkling tawny, taupe heads will be most in evidence as official greeters of the Spring season.

Colored Stones In Rings Get Dramatic Treatment

Rings have tremendous fashion importance this spring.

New and exciting combinations of colored stones such as rubies and turquoises have created rings of a deep and rich aura. Other dramatic treatment in rings makes use of brilliant enamel and burnished gold, as well as asymmetrical designs in diamonds and pearls.

Adding new interest to rings are many beautiful gems that have not frequently been used in rings before.

Finesse In Furs Helps To Select The Right Wrap

There's an old adage which cautions that things are not always what they seem to be on the surface. Any woman in the market for a new fur coat would do well to remember that when she sets out to buy one.

WITH THE FINE furs available in a greater array of styles, colors and prices than ever before, almost every woman could take a refresher course in "Finesse in Fur Buying". The fur coat of your dreams might not be that far from reality.

Fur is becoming more and more popular every day and is now used, not only in all types of coats and jackets, but also for vests, dresses and suits. In fact, it is so popular that the insurance rates on fur have just been reduced because the risks are not as great anymore.

But what kind of fur is right for you? You can get anything from tiger and seal to leopard and kangaroo. But far ahead of all the rest, accounting for some 75 to 80 per cent of the fur industry's dollar volume, is mink.

ONE REASON for this is that mink has such a varied personality. It's available in 12 natural color groups and 56 natural shades, ranging from pure white through natural blue to gunmetal . . . it's not likely that you'll meet your twin coming down the street. It's also among the most durable furs. A mink garment can last ten years and remodeling at this point can make it last even longer.

Which colors and styles are best for you? Don't go to a furrier with a pre-determined idea of what you want. The best way is to try coats on.

Consider fur texture too. Long-haired furs like lynx and fox are interesting on the long, leggy type but may overpower the petite miss. Jackets and full-length coats are also more flattering to very short women, than the in-between lengths.

SO YOU SEE, it's not just the surface of the coat, but what's under it and how you feel and look in it which contributes to an intelligent choice in a fur garment.

SOFT BOUQUETS

Fashion a la crepe is the keynote of this soft bouquet print by Puritan Forever Young. The gently pleated skirt allows that light and airy movement for the right feeling for spring. The fabric is crease resistant. At Marin Smart Shop, San Rafael.

Wildfire Red, Skybolt Blue Charge Footwear Atmosphere

Teen-agers who know their fashions flipped this spring for the newest trend in footwear, the "pretty" look. Soft feminine styling in a variety of stunning, supple leather textures—smooth, suede, grained, patent, brushed and waxy—are turning the wildest teen tomboy into a lady.

The young shoe look has never been lovelier, livelier or more leg flattering. From hand-sewn leather moccasins to sleek leather sling-backs, teen toes are shod in footwear delicately touched with graceful openings, tiny perforations, elegant bows and many other fashion details. Lightweight leathers make these spring shoes as airy in feeling as they are in appearance.

Easy to wear and easy to care for, lightweight brushed and grained leather flats, booties and strollers will saunter through the spring scene.

GLAMOROUS PUMPS and sandals in smooth, suede, patent and lustre leathers grace the yearly springtime gambols. Late-day and evening footwear has a wickedly romantic air every woman will love. Exquisite examples: a pale suede leather pump with flower applique, multi-colored patent leather strips anchored to a sole lined in bright leather and a bronze lustre leather pump wtih over-size buckle.

EUROPEAN-INSPIRED

Single Piece Of Jewelry Underscores Spring Styles

Both American and Paris designers alike agree on a slender, fluid feeling for spring, beginning with sleeves and collars; and the simple lines and ease of seam in the new fashions are perfect backgrounds for elegant touches of jewelry.

Balenciaga, for instance, features a blousy suit with dolman sleeves that can be dramatically accented with a sunburst pin of blazing diamonds resting on the outer sleeve. For evening, he also shows lush suits with gently draped and cowl necklines

CHRISTIAN DIOR emphasizes yoke details on long-line suits; a smart idea for setting off this look would be a Florentine gold daisy pin sprinkled with diamonds. And the simulated low belt on the lower edge of his jacket provides another perfect setting for a jeweled pin. Dior is also showing a three-piece navy and white checked suit with pique overblouse that can be accented very simply with a single piece of jewelry.

Those new swingy little suits with short-stop jackets take beautifully to jewelry accents, while "V" neckline styles just cry to be filled in with matinee-length necklaces. Popular bow blouses are being cleverly accented with a circle pin right smack in the center of their bows.

'Little Angels' Gay Print In Kiddies Playwear

There's rarely much fashion news in items for infants. To most shoppers a layette item doesn't have much style appeal.

This spring you'll find a gay group of infants' playwear, layette essentials and even crib coverings in coordinated ticking-stripe knits, polka dots or "little angel" prints.

Even tiny tot pajamas come in cheerful prints and colors, with appliques and other trims on fine knit fabrics.

Airy Silks, Blended Pleats Mark Paris Scene For Spring

PARIS (UPI) — The Paris fashion look for spring-summer 1965 blended pleats, panels, airy silks and other touches.

The high fashion houses presented their collections to the press and buyers at the end of January in styles that added up to sheer flattery.

Hemlines generally covered the knee and waists were acknowledged but never cinched. Skirts whirled as the model walked.

AMONG THE CLASSICS revived was navy blue with touches of white and fruit and flower shades like apricot or daffodil yellow.

Fashion reporters and buyers agreed that the House of Dior had the most stunning collection. Designer Marc Bohan added a touch of India to his collection with soft rajah tunics fastened down the front with a row of tiny buttons. Silken turbans fit closer to the head.

DIOR'S SUITS HAD pleated skirts and jackets designed to show off blouses with high necklines. Bohan used the sari theme for after-dark wear — sheet silk against bare shoulders or arms. Hemlines were between ankle and calf for pleated chiffons or rose to a V in front in the slim tunic gowns.

Nini Ricci's collection had a low-waisted silhouette with whirls of pleats or flying panels.

FOR EVENING WEAR, Gerard Pipart had knee-length black shifts with panel trains. He also used stoles and scarfs for both day and evening.

Swimsuit Additions

Swimsuits take up addition with plus items of overblouse tops; button-front or pullover skirts; with ponchos, cardigans, coats or jackets. Or, they take cover with a handsome oversize, gay-colored "sweat shirt."
